Lease Signed For Giant Ward Outlet

$4 Million Corte Madera Store Opens In 11 Months

It's official. The lease has been signed for construction of a four-million-dollar Montgomery Ward store at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Grading was expected to start today for the two-story structure, to be built on a 175 by 350 foot lot east of the J. C. Penney store. The new Ward store is expected to be ready for business by February, 1960.

Walter Shorenstein, of Milton Meyer and Co., of San Francisco, real estate brokers for the shopping center, said simultaneous with construction of the Ward store will be construction of a building to house a branch of the First National Bank of San Rafael.

A third development, consisting of 51,250 square feet of shops, is to be constructed in time to open the same month as Ward's.

BANK LOCATION

Shorenstein said the bank is to be located south of the Ward store, with the shops between.

Ward officials declined to say whether the new Corte Madera retail outlet will cause closing of the downtown San Rafael store. However, it is known that the San Rafael store's lease was not renewed recently. It is due to expire about May, 1960.

Leasing of the store was hailed as "terrific news" by Corte Madera residents and in other quarters. Robert C. Batty, manager of the San Rafael Ward store, said the new outlet will offer "terrific possibilities."

Lee Champion, head of Ward's real estate department in Oakland, said the Corte Madera outlet will be one of three big new stores for the company in California. The others will be in Richmond and Santa Ana.

CAN BE EXPANDED

The new store is to have 75,000 square feet of space, and is to be expandable by another 40,000 square feet.

The lease negotiated yesterday by Milton Meyer & Co. was for Madera Gardens Development Co., headed by president Frank Rusalem.

Shorenstein said the lease is for 30 years, with option to extend another 50 years. He said a conservative estimate of the rentals to be paid by Ward's in the next 30 years is more than five million dollars.

The store is to be completely air conditioned and will include provision for automotive services and sales as well as other outdoor sales.

The architect is John S. Bolles of San Francisco, designer of the Giants' stadium.

Shorenstein said he expects to announce in the near future the leasing of the spaces between the proposed store and new bank "to major stores."

Ike, Macmillan OK Talks At Summit

But Insist Ministers Meet First

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed today to meet Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at a summit conference in July or August.

They insisted, however, that a top-level conference must be preceded by a meeting of foreign ministers at Geneva.

Eisenhower and Macmillan announced their "complete agreement" on a formula for the top-level meeting with Khrushchev during the second day of their strategy talks at the President's Camp David, Md., retreat.

MINISTERS' MEETING

High officials passed the word that the two Western leaders had agreed to Khrushchev's suggestion for the summit meeting this summer. They said, however, that a conference must be preceded by a Geneva meeting of foreign ministers about May 11.

Officials declined to pinpoint the exact date for a summit meeting brought about by the Berlin crisis. But they indicated that, if held, it would take place in July or August.

Eisenhower and Macmillan immediately dispatched the terms of their agreement to Paris for consideration — and expected approval—by members of the 15-nation council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

NO DETAILS

Officials declined to disclose details of the British-American draft. But they said Eisenhower has not changed his mind that a prior foreign ministers' meeting must "justify" a top-level meeting.

This appeared to represent a capitulation by Macmillan to Eisenhower's insistence that the proposed foreign ministers' meeting be more than a mere formality.

32 MODESTO STUDENTS IN BOOTH FOR RECORD

MODESTO (AP) — Thirty-two slightly built students crammed themselves into a telephone booth on Modesto Junior College campus yesterday and laid claim to a new record.

The people-packing mark was set even as 22 itty bitty sophomores at St. Mary's College at Moraga were boasting about their sardine act in a regulation booth, 32 by 32 by 84 inches.

That was the size of the booth used on the Modesto campus, but there was one difference. Here the booth was horizontal and it didn't contain a telephone.

Rod Underwood, one of the students who was in the middle of the pack, emerged looking slightly like a well-pressed tablecloth and commented: "I feel like a sardine, one on the bottom of the can."

Three Injured In Two Marin Pistol Mishaps

Three persons were wounded in Marin yesterday in two separate accidental shootings involving a Standard Oil Co. executive and his wife and the son of a well-known San Francisco bandleader.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said the victims were Walter K. Pearce, 52, of 123 Marina boulevard, San Rafael, the executive; Pearce's wife, Eloise, 51, and Carl Steven Heckscher, 15, of San Francisco, a son of bandleader Ernie Heckscher. None was seriously hurt.

Inspector Carl Sears of the sheriff's office said Pearce told of shooting his wife in the left elbow last night in the mistaken belief she was a burglar prowling in the hallway of their home. Realizing his mistake, he placed his left index finger over the muzzle of his .32 caliber automatic pistol just as he squeezed the trigger a second time.

They were taken by neighbors to Marin General Hospital, where Pearce's ragged finger tip and his wife's small elbow wound were treated. Both were discharged in good condition.

Deputy Sheriff John Harris said the Heckscher boy accidentally shot himself in the right leg with a .22 caliber au-

Murder Trial Goes To Jury Monday

The fate of Prince Sam Davis, 34-year-old Marin City garbage man accused of shooting his common-law wife to death, will be in the hands of the jury Monday morning.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court is scheduled to turn the case over to the jury of 10 women and two men then.

Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich presented evidence showing Davis shot Viola Baker, 32, last Christmas Eve at their Marin City apartment after an argument.

Davis, defended by Public Defender Leonard Thomas, testified he held his 9-month-old boy in one arm and shot his wife because she turned toward a drawer where a knife was kept. Davis said he feared she would attack him and the baby.

The district attorney, in his final argument yesterday, declared that Davis "had shot too soon." Even if Davis feared attack, he had no right to shoot until his attacker held a weapon and his life was in immediate danger, said Weissich.

Another court case has developed as a sidelight to the murder trial.

A key witness in the trial, Matthew Walker, said he had been attacked and threatened Wednesday night by Wade Henderson, 24, of House A-30, apartment 236, Marin City. Walker said he was again threatened over the telephone Thursday night.

Walker, 37-year-old body and fender man, was a witness to the shooting. On Wednesday night, he said, Henderson accused him of lying on the witness stand and struck him, keeping his left hand in his pocket as if holding a gun.

Jailed on an assault charge, Henderson yesterday pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial. He comes up in Marin Municipal Court again next Friday at 11 a.m. to have a date set for his trial. He is free on $500 bail.

Dairy Association Elects Marinite

Armin Truttman of Olema was named an executive committee member of the American Dairy Assn. yesterday at the association's 20th annual meeting in Chicago, Associated Press reported.

Lyman D. McKee, Madison, Wis., was re-elected president at the concluding session attended by 450 dairy industry leaders from 48 states.

TAKING IT CALMLY

Marinite, Dad Share $28,000 Sweeps Win

John J. O'Neill of Willow Hill road, Ross, and his father, a San Francisco physician, were $28,000 richer today because a horse named Mr. What ran third in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England.

O'Neill and his father, Dr. John R. O'Neill, held an Irish Hospital Sweepstakes ticket on Mr. What, the pre-race favorite. The two will split their winnings after Uncle Sam takes his tax bite.

Asked if he had any plans for spending his half of the money, the younger O'Neill, an auto parts salesman, said, "I'm not a gambler. I don't indulge in horse betting as a rule, and I don't think you should plan until you win."

His father, recuperating from a heart attack and under doctors' orders to keep cool, received the news calmly.

"His health comes first," the physician's wife said. "Not that this isn't a very wonderful thing."

Her son and his wife, Arline, have three children, John, 3, and 2-year-old twins, Jeffrey and Robin.

Two San Francisco couples each held tickets worth $140,000 on Oxo, longshot winner of the Grand National.

Spring Bows In With Light Rain

Marin, which has been treated to spring weather during the winter, today—the first day of spring—got a few very light rain sprinkles.

The cloudy skies which produced them are expected to continue tonight and tomorrow, said the Weather Man.

HANDWRITTEN WILL

Carter Leaves All Estate To Wife; Value Not Given

State Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow, who died Sunday at the age of 70, left his entire estate to his wife, Jean Woodward Carter.

A petition for probate of the late justice's handwritten will was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Carter.

The one-page will was dated July 18, 1952. It named Mrs. Carter executrix of the document without bond.

Justice Carter made no provision for his three children "for the reason that I have heretofore advanced to them money and property out of my estate." They are Federal Judge Oliver J. Carter of San Francisco and Harlan F. Carter and Marian Rose Bui, both of Redding, Shasta County.

A hearing on Mrs. Carter's petition will be held April 6 at 10 a.m. before Judge Jordan L. Martinelli. She is represented by the San Rafael law firm of Freitas, Allen, McCarthy and Bettini.

The petition contains no estimate of the value of Justice Carter's estate nor a listing of his real or personal property. His home was on Oak Knoll drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Gay Hats Blossom At Primrose Tea

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Tuneful was the name of the Inverness Garden Club's event, The Annual Primrose Tea and Treasures from the Sea, and colorful was the setting for the twenty-sixth annual in the lovely hillside home and garden of Mrs. Lucien Knight in Inverness on Thursday. The members wore gay hats, many of these decorated with fresh primroses; however, there was a great variety in the headdresses.

Mrs. Irene Kelly, chairman, had a filmy gray chapeau of dried seaweed. Her co-chairman, Petite Miss Marion Dunbar, chose a Swedish holiday headgear, fresh primroses in the small candleholders. The club's attractive young president, Mrs. Monte Barton, wore a hat of pale yellow orchids and Mrs. John Camm, who had made the lovely shell figurines which were on sale, had a cloche of "hen and chickens." Mrs. S. L. Haas wore a picture hat, trimmed with small sea shells, and a matching necklace. Mrs. Harvey Tadlock, a past president of the garden club and past director of District 7A, California Federation of Garden Clubs, had covered her picture hat with primroses. Mrs. L. J. Meszaros, who was in charge of the guest book in which more than 450 visitors signed their names, decked her hat with parsley, rhubarb, rosemary and other herbs from her kitchen garden and topped it with a tiny flower pot and rake. And Mrs. Jesse Adams wore a magnificent bunch of carrots on her hair.

The booths did a lively business. Mrs. Jessie Lovell was in charge of the miniature gardens; Mrs. Richard Grant and Mrs. Angelo Duperu sold the glass balls which float across the sea from the nets of Japanese fishermen. Mrs. W. C. Kasmire's booth featured driftwood; agate and other colorful pebbles picked up on the beaches were the wares of Mrs. Frank Meyer. Miss Dorothea Phillips sold the cookbooks with the favorite recipes of the club members.

After viewing the wares in the garden we went into the delightful old home to admire the gorgeous flower arrangements and have the tea for which the members had made delicious breads. Mrs. Harry Swift was in charge of decorations; Mesdames Mary Griffith, Elmer Martinelli and Richard Cowham, of refreshments, and Mesdames Lloyd Mery and Frank Coster, of serving.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. John Prescott of San Rafael was the setting for the dinner party last Sunday night at which they honored Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Box of Tiburon. The Boxes with their two sons, Richard and Wally, left for Honolulu Wednesday night for a 10-day vacation and are headquartering at the Edgewater. Other guests at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. James Rideout and Messrs. and Mesdames Michael Schwartzkopf and Lenard Maurisch Jr.

AT SQUAW VALLEY where they have taken a house for the Easter vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkin, her son, Joseph Esherick Jr., and several of his friends from Midland School, and her other son, Peter Esherick. Mrs. Watkin's sister, Mrs. Dean Kendall, came from her home in Portland, Ore. to join the group. Others in the party are Mr. and Mrs. Clement Hurd of Mill Valley and their son, Thacher, and a young neighbor of the Watkins in Kent Woodlands, Dan Smith.

Honoring Mrs. Kent Robinson on her birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Watkin entertained at a dinner on Tuesday. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Malone and Mr. and Mrs. George Paulus and over from San Francisco came Mr. and Mrs. Milton Esberg Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Hamilton.

AT PALM SPRINGS for Easter week are Mrs. Niels Schultz Jr. of Greenbrae and her four daughters, Christine, Erica, Carla and Andrea. They left this morning by plane and will return Easter Sunday night. Because of business, Mr. Schultz could not go south. Also at Palm Springs and staying at the Tennis Club—as are Mrs. Schultz and her daughters —are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cain of Greenbrae and daughter, Candy.

THE PRINCE and Princess Roselan from the island of Java were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Day in Sausalito. The prince is here for a training program with the Standard Oil Company at its San Francisco office. Other guests of the Days were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Donnell of Sonoma and the Harry Mohlers and Robert Bergins of Sausalito.

HONORING Mrs. Howard Hammond, a luncheon was given on Wednesday at the Century Club in San Francisco by Mrs. Albert C. Daniels. Other guests were Mesdames Samuel Archibald, B. Balfour James, Frank Baumgarten and John Reichmuth.

VACATIONING in Mexico for two weeks are the Noble Hamiltons and the Robert Elliotts.

BON VOYAGE parties are being given for the Lester Fergusons of Winship Park who leave on April 9 for an extended European tour. They toured the continent three years ago. They are flying first to New Orleans, Washington D.C. and New York, from whence they sail for Naples aboard the "Independence" on April 25. They will take the train to Rome and then visit Florence, Vienna, and go on to Switzerland, the French Riviera, Paris, the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles. They'll sail from Liverpool on the "Empress of Britain" for Quebec. After a brief tour of southeast Canada the Fergusons will board the train for the westward trip over the Canadian Rockies.

Honoring Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs, Larry Freeberg is entertaining at a luncheon at her home in Ross on March 31. Guests include Mrs. Ferguson and her daughter, Jean; Mrs. E. V. Knapp and her daughter, Betty; Mrs. James Sullivan and her sister, Miss Vincenzia Fenn; Mrs. Charles Bradley and her sister, Mrs. Martha Adam; and Mesdames Harold Schutte, Anthony Lilienthal, Ira H. Degenhardt, William Burgren and Harold Hutton.

SUDDEN was the decision of Mrs. Herbert K. (Helen) Walton of San Rafael to make a tour of Europe. She has been to Europe twice but that was a long time ago, so when Mrs. A. H. Persons came from her home in Covina to visit her son-in-law and daughter, the Herbert K. Waltons Jr. of San Rafael and their two little ones, she asked Helen to join her on a trip to the continent. Helen decided at once to go. She leaves here on April 11 on the jet flight to New York and Mrs. Persons will fly from Los Angeles to join her. They will travel to plane to Lisbon, Madrid and then go to Rome to begin a leisurely tour of Italy. Then it will be Vienna, Switzerland, France—with several days in Paris—and then to the Scandinavian countries. On return to New York on May 26, the travelers will stay a week or 10 days before returning home.

She was also one of the 30 out of six or seven hundred students participating who were asked to play in the "command performance" concert given in the afternoon.

The girls attended with Mrs. Mabel Pittenger, head of the Tamalpais High School music department, and Nancy's mother, Mrs. Arthur Piver of Mill Valley.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Salvisberg of Mill Valley.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU BY Walter

How does your hair measure up to the four C's: condition, cut, curl, and color? . . . Condition—oily hair will improve with proper shampoo—dandruff is a warning not to be ignored—dry hair can be given a boost with massage and pre-shampoo treatments. Cut—a good cut makes a difference in the way hair behaves — Curl — expert hair-dressers adopt waving skills to the hair in hand — Color — rinses, lightners or more lasting colorings give hair a more vibrant look if properly administered so a trip to your favorite hairdresser will certainly give you a new look.

In keeping with color, we have been fortunate in obtaining the services of Miss Martie, Tiara color representative to return to our salon on Wed., March 25th. She will be available for free consultation between the hours of ten and five on that day.

Lamplighters Well Received In AAUW Concert Program

A well paced and delightfully informative potpourri of Gilbert and Sullivan operas was presented to the Marin AAUW recently by The Lamplighters of San Francisco.

More than 200 members and guests were present to appreciate the talented artists directed by Ann Pool and assisted by Orva Hoskinson, well known tenor in Bay Area opera and concert circles.

The Gilbert and Sullivan program included selections from "Pinafore," "Princess Ida," "Yeomen of the Guard," "Patience," "The Sorcerer," and "The Mikado."

Among the outstanding performers of the evening was June Wilkins rich contralto's hilarious presentation from "Patience," sololiquizing while playing the cello; Peggy Overshiner's scintilating and coquettish aria of quandary over love or riches from "Pinafore."

Accompanist LeRoy Miller was brilliant at the piano and was artfully joined by versatile Gil Russak to present an exciting special four-hand arrangement of the Mikado overture.

The chorus numbers and madrigals showed fine artistic taste. The artists included Helen Studabaker, soprano; John McGowan, tenor; Charles Mack, baritone, and Ray Castel-Blanch, baritone.

The Lamplighters will next perform "Patience" on May 23 in Antioch at the Contra Costa concert series and at the Berkeley Little Theatre, July 17, 18.

The program was arranged for the AAUW by Mrs. Byron Jones, program chairman, assisted by the Education Section, Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger, chairman, and Music Section, Mrs. Harold De Pue, chairman.

Trumbull Circle To Hear Garden Talk By Experts

"How to enhance your garden," is the subject of the program to be given by Katy and Paul Steinmetz of San Rafael, landscape architects, at the meeting of Vine Trumbull Circle of the San Rafael Presbyterian Church on Tuesday night in the Geneva Room of the church, commencing at 8 8 o'clock.

At the business meeting reports will be given of the recent and successful rummage sale. Hostesses for the evening will be Josephine Murphy, Gladys Fishel and Vivian Smith.

Many of the members will attend the Lenten lecture to be given Thursday morning at the church, by Dr. Neill Hamilton, instructor on the new Testament at the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Indoor Sports Party

A St. Patrick party and dinner will be held at Arequipa Center for members of San Rafael Chapter, Indoor Sports Club Inc. tonight. The dinner, which begins at 6:30, is sponsored by the Good Sports.

Bay Mayors Reject Authority Plan

BERKELEY (AP)—Twenty-four Bay Area mayors voted last night against creation of a single authority to manage and develop the area's toll bridges, seaports and airports.

There was little debate as the mayors loudly criticized the proposed Golden Gate Authority and then cast a 24-2 vote against it. They voted, by the same count, to investigate the possible formation of a metropolitan council instead.

City Manager Wesley McClure of San Leandro blasted the proposed authority as "an undemocratic supergovernment."

Attempts at rebuttal were squelched by the chairman of the meeting, Mayor James D. Nordahl of Livermore.

Edgar Kaiser, Oakland industrialist and chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Golden Gate Authority, received a flat "no" when he asked, "May I tell the other side?"

City Manager Lee M. Roberts of Napa was ruled out of order when he complained, "I haven't heard any discussion." He then stomped out of the meeting, charging it had been "perverted to special use."

The crucial motion, by Mayor William McCall of Alameda, asked the Legislature to send the pending authority bill back to committee.

The alternate plan would allow metropolitan problems to remain in the hands of local government.

Catholic High Girl Wins For Speech

Melinda Krause of Marin Catholic High School last night won the Zone 2 finals of a student speakers contest held at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio, under sponsorship of the Kentfield, San Anselmo and Fairfax Lions Clubs.

Miss Krause, sponsored by the Kentfield club, became eligible to compete for a chance to participate in a four-region Lions Club contest May 8, at Hoberg's resort in Lake County.

She competed last night against two students of Sir Francis Drake High School, Linda Allison, sponsored by the San Anselmo club, and Norma Fong, sponsored by the Fairfax club. Topic of the contest was "Complacency: Danger to America."

tomatic pistol while practicing a "fast draw" yesterday afternoon in a wooded area near China Camp.

The slug entered the leg just below the knee and emerged just above the ankle, Harris reported. He said a physician who treated the youth at Marin General Hospital reported no broken bones and no major injury to the leg.

"Heckscher has decided not to try any more fast draws in the future," the deputy's report concluded.

ITALIAN NEWSMAN DECLARES HE INVENTED LOCH NESS MONSTER

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A man who claims to have invented the Loch Ness monster admitted sadly today that the beast is bogus.

Francesco Gasparini says he made up the yarn whiling away some idle hours in London in 1933, when he was correspondent in Britain for an Italian newspaper.

Newspaper files of a quarter century ago seem to bear him out. It was about that time that the monster first reared its ugly head into the world press, although Scotland had had legends about the critter for centuries.

Gasparini says he merely stretched a two line item into a big fish story.

His explanation, as published in the Milan magazine Visto, says:

"I was running short of factual news when I recalled having heard something about fishermen catching a strange fish in Loch Ness.

"It was only a two-line item in the Glasgow Herald.

"But that strange fish became a monster as I wrote the story for my paper."

Judge Refuses Damage Claim

Paul Brindel of 133 Maestro road, Novato, who has been trying to collect $1,100 from his neighbor since September, 1955, has lost his case in Marin Municipal Court after more than three years of litigation.

Last week, Judge Harold J. Haley ruled in favor of Brindel's neighbor, David Bellucci.

Brindel charged that Bellucci had knocked down stakes on the property line and piled building materials on an easement.

Judge Haley ruled that Brindel had failed to establish enough evidence to back up his charges. The judge ordered Brindel to pay Bellucci his court costs.

Hub Police Could Take Chief Test

San Anselmo City Manager Arthur W. Brewer pointed out today that a memorandum from his office suggesting a nationwide examination for police chief provides that all qualified members of the San Anselmo Police Department would be eligible.

The memorandum suggests age limits of 35 to 50 years for candidates, which would rule out Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio, who has passed his 50th birthday. However, Brewer noted at another point it says "with the exception that all present members of the San Anselmo department in the grade of sergeant or higher would be permitted to take the examination."

Serio holds the civil service rank of lieutenant. There are three sergeants in the department.

The examination is proposed to find a successor to Chief Donald T. Wood, who will retire Aug. 1.

Kent School Tells Science Fair Winner

Two eighth graders walked off with grand prizes in the first Adaline E. Kent school science fair.

A total of 127 science displays were exhibited by students in fourth through eighth grades.

Top winners were Diane Vanderhoof for her display on response areas of the brain, and Edward Bingham for an exhibit on the effect of alcohol on the brain.

First place winners in other categories were Vicki Fontana and Kirsten Beeler for a display of plant growth; Dan McPhun, solar distillation plant; Brad Block, infrared rays; Linda Griffin, scale model of the San Andreas fault; Jo Jennings, sailboat propulsion; Lyn Campbell, relation of tranquilizer drugs and food to over and underweight persons, and Tom Moran and William Dimpfl, rocks, minerals and crystals.

School Opinion Survey Broadened

Because of the interest shown in the public opinion survey now being conducted in the Mill Valley School District, the questionnaire will be available to anyone who wishes to fill it out, according to William E. Casterson, survey chairman.

To obtain a cross-section opinion, 664 residents had been selected for interviews.

Copies of the questionnaire may be obtained at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. office at 140 Throckmorton avenue and must be returned by Monday, Casterson reported.

The survey is being made under the auspices of the Mill Valley Advisory Education Council.

Science Fairs Prove Our Schools Do Teach Students

The most vociferous and derogatory critics of our public schools would have us believe that nobody ever learns anything in a public school any more.

Actually, that just isn't so, as any sensible person knows. And if you are looking for proof, you should have gone to one of the many science fairs held recently at many of our Marin schools. (A few more still are to be held, too.)

What the youngsters are doing in science in grammar school today is in many respects comparable to what their fathers and mothers were doing in high school and college a generation ago, except that some things that seem to be common knowledge among grammar school scientists today had not yet been learned nor discovered a generation ago.

"Our schools no longer teach the fundamentals, reading, writing and arithmetic." That's what critics would have us believe.

But all the youngsters who have displays at science fairs obviously are able to read, write and "figure" quite well or they wouldn't be able to comprehend and create the exhibits which they have prepared.

While we cannot claim to have made a scientifically accurate survey of the matter, we conclude that two principal factors are usually present when a youngster distinguishes himself with an interest in some aspect of science. First, he has some kind of practical parental support and encouragement. Second, he has some kind of practical support and encouragement from one or more of his teachers at school.

What does this mean?

If it doesn't mean anything else, it at least means that NOT all parents are completely neglecting their children and NOT all teachers are complete dunderheads.

But let not overly-zealous public school supporters and apologists cite science fairs as the ultimate in proof that all our youngsters are receiving an adequate education and everything in our schools is just dandy.

We wish there were some kind of "academic fair" contrived to display student talents and acquired skills in the field of literature, composition, "pure" mathematics, geography and elementary political science so that we might better know the accomplishments of our youngsters in this and similar academic fields.

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR HEART

A heart attack is the high price often paid by those who overemphasize personal recognition and advancement, according to heart specialists.

Whether a person is young or old, he is looking for trouble if he constantly and selfishly strives to "best" the other fellow at work or play. An insatiable desire to be "top man" can easily throw anyone's life out of kilter. This lack of balance hurts him in every way—mentally, morally and physically.

Too much emphasis on self-advancement and too little effort in helping others, especially those less fortunate, is actually against man's make-up.

God has constituted every human being so that he leads a happy, balanced life only when he seeks the good of others while furthering his own interests. Those who disturb that divine equilibrium pay a heavy penalty, in one way or another, for time and eternity.

Temper a "go-getter" instinct with a "go-giver" habit and you will help your heart in more ways than one.

"This commandment we have from God, that he who loveth God, love also his brother. (1 John 4:21)

Deepen in me, O gentle Master, a consuming desire to promote the advantage of others, as well as my own.

Senator Tugbutton Sips Bourbon, Analyzes Campaign Blueprint

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Timothy Tugbutton carefully tilted a splash of branch water into his jigger of sour mash bourbon. As the liquids comingled he remarked that it was an interesting if minor factor in the current political situation that Leonard W. Hall is a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Tugbutton downed the diluted bourbon and harumphed in throaty authority.

"SON," SAID the senator to the old timer, "Jim Farley was an Elk. Still is, I reckon. Jim, he joined mighty near everything and soon as he was in he learned all their first names and called 'em by 'em. Even learned all the first names in the Democratic party."

"Yeah, but what about the Elks?" said the old timer.

"Son," the senator said, "I comin' to that. It was in the disguise of an Elk back there in 1931 that Jim Farley went travelling 'cross country — 18 states in 19 days — pledging local Democratic leaders to support Frank Roosevelt for the presidential nomination and to instruct their convention delegates to knock out the prohibition amendment.

"That was in the summer of 1931 a full year before the convention met. And when it did meet the drys and Al Smith, Newton Baker and the other candidates never did know what hit 'em. Jim Farley did his pre-convention work sly and secret. He took off from New York City about mid-day on Monday, June 29, 1931, and by the middle of July he had secured the basic delegate vote which is 1932 nominated his candidate and re-opened the old time saloon as a co-educational cocktail bar.

"Jim set out," Tugbutton continued, "with the announcement that he was going to attend the annual Elks' convention in Seattle. Now, I see in the papers that Len Hall will be manager of Vice President Nixon's presidential campaign. And, Len being an Elk, he'll be taking off for the Elk's convention this year with a pocketful of Nixon-for-President pledge cards.

"IF HISTORY repeats itself, and it usually does," said the senator, "Len's trip will require some money. And, if history repeats itself some more, some smart boys are laying out that money right now with the idea of cashing in if and when Dick Nixon moves into the White House."

"You mean . . ." the old timer began.

"I mean," Tugbutton answered, "that the longest shot in politics and the biggest, sweetest pay-off is to be had by putting up the dough for a politician's pre-convention campaign. Like those three fellers who put up the dough for Jim Farley's trip back there in 1931."

"What three fellers?"

"Why, you know about them," the senator said. "They're all in that book called 'Jim Farley's story.' Three rich men, Frank C. Walker, New York attorney, Henry Morgenthau Sr., Woodrow Wilson's ambassador to Turkey, William H. Woodin, industrialist. They each wrote Jim a check for $5000, and away he went.

The payoff: Walker didn't want anything and got to be postmaster general and national committee chairman. Woodin became treasury secretary as second choice when Carter Glass turned it down. The jackpot fell to Henry Morgenthau Jr. He got the treasury when Woodin died. As FDR once said: "We've got to do something for Henry."

Why Recruiting And Draft Both?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Coincident with your news and picture of the change of "Command" (March 12) came the announcement that the U.S. Government had extended the draft requirements another four years. When one becomes eighteen he goes.

Where then is there need for recruiting? Each small County seat such as San Rafael has its offices with furniture, typewriters, and separate automobiles for the Navy, the Air Force, the Coast Guard, the Marines, and the Army Recruiting staffs. Multiply this expense by the number of counties in the State times fifty states and — how many millions a year is that? Would you please explain?

Cartoon Didn't Convey Message?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Perhaps I don't fully get the message conveyed by your inspirational cartoon of last Saturday's issue, but it seems to say that Khrushchev's pawns must die at his command, whereas we, as Christians and therefore real persons, have such decisions in our own hands. There is also the implication that God likes us best — thank heaven we are not as other people.

But General Taylor seems to be telling me that I must be willing to die for the Germans in West Berlin, perhaps even to use that Christian emmisary, the atomic missile. If he goes into action do I have the choice as a real person of sitting it out at home with the kids, or will I find myself a pawn too, and just as dead as any non-Christian?

If we are going to invoke Him, let us remember with deep humility the millions we too have killed; I'm sure it would be more acceptable to Him than the sorry conceit, smugness, and hypocracy of such cartoons.

Tam Student Sets Critic Straight

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I understand that Mr. Thomas McDougall stated at the March 17 meeting of the Tamalpais High School P-TA that he is not willing to believe that a student wrote the "Facts on the Tax" article which was printed in the February 13 edition of the Tamalpais News.

He is mistaken, as I did write that article, my reference being the mimeographed publication of the Citizens' Committee. I also wrote a similar article published in the News on October 24, 1958, my source of information being the workers handbook printed by the Citizens' Committee previous to the November 4, 1958 election.

I was asked to write my first article by Joel Rubey, then editor of the News. I, as spring semester editor, decided upon having the second article. The advisor for the Tamalpais News, Miss Ann Rogers, did not ask that any stories regarding the tax election be printed in either paper nor did any other adult or faculty member.

Board Starts What May Be Fruitless Search For Beaches — Parks Chief

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill is pending before the State Legislature to make the office of chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks appointive by the governor instead of the State Park Commission. Despite this, the state Personnel Board is conducting a nation-wide campaign for a man to fill the job.

The chief's post will be open within a short time because of the pending retirement of Newton B. Drury, who is approaching the age of 70 years. He will therefore not be eligible to hold the post because of the age limitation.

SOME LEGISLATORS wanted to see Drury out of office before his mandatory retirement date. They introduced the bill which would give the governor the appointing power, instead of the Park Commission. The governor at the present time does not have control of the Park Commission, which has a majority of members held over from the Knight administration.

So the Personnel Board was called upon by the Park Commission to find a man to take Drury's place, in the face of the proposed legislative action which, if completed, could easily wipe out all the effort and expense to the taxpayers.

GENERALLY, IT WAS supposed that the Personnel Board takes care of civil service jobs. But there is a section of law which permits the board to accept contracts from other government agencies, both state and local, to find personnel.

It was this section of the law that the park commission invoked and a contract was made with the Personnel Board to find candidates for the job. The board estimates the bill will be well over $1,000.

Already, nine candidates for the $14,400 post have been referred to the "screening committee," composed of one member of the Park Commission, one outside citizen, one member of the Personnel Board, and DeWitt Nelson, director of the state Department of Natural Resources.

Nelson, while refusing to announce names of the candidates, did say that at least two of them are out-of-state residents, and two are present members of the Beaches and Parks staff.

David Niven loves to tell the story of the day he made his triumphant return to his exclusive Pall Mall club in London after years of starring in Hollywood. A member who could have played Colonel Blimp without a bit of makeup looked up from his military gazette and humphed, "I say, Niven. They tell me you're about to leave us." "On the contrary, sir," said Niven. "I'm just back, I've been in America." "Extraordinary," mused the member. "Never knew we had a base there." "But we do!" countered Niven. "It's called Fort Goldwyn and I was confined to barracks there for 15 solid years." Outrageous," grunted the member, turning back to his gazette. "You must lodge a formal protest with the rules committee!"

Groom Leaves Bride Immediately After Wedding, Returns To Jail

Couples are married almost every day in the judge's chambers of the Marin County courthouse. But a quiet ceremony which took place a week ago yesterday was different.

After the ceremony, the groom embraced his bride, and was promptly led downstairs into the jail cell to serve his one-year jail sentence. The bride walked happily out the courthouse to await her husband's release.

This is what led to the unusual ceremony. The man was jailed and recently sentenced to a year in jail. His girl friend appealed to Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos with this request: Would he please let them get married. She had a baby by him, and wanted to give the baby a name. The sheriff talked to the jail inmate, who confirmed the story and expressed willingness to wed the girl.

The sheriff conferred with a judge, who quietly rounded up the necessary witnesses from among courthouse workers, and performed the ceremony.

Names were withheld to protect the innocent.

JERRY CONNERS of San Anselmo whose South American adventure was cut short by jungle fever, is fully recovered. Movies he's taken of the remote jungles may some day appear on your TV screen on adventure programs. They tell me he's getting inquiries from all over the country.

TWO ASPIRANTS who took the Sausalito police chief's exam came out pretty close, but not exactly tied, as we get it. Word has leaked out that the patrolman won by a point.

The late moving van owner Julius Cerf, described as a "man who didn't have an enemy in the world," will be missed by many. He used to offer his truck for use by political candidate friends to paint their names and slogans. He offered the sign space free of charge. After several elections, he would have to sandblast or scrape off a quarter inch of paint.

One reason why San Rafael is outsmarted by some of the shrewd developers is the deplorable state of its official records, according to those who ought to know. They tell me city records "are in a mess." Sometimes you can't tell what happened as recent as four or five years ago.

SAN RAFAEL'S coming April 13 election appears to be a quiet one. Lt. Charles Chiesa is waging a house to house campaign against Police Chief Frank Kelly. The closest thing to a public debate was an invitation for both to appear on KTIM sounding board program. Chief Kelly says he was ready but his opponent couldn't make it.

Even City Planner Mitchell Baird couldn't have planned this one. He walked in to buy a car and turned out to be the 10,000th customer. Drove out with his convertible plus a $500 check as prize.

AUDIENCE AT VATICAN

John XXIII Not Interim Pope As Some Predicted

By PHIL NEWSOM

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A wave of sound rolls through the Vatican's Hall of Benedictions.

An American woman's mink cape slips from her shoulders to the floor as she leans far forward for a better view. A nun dabs at her eyes with a handkerchief.

The hand-clapping which had begun far back in the vast hall, now rolls forward, the wave advancing with the gestatorial chair borne by eight sturdy bearers.

Ahead are the noble guards, with glittering gold helmets.

At the side are the palentine guards, gold epaulets on their shoulders and gold trim on their uniforms. Along the route are the chamberlains in crimson tail coats and knee breeches.

Near the papal throne, the Swiss pikemen draw stiffly to attention.

THIS IS HOMAGE to a portly man of 77 elected to assume the mantle previously worn by Pope Pius XII.

THIS MAN IS Pope John XXIII, new spiritual leader of the world's 500 million Catholics, as different from his predecessor as his personal bulk contrasts with thin, esthetic Pius XII.

This is a man of seemingly boundless energy, impatient with tradition, possessed of limitless curiosity which already has startled more than one Vatican attendant.

From the papal throne, he welcomes the more than 7,000 Romans and pilgrims jamming the Hall of Benedictions to standing room only.

It is the regular weekly audience.

As he begins his welcome, his hands rest relaxed against the armrest of the throne.

But as he continues, he gestures and finally the gestures are continuous and vigorous. His voice booms through the two microphones before him and he half rises to make his point.

His message in Italian and French is a simple one of faith but Pope John XXIII pours energy into every act.

ALREADY HE has confounded the prophets who had predicted he would be an "interim" pope, content to consolidate rather than to institute new policies such as his predecessors who plunged the church into internation diplomacy.

One announcement already portends far-reaching consequences for the Roman Catholic Church.

That was his call for an Ecumenical Congress, one of the highest level of all church councils whose decrees by church law are infallible. It will aim at bringing back to the Roman church some 50 million eastern Catholics not now under Vatican jurisdiction.

Meanwhile, he continues to smash tradition.

A helicopter landed inside the Vatican walls the other day, and there are predictions Pope John will not hesitate to use air travel.

And he insists on simplicity. He told the editor of the Vatican city newspaper Osservatore Romano to delete "exalted" phrases used in the past to describe a pope.

New Church Slated For Sleepy Hollow

Construction is expected to begin in August or September on a new building for the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, Rev. John Bruce, pastor, announced today.

A contract for construction will be awarded about the middle of June, and completion of the structure is expected by the end of the year.

The church will be located on a three-acre site on Tarry road adjacent to the Sleepy Hollow School. The site was purchased two years ago for $27,000.

The new building will be the first unit of a three-stage development. The two-level structure will include a sanctuary with a seating capacity of 164, five Sunday school rooms, a parlor, office and kitchen. Cost is estimated at $70,000, with $10,000 additional for furnishings.

The building will be of redwood and glass, with redwood furnishings. Parking space for 50 autos will be provided initially.

Crawford and Banning are architects for the project.

The second phase of the church's over-all development —expected within three years —will add more Sunday school space, and the final phase will consist of a larger sanctuary, still more Sunday school rooms and administrative offices.

Financing for the project has been arranged with the help of the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., along with local loans and contributions by the congregation.

Elder Robert Schneider is chairman of the building committee, and George Hermsmeyer, president of the church's board of trustees, is finance committee chairman.

The church, organized in May, 1957, now has a membership of 143, with Sunday school attendance of 100.

1st Christian Building Work Moving Apace

The First Christian Church of San Rafael, which has been meeting in temporary quarters at the VFW Hall in Santa Venetia, expects to occupy its new church home early this summer.

The first story of a two-story educational unit is now completed on the church property at Ranchitos road and San Pedro road in north San Rafael.

Pastor Richard Wilcox said construction work is being done by men of the church with Albert Phipps, a member of the congregation, as general contractor.

The new building will be the first unit of a plant which will eventually include a chapel and educational unit that will accommodate a membership of 300.

The First Christian Church of San Rafael is the only Christian Church in Marin County, but Pastor Wilcox said plans are being made to begin new congregations in Mill Valley and Novato. Several families from these two cities who now attend the San Rafael church will form the cores of the new churches.

Mt. Tam Easter Services Slated

LOSING PASTOR IN THIS CONTEST MUST SHINE WINNER'S SHOES

"Who shines whose?" is the big question being asked in bulletins of the First Christian Churches of San Rafael and Petaluma these days.

The question refers to a Bible school attendance contest between the two churches: The pastor whose church loses will have to shine the shoes of the pastor of the winning church (at a special service, even!)

Right now, Maurice Williams, Petaluma pastor, is worried, since his church is trailing by 40 points in the contest, with two Sundays to go. (The score is figured weekly on the basis of percentage of increase in attendance over average attendance for the previous three months.)

But San Rafael Pastor Richard Wilcox is apprehensive about Easter. He figures Petaluma attendance will be large that day, since the church there has a large, city landmark of a building. His own congregation meets in the Santa Venetia VFW hall.

"Folks don't don their Easter finery to worship in a rented hall," he notes, "they attend the churches with the nice buildings."

Churches In Recruiting Drive To Meet Shortage Of Clergy

By LOUIS CASSELS
U. P. International

A drive to recruit more young men for the ministry is under way in America's major religious denominations.

It is prompted by a shortage of trained clergymen which is already serious and getting steadily worse.

Statistics from the two largest U.S. denominations indicate the dimensions of the problem.

During the last 10 years, the Roman Catholic population of the United States has increased 31 per cent, but the number of priests has increased only 21 per cent.

Membership of the Methodist Church has grown 28 per cent since 1940, but the number of fully accredited ministers has increased only 1 per cent.

Similar figures could be supplied by Baptists, Lutherans, Episcopalians and Presbyterians.

Churches face a severe handicap in their efforts to interest more young men in seeking holy orders. There is a growing tendency among U.S. youth to choose careers primarily on the basis of material rewards. The ministry, with its traditionally low salaries, does not fare well in this test.

Many denominations are working to raise ministerial salaries. But they are doing so primarily in the interests of justice to clergymen and their families, rather than as a recruiting measure. The idea of attracting more people to the pulpit with a purely financial appeal is repugnant to most church leaders.

So the churches are doing their recruiting the hard way. They are trying to get across to their youth the message that there is more to life than making money, and that no sincere Christian can ignore a call to full-time service because it may entail some sacrifices.

At the same time, they are trying to clear away some of the misconceptions that young people have about a clergyman's life.

One of the most ambitious programs of this kind is being conducted jointly by four Lutheran denominations — the American Lutheran Church, Lutheran Free Church, Evangelical Lutheran Church and United Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Since last November, these Lutheran bodies have held "Men for the Ministry" conferences in 37 major cities. More than 3,000 young Lutherans have attended.

The Methodists are using a somewhat similar approach. They have held convocations in several major cities to acquaint college students with the church's need for manpower, and to encourage applicants.

The United Lutheran Church is in the midst of a series of regional conferences to involve all church leaders in the quest for ministerial candidates.

Catholic parishes throughout the nation are observing "Vocation Month" in March, with special prayers and sermons directed to the church's acute need for additional priests.

Survey In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)— Under Swedish law, every person born automatically belongs to the state Church of Sweden. To withdraw, he must request it personally. In recent discussion over proposed abolition of the system, pollsters took a survey, found that 72 per cent of the people would apply for membership voluntarily — if the law didn't make them members involuntarily.

Cal Defense Faces Another Big Test In NCAA Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (UPI) — It will be Jerry West against the defense that stopped Oscar Robertson when West Virginia faces California tonight in a battle for the NCAA Basketball Tournament championship.

The 38 points West racked up to lead West Virginia to a 94-79 victory over Louisville in last night's Eastern final won't overawe a rock-solid California crew that held Robertson to five field goals and 19 points for a 64-58 victory over Cincinnati in the Western finals.

If the "Big O's" showing was a disappointment to the 18,619 fans who jammed Freedom Hall for the NCAA semi-finals, West's performance was a revelation as he poured cold water on Louisville's dreams.

The kid from Cabin Creek did more than shoot, although he did that exceedingly well, hitting 12 of 21 shots from the floor. He also pulled in 15 rebounds, outbattling a lanky Louisville front line that had outrebounded Michigan State and Kentucky in regional play.

California, first Pacific Coast Conference team to reach the NCAA finals since Stanford won the crown in 1942, beat Cincinnati on defensive strategy, never giving the Bearcats a chance to set up Robertson for effective shots.

Oscar, who led the nation in scoring with a 32.9 per game average this season, could manage only 16 shots from the floor as the Bears kept at least one man and usually two between him and the ball. Senior forward Bob Dalton carried most of the burden on this maneuver, with a lot of help from 6-10 center Darrall Imhoff.

PLAYOFF ON TV

Tonight's California-West Virginia playoff for the NCAA championship will be televised to northern California by Station KTVU, Channel 2, Oakland, starting at 7 o'clock.

Imhoff, who had been hailed as approaching Bill Russell defensively but no great shakes in scoring, also displayed an effective left-handed hook shot that accounted for 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

The key moment in the California victory came with the score tied at 54-54 after the Bears had held Cincinnati without a field goal for the first nine minutes of the second half to make up a 33-29 halftime deficit.

California went into a slow-moving weave and waited for more than a minute to work the ball into Imhoff. He spun in one of his southpaw hooks to put the Bears ahead with two minutes left and Cincinnati couldn't catch up.

Cincinnati contributed to its own downfall by allowing California to set the pattern of play. Coach George Smith conceded, "We didn't have it. We didn't run or do the things we were supposed to do. We didn't hustle."

California can expect to see a hustling team when they meet West Virginia for the title tonight. The mountaineers have to hustle just to keep up with Jerry West.

"I don't know what we'll do against West Virginia," Coach Pete Newell said of his California squad that tops the nation in defense with a 50-point per game yield. "That West is something. But we'll be in there if we can do the job we've been doing."

About the victory over favored Cincinnati, Newell said: "I thought Imhoff probably played his best game. He was the key when we revised our defense to force Robertson out in the second half." Imhoff is a junior.

49er Cagers Nip Marin Quint In Rough, Tumble Exhibition

San Francisco 49ers basketball team eked out a 66-64 victory over the Dugout Dandies last night at San Rafael High School in a benefit exhibition game sponsored by the San Rafael 20-30 Club.

Big Bob St. Clair, the 6-foot-9-inch, 265-pound tackle for the professional grid squad, scored the winning field goal from under the basket with five seconds remaining in the game that was marked by rough body contact.

After paying the 49er squad its fee of $300, a spokesman for the 20-30 Club said, "We'll be lucky to break even" financially. The televising of the California-Cincinnati basketball game was blamed for the poor paying attendance. The club sponsored the game for the benefit of its eyeglasses fund for needy children.

The Dandies, champions of the San Rafael men's league, gave the talented 49ers all they could handle. The pro gridders held a slim 32-30 halftime lead and broke away to a 10-point spread in the second half. But the Dugout's Bob Liebe took matters into his own hands and scored four consecutive field goals to close the gap. It was nip and tuck right down to the wire when St. Clair came through with the winning bucket.

CONNER OUSTED

At times the game got plenty rought. Clyde Conner of the 49ers was thrown out of the game after he threw a body block on the Dugout's Al Murray, knocking him flat.

The 49ers got good scoring balance with John Thomas, former COP star, scoring 17, Billy Wilson 15 and Gordy Soltau 14. Y. A. Tittle kept up his two-point per game average by swishing one through from the corner.

Other grid stars who performed were Hugh McElhenny, and Ed Henke who didn't help much basketball-wise as they contributed a combined total of one point and committed a total of eight fouls.

Leading the Dugout was Liebe with 20 points while Murray had 12 and Bob Stout 10.

The 49ers signed autographs for the several youngsters in the audience.

In the preliminary game the San Francisco Chinese All-Stars downed the San Rafael Independents, 57-50 in a nip and tuck fray.

Marin Prep Baseball Tourney Opens Monday

Marin County's high school baseball season begins in earnest next week with the annual county tournament taking the spotlight at Albert Field in San Rafael.

First round games will be played Monday, while the finals are scheduled for Tuesday.

Lined up for action are the host school, Tamalpais, along with San Rafael, Drake, Redwood, Marin Catholic and George Washington of San Francisco. The latter team is entered only to fill the "bye" dates for the other teams and its games will not count in standings.

Monday's opening schedule is as follows: 4 p.m.—Redwood vs. San Rafael; 6:15 p.m.—Drake vs. Marin; 8:30 p.m. — Tamalpais vs. Washington.

Final rounds for consolation and championship brackets are scheduled Tuesday, with games at 1:45, 4, 6:15 and 8:30 p.m.

Winning team will be presented a trophy donated by Taveggia-Brusati Sports Shop of San Rafael. Each player on a 10-man All-Tournament team, to be selected by a special group of judges, will receive a miniature gold baseball.

Olympic Club Eliminated In Final Seconds Of AAU

DENVER (AP)—Wichita and Bartlesville, old foes who've played six times this season, battle tonight for the championship of the 52nd AAU Basketball Tournament.

The Wichita Whiz Masters conquered Army's All-Stars 104-102 in overtime and the Oklahomans edged San Francisco 72-71 in skin tight semi-final games last night before 7,500.

The Kansas speedsters hold a 5-1 edge, including a whopping 142-78 triumph, over Bartlesville in regular National Industrial Basketball League play. Bartlesville's lone victory against Wichita was 113-96.

Gary Thompson, who bagged only two field goals in the game, sank one from 20 feet with eight seconds left to seal the triumph over the gallant San Franciscans, who trailed by 17 points early in the contest.

BIG LEAD

Bartlesville bolted to a 10-0 lead against San Francisco during the first two minutes when three fouls were whistled on Ron Tomsic, the team's playmaker. The Californians pulled up to 21-18 before 6-4 Red Murrell of Drake sent Bartlesville into a 40-23 lead with 90 seconds left in the half. Murrell flipped in 19 points during the first half but drew a blank in the second half.

Paul Neumann of Stanford, voted northern California's top collegiate player this season, paced San Francisco with 21. Tomsic, who entered the game with a 31.5 average, canned 19.

San Francisco and the Army All-Stars play for third place tonight in advance of the Wichita-Bartlesville final.

Crash Kills Driver In Sebring Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Sebring's dangerous hairpin turn already had claimed its first victim of 1959 before the racers took off today on the gruelling 12-hour sports car endurance test.

Ed Lawrence, 30-year-old amateur driver from Detroit, died last night when his Maserati zoomed off the track at 80 miles per hour in a practice run.

The auto salesman was pinned in the flaming car he apparently drove straight off the track at the hairpin turn.

Although the Sebring grind that runs from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. counts only in the race for the car manufacturers' championship, the winning driver will be favored to succeed the late Mike Hawthorn, the 1958 driving champion. This is the first of a series of six for the manufacturers' title, won the past five years by the Ferrari factory of Modena, Italy.

The drivers will compete in another series to determine the successor to Hawthorn. One of the races will be held at Sebring Dec. 12.

Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., who teams with Dan Gurney of Riverside, Calif., one of the sleek foursome entered by the Ferrari factory, was one of the favorites to succeed Hawthorn. He finished third in the world competition last year and teamed with the late Peter Collins of England to win the 1958 Sebring race.

First practice for Hamilton Air Force baseballers will be held at 1:45 p.m. next Tuesday at the North Recreation Hall.

Capt. James Morris, who will coach the team, said today that all new equipment has been purchased for the squad this year.

The Hamilton nine's schedule includes games with the San Francisco City College at Hamilton April 20, College of Marin, San Diego Marines, Santa Rosa Junior College and several service and semi-pro teams, Morris announced.

OXO, 8 TO 1 SHOT, WINNER AT AINTREE

AINTREE, England (AP)—Oxo won the 113th Grand National steeplechase today.

Wyndburgh finished second, and the favored Mr. What was third in the grueling race on which the first Irish Hospital Sweepstakes of the year is based.

(Three Marin County couples held valuable sweepstakes tickets on the race, but none won.)

The only other horse to finish out of the 34 that started was Tiberetta, who had challenged for the lead much of the way.

Oxo was an 8-1 shot in the betting in the 4-mile, 856-yard race over 30 fences—the world's toughest steeplechase.

Wynburgh went off at 10-1, and Mr. What, winner of the race a year ago, was the 6-1 favorite.

Casey Puts State 160 Title On Line Against Williams

RICHMOND (AP) — San Francisco's Hank Casey defends his California middleweight boxing title against Al "Tiger" Williams of Los Angeles tonight in a 12-round bout at the Richmond Auditorium.

Most observers rate the fight a toss-up since the two staged a close battle two months ago with Williams taking the decision in 10 rounds.

The challenger's record is 33 victories, 18 defeats and 2 draws. He's fought and beaten such nationally known boxers as Charlie Cotton, Tombstone Smith and Charlie Josephs.

Casey, who except for a draw with Willie Vaughn hasn't fought any nationally known boxers, has a 20-2-5 record. The state champ is 25 and Williams 24.

Anthony Hangs On At Finish To Win TV Go

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony's fans have become a fidgety band of nail-biters. Even in the victory, the New York light heavyweight challenger makes nervous wrecks of his rooters.

Such was the case again last night when tall Tony outpointed ever-pressing Sonny Ray of Chicago in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. It was the 24-year-old Anthony's second straight decision over the 23-year-old, fifth-ranking contender.

But Tony's followers had another case of jitters when their idol almost blew a big lead and seemed headed for a knockout defeat in the last round. Tony heard two bells at the end of the frantic round which gives you an idea of how rough things had become for him.

Only a knockout could have given Ray, a 13-5 underdog, the win at that final stage. Sonny almost made it. Midway in the round, the 5-11 Chicagoan staggered his 6-1 opponent with a left and right to the jaw. Tony was dazed but he managed to hang on. Seconds later he was firing back.

Then Ray again nailed Tony with a left and right to the jaw. Anthony dropped his hands and turned his back on Ray. Sonny stood there perplexed for a moment and then started after his foe again. But the final bell sounded before he could punch.

"I thought the bell had sounded when I turned away from him," said Anthony. "Lucky for me the bell did sound right quick."

The three officials had Anthony the winner by the following scores: Referee Ruby Goldstein, 8-2; Judge Frank Forbes, 6-3-1, and Judge Tony Castellano, 6-4. The AP card had Anthony ahead, 8-2.

Hector Paces Tam Track Win Over Marin Catholic

Bob Hector won two events, placed second in another and ran a leg of the winning relay team yesterday as he led the Tamalpais High School varsity track and field team to a smashing 81-32 victory over Marin Catholic at Tam.

Hector won the half-mile in 2 minutes, 21 seconds, the broad jump at 19 feet 6 inches and was second in the high hurdles.

Other high scorers for Tam were Russ Cook with victories in the 440 and shot put and Ed Chiswell in the high and low hurdles.

Tam also won Class B, 93-20 and Class C, 31-19.

HANLEY'S REPORT

Tribe Landed Pip In Arizona U. Ace

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

TUCSON, Ariz. — Signing of Gene Leek to a $30,000 bonus contract by the Cleveland Indians kicked up a mild storm on the University of Arizona campus.

Frank Sancet, university baseball coach, castigated the Cleveland management for plucking his power-hitting third baseman from college in his junior year.

"I'll do everything I can now to keep the Indians from getting any more of our players," said Sancet who had given Leak permission to practice with the Indians at their Tucson spring training camp. "I never thought this would result."

Sancet warned his players that anyone caught working out with the Indians will be summarily dismissed from the university team.

Leek did not appear unduly disturbed by his coach's howls. As a 21-year-old man he is fully qualified in the eyes of the law to make his own decisions and he did not hesitate in making this one.

"Of course the money was important," said the six-foot, 185-pounder who was hitting .450 in seven games with his university team when the Indians tabbed him. "But it was not the only factor. By signing now I have a good chance to play triple A ball with the (San Diego) Padres. And San Diego is my home town."

SIGNED LAST Monday, Leek was put to work at third base the next day by Cleveland in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs. He singled twice and scored twice against the Cubs.

The following day he slashed a double to left center as a sixth inning replacement, driving in a run that gave the Indians a temporary 7-6 lead over the Boston Red Sox.

His hitting was coupled with flawless fielding of six chances, including the start of a round-the-horn double play.

THIS PROMPTED Cleveland manager Joe Gordon to keep him in the lineup for nine innings against the Giants in his third Cactus League game.

He drew a walk and doubled to center against the Giants and again looked like a polished product at third. He charged one slow roller for a difficult putout and backhanded a hot shot just inside the third base foul line for another.

Leek's sensational debut has the Indian camp buzzing with complimentary comments about the young rookie. They're now saying the only way he will be ticketed to San Diego is for him "to play himself off the team."

Odds, however, are that he eventually will go to the Padre training camp in Indio. That will not disappoint Leek who has no illusions of grandeur. After all, that was his original plan.

Leek, incidentally, was not a "sleeper." Most of the major league scouts knew about him. Last year he had offers from six clubs but decided to wait another season. He passed up football during 1958 to concentrate on baseball.

BILL RIGNEY hopes he will get his regular lineup going next week. The one he has in mind is: Jim Davenport, 3b; Andre Rodgers, ss; Daryl Spencer, 2b; Orlando Cepeda, 1b; Jackie Brandt, lf; Willie Mays (who else?), cf; Felipe Alou, rf; Bob Schmidt, c. Bug bites, ingrown toenails, colds, damaged noses, damaged shinbones—you name it and the Giants have had it—have kept the first stringers from appearing together in one Cactus League exhibition game.

Antonelli's Performance Cheers S.F.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Those steady Florida rains are welcome headline news to the San Francisco Giants and the Chicago Cubs, training in sun-drenched Arizona.

And indications that the tanned teams hereabouts are getting into shape more rapidly appeared to be borne out yesterday by a pitching duel between the Giants' Johnny Antonelli and the Cub's big Bob Anderson.

The Cubs won it 3-1 on Anderson's four-hit performance plus homers by Chick King and Tony Taylor in the sixth and eighth innings. Anderson became the first major league hurler to go a full nine innings.

Antonelli went seven, allowing four hits. He was relieved by Billy Muffett, who allowed only two hits, including Taylor's home run with King aboard.

The Giants got their lone run in the top of the ninth. Darly Spencer walked, Andre Rodgers doubled to left and catcher Hobie Landrith grounded to Anderson, with Spencer scoring.

Both Antonelli and Anderson, relief ace of the 1956 Pacific Coast League pennant-winning Los Angeles club, displayed mid-season form.

The Heart of the Matter

IF YOU do business in Marin, and want to do more than a neighborhood trade, there is one best way to build and grow. That way is to follow the example of practically every successful Marin enterprise—advertise in the Independent-Journal.

The I-J covers the entire Marin Market. Nearly 100% of the 25,000-plus circulation is home delivered—right on the doorsteps of 5 out of 7 Marin families. This is paid-for and wanted circulation—no throwaways or free copies are included.

The reasons for the often amazing response to I-J advertising are simple: While the I-J is a complete NEWS-paper, the people in the compact, self-contained community of Marvelous Marin buy it for the ADVERTISING as well as for news and features.

Mr. and Mrs. Marin study the I-J carefully every day for "news" of what merchants and professional services are offering. Its pages are their No. 1 guide in buying and saving and operating the "business" of home-making efficiently and economically.

W. Marin Land Owners Hit Endorsement Of Park Plan

"I wonder if the small number of conservationists pushing for a recreational area on Pt. Reyes Peninsula realize the significance of the Tenth Commandment — thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's property," said Bryan R. McCarthy yesterday in reference to Marin Conservation League's program Wednesday night endorsing the proposed park.

McCarthy, San Rafael attorney representing the West Marin Property Owners Assn. which is vigorously opposed to the park, declared "It appears that they seek the property for their own use and will take away homes and livelihoods of families who have been in West Marin for generations."

The proposed 28,000-acre recreation area would practically destroy the dairy industry of West Marin, maintain the dairy ranchers. Seven large dairy ranches and seven livestock ranches would be seized, and 10 more dairy ranches would be ruined, they say, because cows will not produce milk properly when they are disturbed by people and cars.

"The West Marin property owners feel that Marin County already has adequate parks," McCarthy continued, citing the presence of five state parks, one national monument, three county operated beaches, nine recreational areas on water district property and several thousand acres of military installations.

"Marin is the fourth smallest county in the state, yet it ranks eighth from the top in the number of state parks," the attorney asserted.

The ranchers suggest Marin's present parks be used before more recreational areas are set aside. They say Drakes Bay State Park, which is within the 28,000 acreage, is not used to near capacity. The proposed park would probably be of nominal use to Marin residents. McCarthy said, "We have found that persons using Tomales Bay State Park are mostly from outside the county, especially San Francisco and the East Bay."

The ranchers further believe the park would hurt Marin by taking the 28,000 acres off the tax rolls. That would make 60,753 acres or 18.2 per cent of county property tax free, they say.

If it destroyed the dairy industry, it would take away income, McCarthy declared. "Weighing the number of persons who would be employed in the park against the persons displaced from ranch jobs, we figure over one million dollars in annual salaries would be lost.

"The tourists would spend money in the county, but we look at it this way—the parks we know of do not replace what they take away. We don't think Samuel P. Taylor State Park is any benefit financially."

Not only would the ranchers be displaced but the recreation area would engulf part of two Radio Corp. of America stations and seriously hamper its international radio-receiving facilities.

RCA claims its stations at Pt. Reyes are the largest and most important long-distance radio telegraph receiving stations on the West Coast.

T. H. Mitchell, president of RCA Communications, Inc., has advised C. L. Wirth, National Park Service director, and Fred A. Seaton, secretary of interior, of his opposition to the Pt. Reyes park.

Mill Valley DeMolay Wins Goldstein Trophy

Mill Valley chapter of De Molay won the Dad Goldstein Trophy at the Redwood Empire Division conference last week in Ukiah. The trophy is awarded to the chapter with the best all around achievement, including ritual and chapter activities.

Mill Valley's Don Marvin won the rifle trophy at the Ukiah affair. In bowling, Mylo Johnson was the third series medal winner.

Ehlen Asks State Help In Boat Dispute

Lowell Nelson, newly appointed chief of the state Division of Housing, confirmed yesterday that his office has been asked by Sausalito City Atty. John B. Ehlen to step into the Sausalito houseboat water pollution controversy by having the state exercise its enforcement powers.

Nelson said he is taking the matter up with the department's legal staff.

"We seek the state's cooperation here," Ehlen said yesterday. "A report made by County Sanitarian William Desmond indicates that there are 120 living units on the waterfront that are in violation of the state Health and Safety Code."

Ehlen declared, "This enforcement problem is too big for the City of Sausalito, the county or the local sanitary district to handle."

San Quentin Fly-Away Convict Gets Parole

Gerald E. Baucum, 29-year-old San Quentin inmate who escaped from a prison camp in a stolen plane three years ago and surrendered last fall, will be paroled from prison June 22 by order of the state Adult Authority.

Baucum lived a respectable life in Butte, Mont., during his years as a fugitive, the authority noted.

Mrs. Duncan Gets Death Sentence, Due Sanity Hearing

VENTURA (UPI) — Elizabeth Duncan, who married from 10 to 20 times but did not want her son to marry a Canadian nurse, was condemned to death in the gas chamber last night for hiring two men to kill his wife.

Eight women and four men returned the death verdict in the "for hire" murder case after a little more than three hours of deliberation — three months from the day Olga Duncan's body was found in a shallow grave north of here.

Spectators sat in silence as 83-year-old presiding Judge Charles F. Blackstock asked if the jury had reached a verdict. It was handed to the court clerk who read:

"Death."

The 54-year-old matron accepted the jury's decision stoically—the same reaction she showed last Monday when she was convicted of first degree murder.

But her 30-year-old son, Frank, visibly shaken, said:

"It was horribly unfair. There is no question that political ambition was involved in this.

"He (prosecutor Roy Gustafson) intends to climb to a higher position over the body of my mother."

Gustafson said:

"I think the verdict is just."

Mrs. Duncan held her head high and maintained a slight smile as she left the courtroom, trailed by spectators who had waited for the verdict.

Next for the condemned murderess is a sanity hearing on Tuesday before Blackstock. Two court-appointed psychiatrists have found her legally sane.

Behind Mrs. Duncan, as she left the courtroom, were charts listing 20 crimes, of which she had been accused during the trial.

PRETTY KITTY FOR EASTER

"All set and ready to go," says this kitten (in cat language). It represents all the little felines available at the Marin County Humane Society, 402 Third street, San Rafael, for adoption. The Humane Society suggests kittens as more suitable Easter pets than baby chicksc or ducklings, which often are unwittingly mistreated by their young owners. (Photo by Kathy Wheeler)

Kindergarten Signup Set In Mill Valley

Pre-registration of children who will enter kindergarten classes in the Mill Valley School District this year has been set for April 7-8 at the Park School auditorium from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., according to Supt. G. R. McConnell.

To be eilgible for kindergarten in September, the child must be at least 4 years and 9 months on Sept. 1, McConnell said. To be eligible for the first grade, he must be at least a year older on the same date.

It is not necessary to register children now attending kindergarten classes McConnell announced, but children eligible for classes starting Sept. 1 but not now attending should register.

Some evidence of birth date such as a birth certificate, passport, baptism certificate, hospital record or affidavit of parent or guardian is necessary.

Sausalito Plan Wins Approval

Chairmen of eight subcommittees of the 90-member Sausalito Citizens Advisory Committee have endorsed the proposed Sausalito general plan and urged the planning commission and city council to do the same.

A ninth subcommittee chairman, John Ostrowski, dissented.

The plan, developed by planning consultant Sydney H. Williams, is now under consideration by the city.

In a formal statement prepared by co-chairman Earl F. Dunphy, the group said, "It is our desire that the thoughts, effort and money put into this plan will not have been in vain."

Making a plea for public support, the chairmen noted that the plan "is an outline for the future and can be changed or modified at any time."

WHOLE TOWN KNEW IT WAS SIX O'CLOCK

PORTLAND, Conn. (UPI) — Everyone in this town knew it was 6 o'clock last evening.

The fire whistle, which usually blows at 6, did—as a matter of fact. It didn't stop until telephone company repairmen fixed it at 7:45 p.m.

Marin Lumber Firm Doubles Work Force

The Sweet Timber Co. of Olema, Marin's only operating lumber mill, this week nearly doubled its work force and adopted a split shift in hopes of meeting an increasing demand of lumber by Bay Area builders.

Donald Sweet, part owner and manager, today said the company, which opened for business April 15, 1958, has so far done about $400,000 worth of business in gross sales. "We hope with the growing demand for lumber and our crew increased that we can approach one million dollars this year," said Sweet.

The company last Monday hired 20 new sawmill workers, bringing the total work force to about 55 men, which will increase its total payroll by $80,000 to $100,000 a year, Sweet estimated. Total payroll with both shifts will approximate $250,000.

Also recently installed has been new machinery designed to improve the accuracy and quality of the milling work, Sweet noted.

The company is a complete logging, milling and planing operation which sells its finished lumber to buyers throughout the Bay Area and as far east as Sacramento and Stockton. Douglas fir tree logs are obtained exclusively from 3,500 acres of land in the Olema area where the company has timber cutting rights, Sweet said.

Sweet Timber Co. several months ago absorbed Alden White Lumber Co., a separate organization which was set up to operate the sawmill.

WINDSORS LOSE WAY IN NEVADA; DEPUTY SHERIFF COMES TO AID

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, driving from Boulder City to Las Vegas, lost their way and were rescued by a sheriff's deputy.

The duke flagged down a sheriff's car and this conversation ensued:

"I say, officer, could you direct me to the right road to Las Vegas?"

"Sure. Say, you're the Duke of Windsor, aren't you?"

"Well, yes, I am. You see the duchess and I were en route to the Desert Inn and we're not certain of the road."

"That's all right, sir; just follow me."

Redwood High Musicians Set First Concert

Redwood High School's orchestra and band will appear in their first public performance April 3 at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The program theme will be "Here and There — Then and Now," according to Sidney Gordon, orchestra and band director. It will feature selections from this and other countries, music popular today and in years past.

Orchestra soloists will be Joan Bamberger, who will play "Trumpet's Lullaby" by Leroy Anderson; and Rozanna Reid and Janet Christiason, playing "Flute Cocktail," a composition by Simeone. Rozanna is also student director, and will lead the orchestra in the aria from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart.

Band soloists will be Pat Hurtado, who will play the piano number "Spiritual Rhapsody" by Walters, and Martha Morse, who will play the rhondo from "Concerto for Clarinet, Op. 107," by Mozart. Dan Smith is the band's student director.

Bill To Increase Jury Pay Tabled

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill to increase jury pay and to have employers bear the increased cost was refused approval in a Senate committee and was referred for possible interim committee study.

The bill (SB435) was introduced by Sen. Stephen Teale (D-West Point) at the request of the AFL-CIO.

Under the bill, pay to jurors would not exceed $20 per day for a period not to exceed 30 days in one calendar year. Employers would pay the difference between the existing jury scale and the $20.

"Why should the employer be slapped with this increase?" asked Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville). "If the union wants the measure why doesn't the union foot the bill?"

Sen. Hugo Fisher (D-San Diego) said the principle here was the same as an employer paying a man his regular salary even though he takes two hours off to go to vote.

Irish Setter Wins High Obedience Trial Honors

In keeping with the spirit of St. Patrick's Day, an Irish setter named Gilhooley this week took top class honors in the obedience trials staged by the Marin County Dog Training Club.

The competition marked the end of the club's past 10-day training course and was part of the graduation exercises. Gilhooley is owned by Emily Belcher of San Rafael.

The intermediate class was won by 13-year-old Barbara Dillon of San Anselmo with her Shetland sheepdog, Prince. High score in the beginners' class was turned in by Mrs. Rhea Maxwell, Novato, with her miniature poodle, George.

Registration for the next training session will be held next Wednesday evening in the club's headquarters in the loft above the Marin Wheel Alignment Co., 401 Irwin street, San Rafael. There will be no classes on registration night, with the next session beginning April 1.

Advance registration is required for the children's bebeginning classes which are limited to an enrollment of 25. The children's classes, held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, are free of charge and those interested may enroll by contacting Mrs. Bill Dobbs, 2631 Heatherstone drive, San Rafael.

Teaching the children's beginning classes will be Larry Henagar and Mack Purcell. Beginning adults and intermediate classes will be taught by Bill Dobbs.

Club president Paul Putnam will instruct the advanced intermediate students, while the club's head trainer, Joe McGinley, will handle advanced and adult beginning classes.

Hubcaps Stolen During School Play

Two cars were stripped of all hubcaps Thursday at the San Rafael High School grounds during a showing of the high school musical, "Oklahoma."

Spectators parked their cars in the high school lot from about 7:15 to 10:30 p.m. Two of them complained to police that their hubcaps were taken during those hours.

Robert Allan Arbini of 516 Fifth avenue, San Rafael, and Lillian Belle Smith of 39 Jordan avenue, San Anselmo, were the two victims.

Reservists' Speaker

Space law and other legal problems will be the subject of a talk by Capt. Sydney P. Murman of San Anselmo before Navy Reserve Composite Unit 12-17 Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the faculty lounge at College of Marin.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

New Budget Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new flareup in the battle of the budget appeared in prospect today as a result of President Eisenhower's strong denunciation of a House committee's fund cutting.

"Irresponsible action," Eisenhower said yesterday after the House Appropriations Committee rejected his request for 225 million dollars in supplementary money for the development loan fund.

Fighting In Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Fighting is raging in Lhasa, capital of Communist-held Tibet, the Indian Foreign Ministry reported today.

A terse midnight radio report from the Indian representative in "The Roof of the World" said: "Fighting in immediate vicinity of consulate. Situation tense and rising."

This was all that was received here, suggesting the possibility that the radio—only free world link with Tibet—may have been cut off.

Drug Death Probed

REDLANDS (UPI)—A college boy admitted at a hearing into the death of a brilliant chemistry student that they used each other as guinea pigs in experiments with vision-inducing drugs.

"But this was not done for kicks or for a binge," David Dunning, 18, a sophomore psychology student at Redlands University, told a board investigating the death of 18-year-old Michael Hawks.

"You'll see from the notebooks and tape recordings how painstaking our record of the experiments really was," he said.

Young Hawks was discovered unconscious in his dormitory room Tuesday and died without regaining his senses. Deputy Coroner Edward Doyle said yesterday after an autopsy that the boy died of chloral hydrate intoxication.

Mosk Against Bias

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk intends to back measures introduced in Sacramento to break up "gentlemen's agreements" under which real estate brokers refuse to sell homes to persons because of race, color or creed.

Mosk's views were made known yesterday at a press conference with William R. Ming Jr., Chicago, the first Negro attorney elected to the American Veterans Committee.

"As a matter of public policy," Mosk said, "discrimination against any person or group on the irrelevant basis of race, color or creed or religion is improper."

Use Full Name

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Park Commission says the 1,500-acre park near Santa Monica should be called by its full official name—Leo Carrillo Beach Park.

There should be no more offhand references to "Carrillo Park," the Commissioners agreed yesterday.

How come?

Well, for one thing, the actor is a member of the Park Commission.

"I have a lot of second cousins running around," said Carrillo. "Now they can't claim the park is named after them."

Spring Is Here

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Spring blustered its way into the nation today on the winds of a near-blizzard that swept the midlands and stirred up a flurry of small tornadoes in the western gulf states.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau promised the vicious storms would calm into gentle breezes and light rains, bringing a welcome reprieve to weather-weary residents of the central states who have suffered through one of the worst winters in decades. Spring officially arrived at 12:50 a.m. (PST).

Bridges Gets Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The appearance of Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast longshoremen's chief, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been postponed until April 21.

The delay was granted yesterday at the request of Bridges' attorneys. The committee was scheduled to question Bridges next Tuesday about statements attributed to him during a recent European trip.

Paternal Honor

MADRID (UPI) — Jose Platas Alcaide, a 77-year-old farm laborer, has received Spain's $1,000 national birthrate prize for his family of 26 children, 46 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren, it was announced today.

For his paternal record, the twice-married winner was awarded several gifts presented personally by Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

He Didn't Mean It

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A typographical error sent Dallas City Council candidate Jack Johnson frantically telephoning newspapers yesterday.

The mistake, in copies of his platform he sent out, left him saying: "I favor excessive and unnecessary spending in Dallas." Johnson assured newsmen he meant just the opposite.

He joined the bank in Los Angeles and served in various branches there until 1953.

Form Follows Function

Frank Lloyd Wright Sets (The) Keynotes And Furniture Designers Follow Suit

"Form must follow function," said the great architect Frank Lloyd Wright.

Furniture designers have taken more than a hint . . . have made the forms beautiful and the furniture precisely functional. Some of the most exciting new advances on this order, will be in stores very shortly, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee, reports.

Many women will like the new dresser designed especially for the small and foldable items in the feminine wardrobe. The only possible disadvantage is that the girl will no longer have an excuse for disorder.

Compartments scaled to store everything from earrings to stockings, lingerie and handkerchiefs make "getting ready" in a hurry, a breeze.

There is even a special section where large handbags can stand upright.

THE PLAN-IT-YOURSELFERS, particularly if they have a new family room or home office in mind will be attracted to a new "knock-down" collection.

It includes white plastic tops in six different sizes, high or low legs and a three drawer chest base. You can choose a section that will fit as if it were tailor made for your space and work needs.

Headboards and a hanging night shelf are also available in this small cost group.

THE STYLIST of one lower-priced upholstered furniture group has attempted to make decorating easier for most of us who can't carry color accurately in our mind's eye. With this group of chairs and sofas, stores will show large samples of fabric of a certain color and texture.

Attached to each sample will be three related, or go-with colors and textures.

When you decide on the cover color for your sofa, for instance, you can easily find a variety of contrasting or harmonizing fabrics for chairs or draperies.

STAY-A-BEDS get special codling from two new night tables. The square-lined Laureate in Honduras mahogany has three handsome knobs on the front.

Pull out the upper two and you have generous-sized drawers.

Pull out the third and you have a formica-topped shelf, proofed against moist glasses or hot cups.

Another table has a sliding bowl-shaped tray, in the bottom drawer, designed to hold small clutter. It slips easily from side to side.

NEW SOUNDS IN INTERIORS

The newest thing in 1959 Furniture Fashions is one of the oldest in the universe —sound. It takes new importance, however, with new developments in that two-headed wonder, stereophonic sound. Placement of the speakers may completely revise your room arrangement, or vice-versa.

As for coordinating new purchases of hi-fi, stereo, or piano with your new decor, there is a wide range of styles.

Otherwise, this is the season for finding fine pieces that will fit with the lovely things you already own.

COMPOSED DIGNITY — The term applies not only to the composed grace of this Florentine-inspired Comtesse collection, but to Tamalpais, the most composed dog in San Rafael. Like the furniture, he may be seen at Dorothy Kell Furniture at Fifth and B streets. The parti-colored pooch frequently makes himself a part of window displays, with which he seems always to harmonize. He is motionless for such long periods of time that passersby take him for stuffed. (Independent-Journal Photo)

Elegance From Classic Italy

For centuries Italy has been the magnetic land toward which travelers to Europe are irresitably drawn. As religious pilgrims, as scholars, as musicians, as vacationers, the visitors find Italy rich in inspiration and a fuller appreciation for the beauty and joy of life.

To the artist and designer, the enduring works of Michaelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Botticelli and countless other Renaissance creators are a vast source of inspiration. Even today, in Italy's reawakening, the genius of these 16th century masters is felt. The classic elegance of Italy's classic period of furniture of this period is influencing design not only of Italy but of leading American makers of fine furniture. The new Contessa Collection by Mount Airy recaptures the classic elegance of Italian styles of the 18th and 19th centuries.

Designed by Ray Sobota exclusively for Mount Airy, the Contessa Collection is drawn from his research and study in Tuscany, in which famous Florence is located. The research was more than varnish-deep, as Sobota was accompanied by Hale Yokley, design coordinator for Mount Airy, which is actually two firms—one specializing in chairs.

The new collection adapts the fineness of Florentine villa furnishings to today's finer homes in correlated groupings for all rooms.

Contessa is executed in selected walnut to which has been imparted a patina of age in three color tones. Brass fittings reminiscent of Florentine craftsmanship have been burnished to harmonize.

Three antique chair models were bought, to be copied in meticulous detail.

The revival of Italian design goes hand-in-hand with the trend toward traditional, with the accent on gracious living.

UNDERSTATED ELEGANCE — Deep pile nylon carpeting and printed sheer draperies tailored with precision underscore the unobtrusive elegance of the Wishard Brown residence at 18 Via Cheparro in Greenbrae. Bell's Draperies and Carpets, of 1212 Fourth street in San Rafael, furnished sedate background for favorite traditional pieces when the Browns moved recently to a new home. Soft rose walls and rose beige carpet complement gold of barrel-back chair. Green-gold of sofa is repeated in drapery figure. Accents are copper lamp shades and brass. (Independent-Journal Photo)

Kitchen May Be Arranged In 5 Ways

With today's factory-built wood kitchen cabinets available in sizes and styles to suit practically any kitchen arrangement, the home-maker has wide latitude in planning a new kitchen.

As a preliminary step, it is advisable to study the five basic kitchen designs. One may be more adaptable to the room dimensions or the family preference than another.

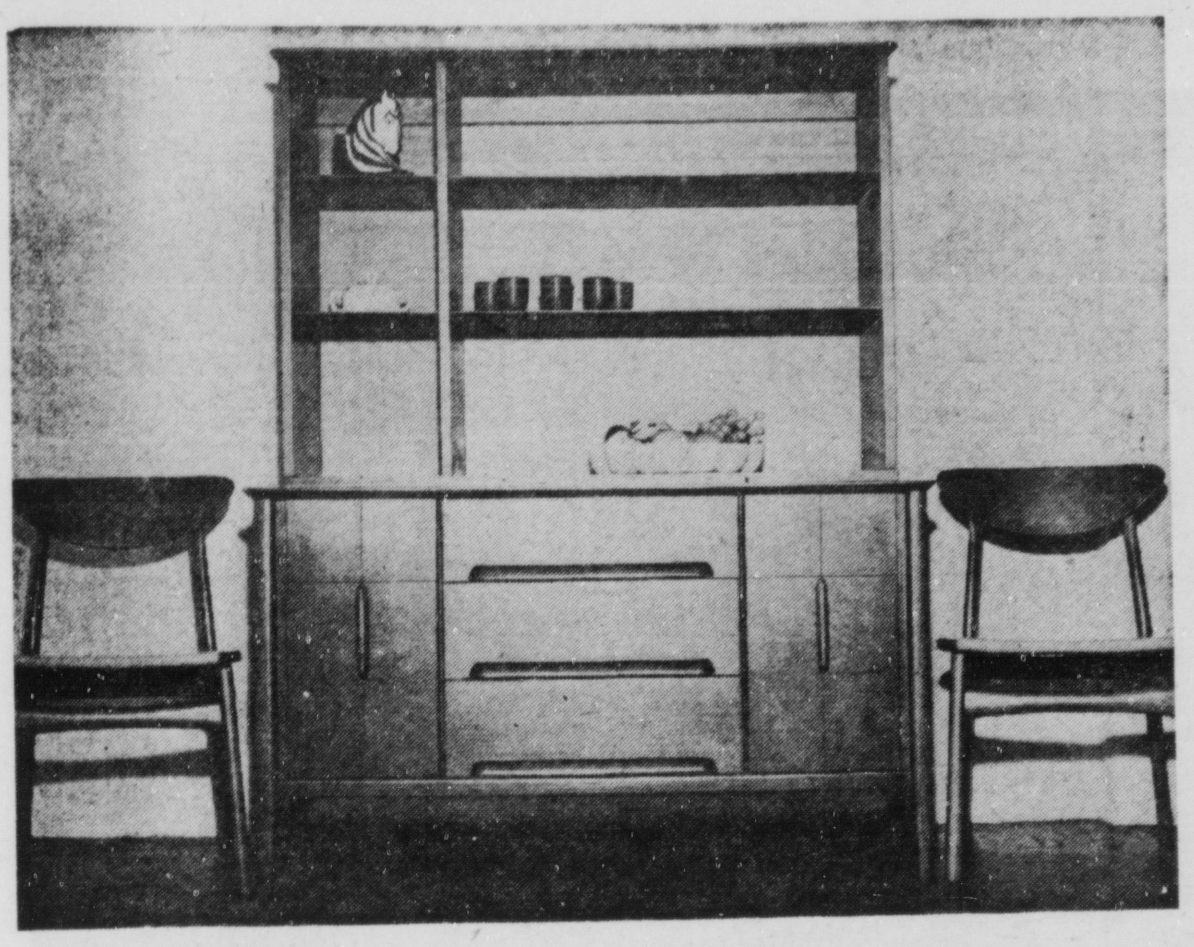
ONE-WALL KITCHEN — Simplest plan of all. It is ideal for limited space in a narrow room, but it adds steps because it strings all appliances and cabinets out in a long row.

TWO-WALL, OR CORRIDOR KITCHEN — A better plan. This has two facing rows of wood cabinets and appliances. The work triangle of refrigerator, sink and range can be made compact; but through traffic may be a nuisance. It is economical because there are no corners to turn.

L-SHAPED KITCHEN — Practical and economical because it frees space along two additional walls for dining, utility, planning, recreation, sewing, laundry, and so on. Cross traffic is not a problem, but the work triangle is bigger and requires more steps.

U-SHAPED KITCHEN—Some home-makers rank this as the ideal plan. It permits placing each work area on one of the three walls involved. The work triangle is kept compact and through traffic is directed away from work areas.

ISLAND OR PENINSULA KITCHEN — Excellent where space permits. Use of independent units brings work areas closer together while separating them from dining and laundry areas. At a right angle to a wall, the peninsula adds counter space for serving, eating or extra storage.



52 PIECES — The variations on this Scandinavian-inspired theme actually total 52. The correlated pieces for living room, dining room, bedroom or den are of warm walnut with inserts of myrtle burl, 'the jewel of woods.' Shaped wood pulls replace hardware for a sleek look. Available at California Furniture Co., Third and B streets in San Rafael. (Independent-Journal Photo)

In Its Place— Mud, That Is

Do you have a back porch or back entryway which isn't completely in use? Smart architects with an eye for utilizing space suggest converting this area into a "mud room."

Outfitted with a shower stall, wash basins, cabinets and closets, the mud room becomes an ideal spot for gardeners and grubby children to freshen up before entering the living portions of the home.

Add wall paneling and built-in cabinetry of a handsome and easily tailored wood like west coast hemlock, and the mud room makes a luxurious guest bathroom. Flooring should be of tough, easily washed type, like vinyl tile.

BUILD IT YOURSELF

This Portable Tool Chest Carries Own Bench, Too

A combination tool chest and work bench serves as a portable on-the-job shop.

The tapered legs are fastened to the bench top with butt hinges. The leg rail also serves as a handle when the bench is folded. It is shaped and notched as shown in the detail drawing.

The sides are of 1 by 6-inch lumber, 20½ inches long, tapered at one end, cut out at the other end to fit the small lid, and slotted to fit the handle rail. The back and front are of 1 by 7 or 1 by 8-inch lumber ripped to fit.

Assemble the chest to the bench, using glue and 5-penny finishing nails. Glue and nail the separations inside the chest.

Hinge the two lids in place, and fit the lids and sides with cabinet hooks. Use a pair of hooks also to hold the legs in folded position.

Take Guesswork Out Of Yardage

TV dominates many a family gathering and, consequently, the arrangement of furniture. In decorating around a TV set it is important to remember that all of the people do not look at TV all of the time. If possible, the set should be either a handsome piece of furniture in its own or integrated into the architecture by means of built-ins.

INGENUITY PLUS — Plus a carefully chosen chesterfield and carpet, that is. The Arthur Wilmes home at 200 Canyon road in Fairfax has evolved from a three-room cottage to a pleasant home with the beamed ceiling living room done in browns and beiges. Style Is More Than Name

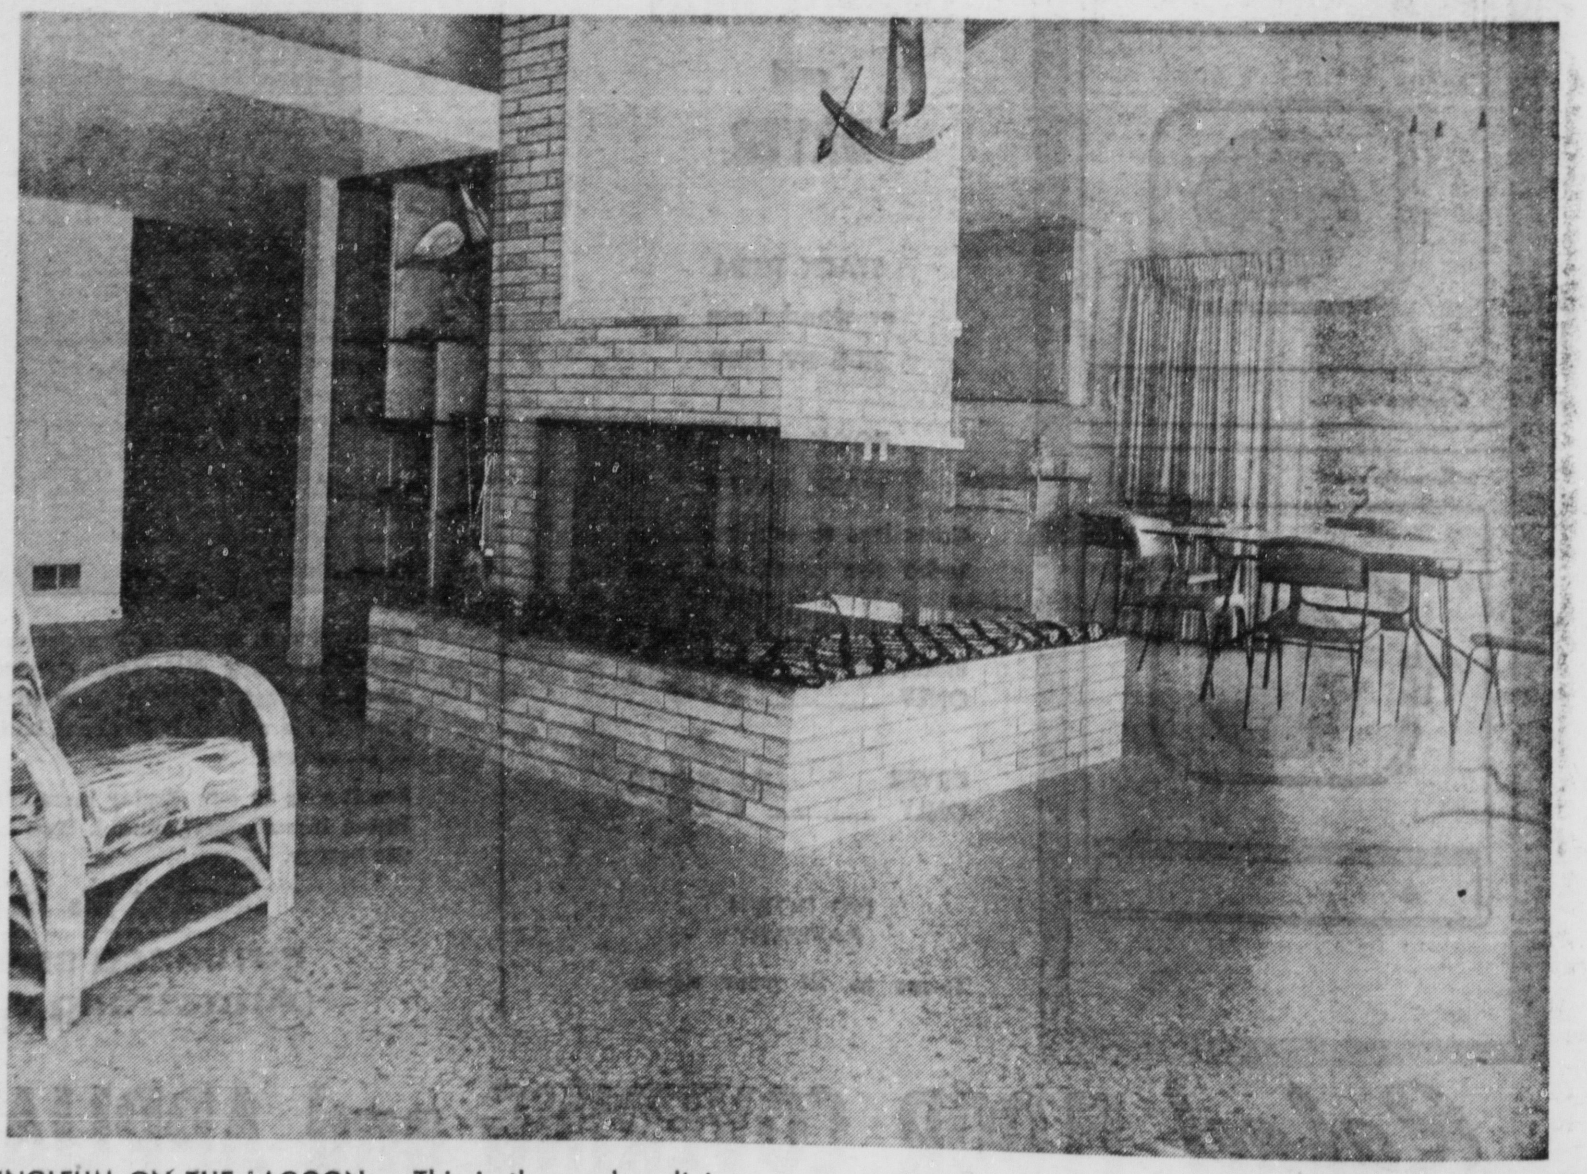
American furniture may well be reaching a mature style of its own. The 1959 Spring Furniture Fashions show refinement of previous trends, rather than bold strides in several directions, as has been the case in the past.

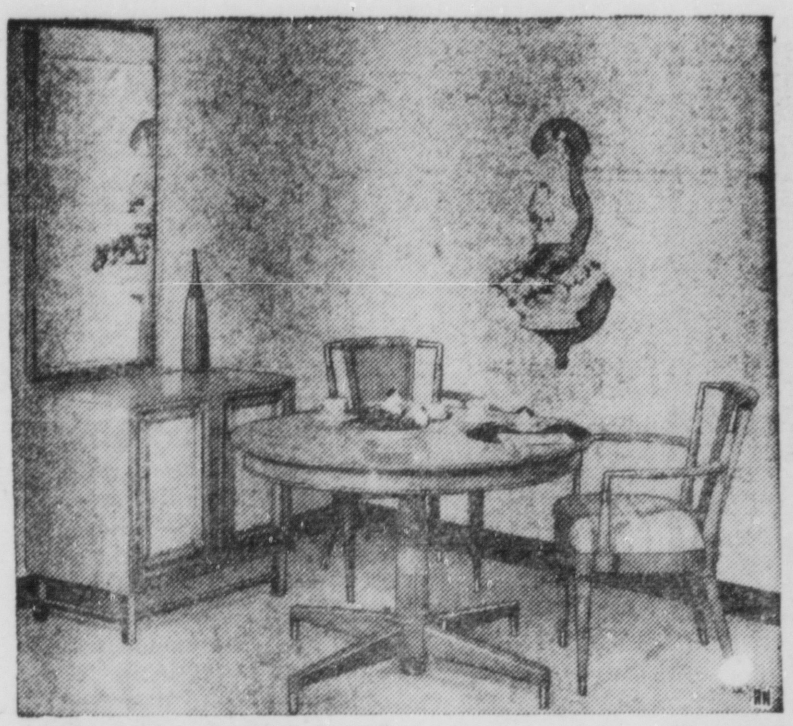
The light, slim-legged look which was imported with Scandinavian pieces has stayed around long enough to influence the modest price class of furniture. American manufacturers borrow freely from this graceful, functional furniture, sometimes adding a touch of the oriental for interest.

THE FAMILY of modular units is gaining "in-laws" of all nationalities, as this flexible way of creating storage space comes into its own. Not only do modular units come in all the old standy-by buffets and bookcases, but they now combine to provide desk space house hi-fi and stereo units and provide bedroom drawer space.

Correlated groupings are also in a family way, with more modulars being developed which can move from living room to bedroom to dining room with equal ease. For families who may have to move, they're an ideal solution.

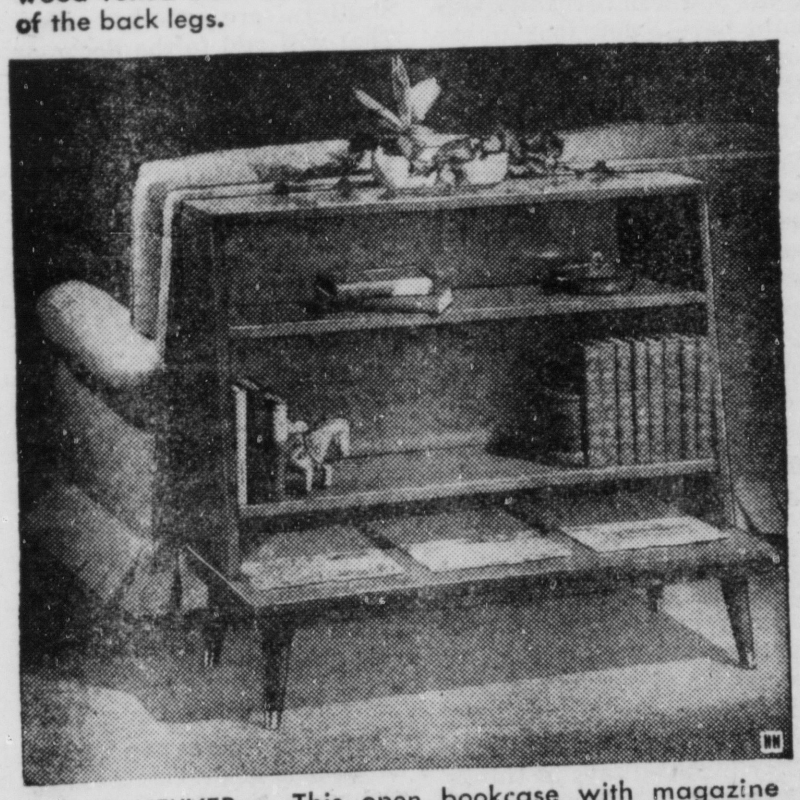


LINOLEUM ON THE LAGOON — This is the modern living room of a model home in the Belvedere Lagoon area, where each room in the house was enhanced by tasteful use of embossed inlaid linoleum. Carl and Ed Majesky, owners of San Anselmo Furniture, 112 Pine street, San Anselmo, engineered and specified the selection of patterns. "This is but one of many fine homes that are using the beauty and durability of modern patterns in inlaid linoleum," the Majeskys point out.



CONTEMPORA — Designer William J. Clingman spent two months in Italy studying new Italian furniture before he made his first drawings for Contempora. Dining room-bedroom group combines parqueted elm burl with travertine tops. Bases of chests are antique brass.

ANATOMICAL—The shape of the human back received special study from Larry Peabody before he designed this new dining group. Chair backs are of molded plywood rolled back at the top and pierced by extensions of the back legs.



SLY MANEUVER — This open bookcase with magazine shelf is sofa-height, so that it can put to work that bleak expanse behind the free-standing sofa. Bookcase also stands on its own as room divider, as the back is nicely finished. Legs, tipped with brass, are removable.

Dual Purpose

Rugged woodgrained bookshelves can be built around an old-fashioned radiator to improve a room's appearance with a custom-made installation.

Bookshelves are easy to assemble from stock lumber and hardboard paneling. Predecorated hardboard paneling is available at lumber yards, and it is applied quickly to the solid backing with contact cement.

The smooth plastic finish will resist heat and moisture, and it can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

What's In A Corner?

Corners will not be troublesome to decorate if they are considered for what they are —intersections of two walls. If the wall is treated as a single composition with central or off-centered interest, a blank corner will seem appropriate. Like the white mat around a watercolor, you might say.

The Time's Here

How Long Has It Been Since You Redecorated Your Home?

Take a good look at your home. Why not equip yourself with paint, wall paper, fabrics, and organize for a spring refurbishing?

As this letter indicates, in these days of easily applied paints and wall coverings, one could have a new look in the home once every month or at least twice a year:

QUESTION: "I decorate my living room in seasons—fall and spring. The four colors I use are yellow, dark green, pumpkin, bronze, with a beige background in draperies, carried out in throw pillows, cushions, candles and other accessories.

"My rug is a narrow multi-stripe wool (red, blue, green, yellow and taupe) bought with the idea of wide compatability.

"My walls are pink and white this year. For spring I plan new drapes of white with a pattern of azelea color and two shades of moss green and will change the room accessories accordingly.

"My husband says he thinks this method of decorating makes visitors a little uncomfortable and the home has an air of uncertainty to it. Would you call this idea a decorating faux pas?"

ANSWER: The decorating idea should be very attractive but men are not happy about change, however, and it often takes them a long while to become accustomed to a new decorating scheme. Frequent changes could be confusing to the man of the house."

QUESTION: "My husband insisted on having the living room windows in our new ranch house go right to the baseboard. The builders suggested a three-foot margin below the windows. These large windows are directly in front of our fireplace and I find it impossible to decorate as I should really place our large sofa in that area for a cozy grouping. What shall I do?"

ANSWER: Why not put a draw curtain at the lower half of the window or use a match-stick bamboo draw blind — very handsome and effective. Shutters are another idea. That will add to the decor as well as close up that undesirable expanse of the lower part of the window.

RESTYLED—The piano is staging a comeback in interiors. Today's, however, is as far removed from the bulky old upright as granddaughter is from her bustled, corseted grandmother. This is one of several contemporaries from tthe collection of Ray Hime, 1301 Fourth street, San Rafael.

They Get Along Together Well

Don't be cowed by all the styles of furniture available. The most successful decorators mix periods at will. In so doing, however, they do not mix too flagrantly different styles. One will be somewhat classic. Many of the contemporary modular units are perfectly compatible with period pieces. They become part of the understated background.

Match Them

Matching patterns in draperies and wallpaper or draperies and tile give a color scheme continuity. Especially useful in small interiors.

This Is No One Scheme Color Season

This season one hears little shouting about "the color scheme." However, if you peek around, you'll find a bounty of colors. There are brilliant hues and acres of subtle neutrals.

Last fall's blue-and-green combination is in evidence in plaids and prints. Gold and white stand on their own or join warm corals and browns. In the provincials, browns are still the favorite, and more of those charming monochrome pattern wallpapers are being seen.

Whether you take your patterns bold or modest, chances are excellent that you can find wallpaper to match. Some patterns are made in both bold and miniature versions, so that the little window may be treated delicately while the important one gets its proper due.

As for matching, it used to take supernatural strength to cover all the possible places to find a plain fabric to match the design in a patterned one. Nowadays, you're likely to find them hanging side by side.

And paints follow carpets and wallpapers in colors of the season.

Don't expect the matching to be as easy in September or next March as it is now. By then a new family of subtle shades may have nudged your favorite into the "rare" category. Play safe and buy the whole decor at once.

Planters Are 'Smart'

An attractive planter in the living, dining or recreation room serves as an interesting decorative feature. Framed with lumber and finished with plastic-finished paneling in a handsome woodgrain, it will add "eye appeal" to any room. This predecorated hardboard material can also be applied over an old planter to renew its appearance.

Who Says Mahogany Is Red? It Is Really Tawny Instead

Mahogany has always been synonomous with "beauty."

This year it takes on additional beauty as furniture manufacturers bring out collections in new tones ranging from cafe-au-lait to deep rich brown.

For generations mahogany was finished in red shades, first introduced by Chippendale.

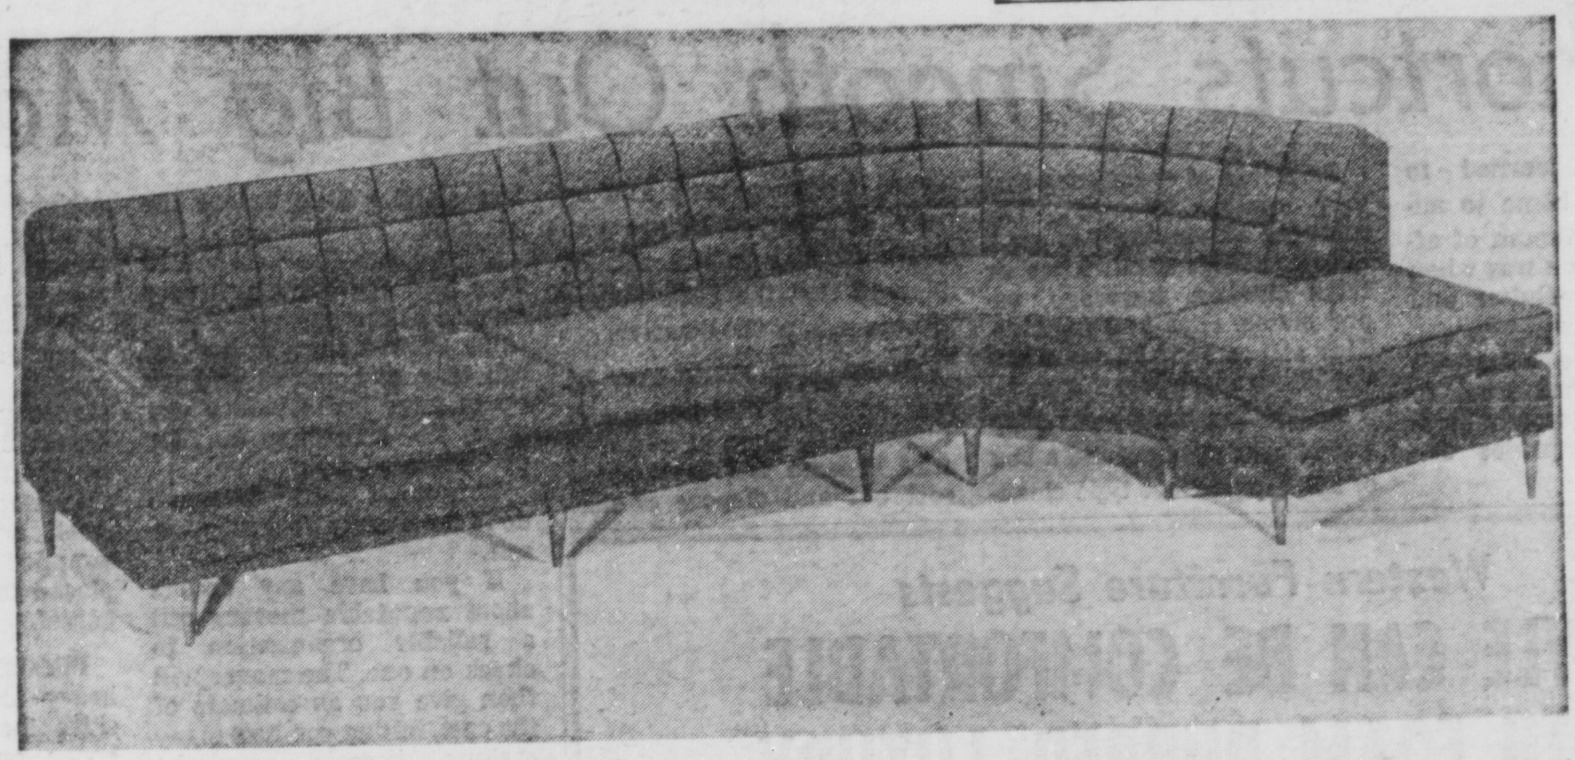
Many persons began to think of the wood itself as red when actually it has the gold and tawny tones of a good sherry wine.

THE RANGE of 44 new shades now on the market or scheduled for production are much closer to mahogany's true color. These newer lighter tones are much better suited to small modern rooms. They also seem to enhance the proportion of today's furniture designed to be used in such rooms.

Although mahogany has always connoted luxury, it is less expensive than many other woods. This is because it is plentiful in the forests of Africa and South America.

Although it is a hard wood, it is easily worked with cabinet tools. Carvings, flutings and shaped parts of furniture such as chair spindles and legs, are produced with ease by modern machinery.

Incidentally, such furniture ornament in mahogany always has a fine crisp line when the motif demands it.



THIN-LINE STYLING — For those 'hard to arrange' rooms, the versatility of this Thunderbird sectional is the answer.

The two-piece arrangement above is one of four available at Clark's Sample Furniture, 526 Third street, San Rafael. Choice of decorator-keyed colors.

Forty Kinds Of Executive Desks Made

Your desk is one of the most personal piece of furniture you can own. A desk becomes strongly identified with the one who uses it. Partly because of this identification a desk often becomes an heirloom.

Both imaginative design and functional convenience are seen in the new desks this year, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee reports.

For instance, the distinctive design feature of a kidney-shaped desk in oiled walnut is it tambour case. (Tambour is the name for sliding panelling of thin strips of wood, mounted on a flexible backing. It's what made roll-top desks famous.)

ON THIS NEW model tambour is used on the curved section of the front where it conceals a compartment for bottles or tall books. On the right side are three spacious drawers. The tambour continues around the back so the desk can face the room.

On this side, there is a book niche.

Extra space is often needed for "desk work" and many new compact units have drop leaves to provide the needed area. A hanging wall cabinet has a drop front lined with stain-proof white formica.

Drawer fronts, not visible when the unit is closed, may be plastic-covered in brilliant contrasting colors.

AN ENTIRE MAJOR new furniture group is designed for the "executive who has arrived."

Versatile enough for home or office, it has smooth contemporary lines. More than 40 different variations of executive desks, all with rich hand-rubbed surfaces, are included. The collection also offers tables, chests, chairs and upholstered pieces, for the home or a luxurious office.

One-Color Scheme

One-color schemes are useful in smaller rooms and those subject to casual use—such as bedrooms and hallways. The exception—monochrome schemes in neutrals.

This may seem arbitrary, but a glance at long-lived-in rooms shows that complementary hues have won their place in the picture.

Shortcuts Smooth Out Big Move

People have learned to move from one home to another with a minimum of effort, although time was when moving day was clutter and confusion.

These days the housewife makes an Advance Plan to make moving easier, and modern moving companies are more efficient.

Be aware of every snag that may occur, however. The morning of moving day pack a basket with sandwiches or fried chicken, beverage, paper plates, cups and napkins. This will come in handy when the children clamor for food.

In another basket put soap and towels, sponges and a box of an easy no-rinse type cleaner so bathroom and kitchen may be mopped before you move in. The family will be pleased that the bathroom is livable when they arrive.

ODDS AND ENDS may be carried to the new home, and this may be done in advance. And if Mom is clever, she'll sort out and dispose of useless articles long before the big day.

If you are the well-heeled type, you can get real luxury service from movers—everything packed down to the last ash tray and moved and set up in your home before you move in—according to your pre-arranged floor plan.

This costs extra. You can do it cheaper by doing it yourself.

If you have any doubts about reputable movers call a reliable organization to check on one. The mover will then give you an estimate of the cost, telling you how many cartons, barrels, wardrobe containers and crates you will need to rent or buy.

He can supply packing tips such as these from one of the large moving companies:

IF APPLIANCES must be moved, prepare for it. Defrost your refrigerator, wipe it dry, have it serviced for moving, have the motor bolted down. Television set, phonograph, dishwasher, clothes washer, and dryer should be checked and movable parts secured.

A food-loaded freezer may have to be emptied.

Remove casters from furniture. Put them in tagged sacks for identification. Keep jewelry, cash and important papers in your own possession.

Put large, heavy pieces of china at the bottom of the barrel. Plates of the same size may be wrapped in bundles of 2 or 3, using plenty of paper between, and set on the side, not flat. Stemware and small art objects should be wrapped individually and placed toward the top of the barrel.

PROTECT MIRRORS with heavy brown paper on both sides before crating. Pack books and phonograph records in extra heavy cartons. Pack records on end, side by side, and books back to back. Wrap valuable books in heavy paper.

Put paraffin or masking tape over drug and cosmetic bottles before packing them. Matches, cleaning fluids and other inflammable materials should not be packed.

Mattresses should never be rolled, but put in cartons supplied by the mover. He also has cardboard wardrobes for clothes. Label cartons and barrels so you know the contents and don't overpack containers.

Dining Nook Near Range Saves Steps, Adds Decor

A dining nook near the range saves Mom many steps in serving meals and snacks in addition to bringing coziness to family eating in the kitchen. A dining nook makes a kitchen more useful and may serve to enhance the decor.

Woodgrain panels of the predecorated hardboard, give the dining area in the kitchen a rich-looking appearance. They may be applied over any solid material. Their use eliminates any refinishing or redecorating in the future.

The baked plastic surface defies soil, grease, moisture, heat, wear and other abuses. It is easily wiped clean with a damp or sudsy cloth to eliminate time-consuming semi-annual cleaning chores.

A serving ledge between the range and the dining nook may help Mom serve food without moving from the stove or work table.

Period Quandry

Period furniture may be set in an interior intimating of its own time, or it may be set like jewels amid contemporary simplicity. Actually, the interiors contemporary with the pieces were more ornate than most American interiors.

New In Design

Keynote Of Spring 1959 Is Refinement And More Of It

This should be a stimulating spring for every woman who plans to refurnish or buy just one new piece. The nation's top designers have turned out new, eye-filling and beautiful furniture in all styles from Colonial to contemporary, from Renaissance to "Rocket Modern."

"What," you say, "how can that be? The colonies stopped being colonies in 1776 and the Renaissance was 400-odd years ago. What do you mean these boys are turning out new designs?"

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee explains it this way. Many designers are influenced by the great works of another time or place. They create new designs that, for large numbers of buyers, have the charm of the established older styles. Yet they are scaled and simplified for today's new homes and ways of living.

MOST OF US mentally associate Early American furniture with New England. Today's furniture frequently called Early American has a far richer heritage of design source than merely 17th century England.

Design motifs popular among rural cabinet makers in Sweden, Austria, and Holland have been combined or adapted by our modern designers for a richer, more interesting result.

One of the new colonial groups is "Cades Cove" which has all of the appeal and more comfort than most true antiques.

From Sweden came the idea for two of its most functional and handsome pieces, a pair of left and right consoles. They can be used separately to form a balanced room arrangement. Or placed on either side of a corner case, they become compact wall units.

STANDING END to end they make a long and very unusual buffet.

An inlaid motif on chest and hutch fronts is of Dutch origin. The pieces are cherry wood finished in a warm brown tone.

Harking right back to the stagecoach days is the three-sectioned "courting glass" to be hung over a chest or hall table. The two outside mirrors fold toward each other to cover the center mirror with handsome wood panels.

Designer W. T. Baker says this is only a slightly enlarged version of the mirrors colonial women carried on their travels for primping.

IN A NEW GROUP attracting nation wide attention from retail stores, Californian William Taylor, combined four design sources.

Chinese, Japanese, Danish and American Shaker furniture motifs are divorced geographically. But they are pleasantly combined, in this new group, in their emphasis on slim square lines, and respect for handsome natural wood grain.

Called Forum, the coordinated collection offers furniture for several rooms. Among them is a very contemporary dining group.

Despite its modern lines, one gets the impression of gentle ruggedness associated with hand-craftmanship as compared to machine modern."

FOR INSTANCE, square or flat legs are joined to table tops or cabinets with curved brackets; spindles of a rocker back taper gracefully from the center of their length; a cabinet for china has handsomely grained wood panels, outlined in a darker wood, which reminds you a little of Chinese furniture.

A little server with wide overhanging top could have been inspired by one of the old dough tables of ancestry.

All these world-wide designs influences, brought together in functional handsome furniture, mean your home can express your own personal preference in art forms.

Many People Try To Use Too Many Colors At Once

Many people use too many colors in their living rooms, points out a prominent interior decorator.

Inexperience is responsible for many mistakes, she says, which account for misuse of color in walls, and clashes in dominant and accent colors.

Biggest mistakes are made in selecting wall color and texture, she points out, when this should be by far the easiest starting area. Since walls account for 80 per cent of background, they need to be neutral or in subdued tints.

Safest course is to use wood paneling for the walls, says this expert, who points out that popular softwoods such as west coast hemlock, Douglas fir or western red cedar, have natural built-in colors and tints in low-tone, neutral shades.

VIRTUALLY NO color will clash with the soft, tawny shades of fir, the beige-to-champagne color of hemlock, or the warmer autumn colors of cedar.

About 15 per cent must be in dominant color, the decorator advises, and this will develop in upholstry fabrics, rugs and draperies. Another five per cent is allowed for the sharp accent colors, which should either compliment the dominant color or be on the extreme opposite side of the color wheel.

No two colors should be used in equal amounts.

If you follow this plan, you need have no worries about your colors because books, magazines, flowers and pillows will give plenty of sparkle.

BE SURE you are right with your great mass of background, she advises, which are your walls. You can finish either fir, hemlock or cedar with clear varnish or lacquer to retain their lovely colors, texture and grain, or you can tint them with a brush on and wipe off technique to get almost any soft, neutral background desired.

On To Elegance!

Air Of Pure Luxury Takes A Little Pure, Hard Gold

How do you get elegance on a budget? How do you create elegance in a small house?

Before you explore the possibilities, make sure it's elegance that you want. Traditional furniture is as out of keeping with some families' ways of living as to feel "borrowed." If you love the feel of rough tweedy fabrics, why "ham it up" with rich brocades.

Supposing, however, that you really do want the feeling of luxury. One way to do it is to confine the luxury to one room of the house (bedroom, perhaps) and let out the purse strings a little on fabric and carpet.

The other way is to play down with neutrals and simple lines the majority of pieces in a room and play up the few bits of luxury you do have.

FACE ONE FACT. You can't create an illusion of elegance without a little of the genuine article, the more the better.

When in doubt, pick subdued lines and patterns. When you're sure that this one bold print, that flagrant velvet chair, the deep white pile carpet is what your room needs, be sure that you keep it in mind with every future purchase. Right down to the ash trays.

NEVER underestimate the power of ash trays, by the way. You may economize by finishing the furniture yourself, but one cheap china ash tray can cast bad reflections on your beautifully polished surface.

Lamps, while they take the most looking, are most

While finding the right lamps takes a lot of looking, it is time well spent, particularly if the budget is slim. It may well pay to throw away the shade that comes with the base and buy one you really like.

SPEAKING OF throwing things away, the search for elegance quite often begins in the just-emptied corner.

There is something quite lofty about a space left wondering about itself.

'Neighbor' Wall (Special Solution)

One of the bigger "discoveries" of the year are perforated tiles, used as interior and exterior screens. They present a subtle solution to the situation of too much neighborliness on the side where more windows are in order. Translucent plastic or rice paper screens can substitute for the usual kind of windows. These also solve the direct sun problem.

Color On The March

You can carry one color throughout a house without becoming monotonous. In each room, assign it a different role. What is fine for four walls in the bedroom may be quite sufficient as a chair in the living room.

Attention Corner

When a corner becomes a center of interest, it draws some attention from other parts of the room. This may be done by facing of chairs, by the repeated oval of a rug form or by an echo in the form of similar focal points.

The Future In Decoration Already Here

By ANDREW C. LANG

The room of tomorrow is closing in on today.

Interior Designer Henry End, member of the American Institute of Decorators, illustrated the point in "The Room of Tomorrow" at the 1958 New York Hotel Show.

"I had a feeling when I was decorating the room that I'd better hurry or else some of my good features would be outmoded," says End, of Miami, Los Angeles, New York.

WHILE HIS IDEAS are aimed at hotel or motel owners, many could be applied in modern homes. There is for instance the bedroom that becomes a living room when you close your eyes for a second.

Studio lounges slip into walls at the turn of a switch, lighting becomes heightened or dimmed by turning a wall dial, television works from remote controls.

The lighting eliminates extra tables and lamps. The old-fashioned dumbwaiter has been electronified, and brings baggage or breakfast from the main floor to your bedroom swiftly and silently.

"OTHER WONDERFUL features are chairs that never need reupholstering. The proccess involves material welded to foam rubber, End explains.

The bathroom is Roman American and walled in marble-like vinyl. The double wash basins are turquoise. Light emanates from small ½-inch circles integrated into a luminous plastic ceiling, offering an even light. The mirror that separates the two wash basins has an inner light that provides even more illumination.

"Even some ideas that seem frighteningly expensive must be evaluated by the end result: Will it save on repairs, cover up scarred or scratched walls as in the case of plasticized board for walls, give handsomer effects, save time and maintenance? These are questions the homemaker should ask herself," says End.

"ONE VERY practical point for women is the double shower head," says End. "This bathroom has two, one lower than the other so the lady of the house can take a shower without soaking her hair."

End advises women planning new homes to investigate all the ideas they can muster up.

A Slick Trick For Your Closet

A slick-trick storage closet in a California family room has some easy-to-follow features that can be duplicated anywhere. This closet makes almost complete use of available space by means of a clever system of dividers. As shown, a basic framework was installed with slots cut for horizontal and vertical dividers of quarter-inch perforated panels. The panels slide out to give easy access to supplies like napkins and table mats.

Vertical dividers slide out for easy cleaning. Swinging doors were made from scrap lumber properly braced.

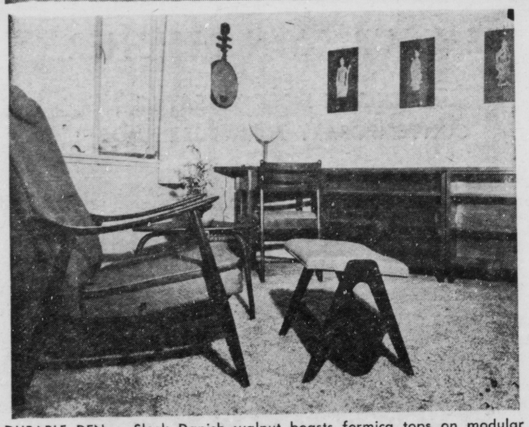
HEARTH SETS THE TONE—Light blue walls complement warm tones of hearth stone, which are echoed in cinnamon carpet, gold textured "man's chair" and gray sectional. Chairs in quilted print of golds, blues and browns bind the scheme into luxurious whole.



DURABLE DEN — Sleek Danish walnut boasts formica tops on modular cabinets, designed to hold hobbies or books free from dust. Chair and ottoman are adjustable to 5 positions.

A Glowing Example

An elegant home calls for elegant furnishings. Elegance, as interpreted by Casa Marin Furniture of San Rafael for the new model home at Greenbrae, is the kind of restrained elegance which does not shout. It is there in subdued colors, keyed to natural stone. It is there in fine woods, polished to the ultimate, especially the 100-inch-long cabinet housing stereo. It is there in fine accessories which belong to any time, but most especially to the setting in which they are places.

ONE TRUTH illustrated by the decor of this house is that true elegance is discreet. Expensive treatments, such as the gold squared wallpaper in the entrance hall, are countered by the straightforward driftwood treatment of beams. The fine corner sectional wears a fabric suited to corner window wear. Yet your fingertips tell you it is of the finest quality.

In the bedrooms, opulence is given freer reign. Again, with restraint of furniture designed not to blatantly imitate another time or place, but to hint a knowledge of it.

A TRIUMPH of understated elegance (can you think of a better term?) is the second bedroom, papered in grass cloth squares. A simple texture, but it speaks quality to those who know. The thick carpet affirms the opinion. Quilted white satin is regal.

If there is a moral to this story, it is "When in doubt, play it down."

COLOR SWITCH—Exterior of model home at 150 Via La Paz in Greenbrae was done in gold, driftwood and turquoise to echo interior themes, instead of vice-versa.

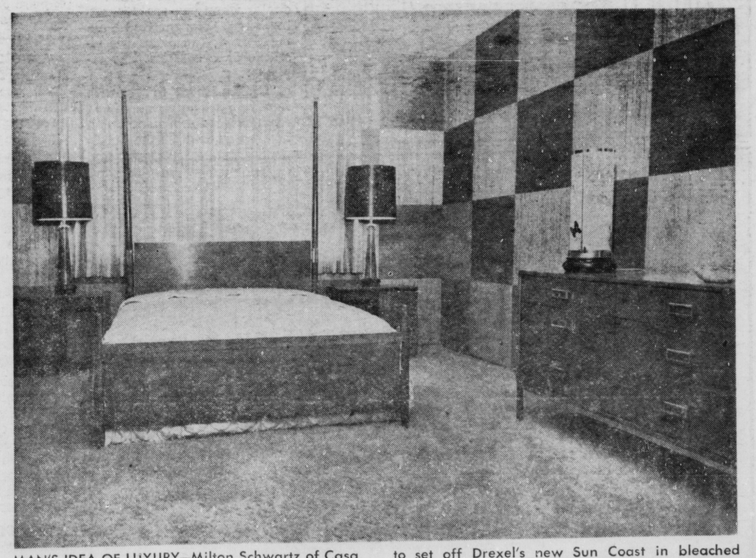
MASTER BEDROOM—The color is gold, the mood slightly oriental. Furniture is Tamerlane, a proven favorite, in pecan with accents of cherry. Spread is on-line-quilted hand-blocked print in gold. Wunda Weve carpet is ancient ivory. Draperies (not shown) are in gold traditional design, echoed in miniature at small window in alcove leading to bath.



MAN'S IDEA OF LUXURY—Milton Schwartz of Casa Marin chose WundaFluff carpet of nylon and checkerboard wall treatment in grass cloth squares to set off Drexel's new Sun Coast in bleached cherry. Custom quilted spread is white satin. This room vies with master bedroom for look of luxury. Fittings are bronze-finish anodyzed aluminum.

Elegance Comes To Mop Closets

Remember the old mop closet, sorry sight that it was? Mops of every description—wet and soggy, dry but oil-smelly — were wedded in a mass of confusion.

It was a production to mop the floor, a perish-the-thought chore. Scald your hands in the hot water, wrench your wrist trying to squeeze that ol' mop dry, that was the scene.

Newer mops are easier to handle what with finger tip controls that offer dry-hands scrubbing. Dacron and wool dust floor mops stay fresh and, like the nylon hand dusters that have removable pads, may be dunked in soapy water and hung up to dry in a jiffy.

AND THE COLORS are garden fresh, making it more fun to scrub with a citron-hued mop or dust with a frilly pink duster. The chi-chi mops are in delicate pinks, vibrant marigold or geranium shades, even to the mop handles.

New interest in a mop closet has introduced gay backgrounds for these colorful new accessories. Wall papers in plaids or festive kitchen scenes lend flattery to mop storage.

A recent fashion show of cleaning accessories offered many ideas for building closets. If the closet is to be an addition to a room, it may be built of any board or wood, finished with louvred doors or those of perforated steel lacquered white and lined in pink and orange.

Even in a tiny room a closet may be added as a portable unit that looks built in.

ONE CLOSET, built on a staircase, emphasized the advantage of that second set of cleaning tools kept upstairs and perked up a dreary hall as well.

Closets were built around a bedroom door, one on each side, with a storage place above each closet for winter woolens.

The area between the doors had a shelf utilized for plant arrangements, trailing ivy or what have you.

Wallpaper was used on this stair landing — red clover on bright white with a lipstick red carpet. Closets were painted white for accent.

ANOTHER GOOD SPOT for that added closet is a patio wall. One section of the closet may be used for garden accessories — rakes, shovels, hose, and even rainy day gear.

The other side is where you put your mops and basket of cleaning aids.

If a patio closet is deep enough, a space above the floor and closet floor shelf may be rserved for fire wood. This keeps the wood dry, neatly stacked and available.

Families Focus On Kitchen Fun

Nowadays the family heads for the kitchen when they get home. One reason for its return of popularity, in addition to the fact that it is the eats department headquarters, is the livability of the modern kitchen.

Natural wood walls and cabinets, finished like the finest furniture, makes this room as beautiful as any in the home.

New plastic lacquers bring out the warm, pleasing colors and textures of such popular woods as west coast hemlock and Douglas fir.

EVERYTHING NEW — How to make a rented house feel like home? Ask Mrs. E. M. Zinser. When she and her husband moved into a rented house at 9 Oakdale avenue in Mill Valley, they decided to go to the expense of making it seem their own. Counsel came from Mrs. Robert Golyn of Marin County Furniture, 2158 Fourth street, San Rafael, specialists in Early American. The provincial dining set is in Golden Birch. Corners Versus Curves

The Room May Be Rectangular, But People Function In Circles

By VIVIAN BROWN

If you'd bring coziness into your home, particularly your dining room, think in terms of circles when you are decorating, advises Marguerite Flynn, member of the American Institute of Decorators. She explains:

"Circles seem to go with family life. The round dining room table, for instance, is a lovely way to draw the family into a circle — all the little eyes big and bright or tired and sleepy, as my mother used to point out. The circular light shade above it, contributed to that coziness, also."

A ROUND TABLE doesn't fit every family situation, however, she reminds us. The console table that opens into an oblong is important to some decorating schemes.

But not every home will want a dining room, she says, explaining:

"If there is no family, a dining room can be overpowering. Two people may find it lonely sharing a big table, using it fully perhaps only when they have guests."

A family of two is usually better off combining living and dining room or den and dining room, she says.

In a recent large apartment living-dining room she decorated, Miss Flynn used that idea of circle coziness. The lovely Queen Anne table was used on a round hooked rug, and separating two rugs, divided the floor space into distinct areas.

"WE PLACED the table where there was a view, a good idea whenever you have one. But the problem was that there were eight windows in that area, wonderful to see the river, but the strong sun was a nuisance. Draperies were soft and lovely, but they didn't cut the sun. We solved the problem with shades."

Miss Flynn is a booster of window shades, now brought up to date in lovely colors and textures. On three windows which opened for ventilation, she hung the shades in the usual way at the top of the window.

But on the other windows, which are stationary, she installed the shades at the window sill, so that nylon cords pull the shades up to any desired height. Each is held in place by a cleat at the side of the window. This bottom-up installation provides privacy while admitting light. She used window shades in Jonquil Yellow and muted tones of green.

This living-dining room was furnished in Early American style with handsome 18th Century wing chairs with quilted Indian print upholstery, a blend of blue greens and pomegranate to pale orange on a mistletoe green background. Hooked rugs pick up the fabric colors and are used with a cork patterned vinyl tile on the floor.

The dining area should not be sandwiched in "at blank walls," she stresses.

Built-In Stereo For Ross Home

When Dr. and Mrs. Jack Gazzola were planning a stereo music system for their home in Ross, they engaged the engineering services of Charles Catania of Catania Sound in San Rafael, for consultation, guidance, and complete installation of their system. Along one wall was a built-in cabinet that was being used for extra storage space. Fortunately, this wall and cabinet were facing directly into the main seating area, and into the long dimension of the room. After considering all possibilities, it was decided that this cabinet would make an excellent placement for the stereo home music center.

The AM-FM tuner and stereo control was placed in the center top of the cabinet, and a high quality transcription type record turntable was placed directly below. The two end cabinets were completely re-designed and closed in to form speaker cabinets, each cabinet housing a three speaker system (six speakers in all).

The doors were modified slightly for operating convenience. The completed system blends in completely with the harmony of the room without taking up any additional space. The stereo results are excellent.

MAGIC — Dark woodwork or furniture turns to blonde 'wood' with the swish of a brush. It's done by Lite-Chrome, a three-phase product available at O'Neill and Logan, 428 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael. Special finish coat protects grain which is applied over light base coat.

Simply Simple

If you want your furniture simple, look to Scandinavian and Japanese-inspired pieces.

NO TREES IN BIRDLAND

If I paint trees, they look like trees;
I think songs should have melodies,
And poems should rhyme—by that I swear!
Because of this, I am a square.

I am not one to write blank verse,
Nor dab in abstracts, which is worse;
The senseless sound the downbeat has
Is not for me; I have no jazz.

And if I enter a discussion,
I might as well be speaking Russian!
With beatster jargon, I renege.
Because of this, I just don't dig.

Although I'm beaten now by those
So "way out there" with song and prose
Poems still are made by fools like me!
—And God still makes a tree, a tree!

HIDE MISTAKES

Versatile Plastic To Your Rescue

You can cover up your decorating mistakes these days instead of tearing your hair out or going to a psychiatrist to calm your shattered nerves.

A marred wall or a scarred table top or a door that has been scuffed and kicked by tiny feet may be treated to a fancy overcoat to hide the nicks, offering easier cleanability as a dividend. In some instances, you can do your cover up just before the company comes.

Walls have been treated to new glamor, not only with the wonderful paper murals, now available, but with plastic textured and plain coverings, in colors, simulating brick or bamboo, and other familiar materials.

SHEETS OF rigid washable vinyl in 2 x 4 sheets for instance, may be installed quickly and easily over any surface — paper, plastic, plaster, with out tools by the home handy woman. Just apply adhesive to the backing and press on the wall.

The bamboo makes a lovely dado treatment for sunroom, dining room or living room also.

Vinyl fabric is available, too, by the yard through local distributors — wallpaper and paint stores and mail order houses.

The fabric runs to 54 inches, and may be used lengthwise or horizontally, as in the instance of covering a door. If it is applied outside the door, seams should be inside the door. Textured patterns may be butted successfully so seams are unnoticeable.

ADHESIVES ARE water-soluable usually. If there is a moisture condition, such as in bathrooms and kitchens, special waterproof adhesive is recommended.

If you plan to cover a flush door with vinyl, check the door frame to make sure there is clearance on the edge to take the thickness of the vinyl material.

If covering a new door, fit it into the frame first and make hinge recesses. If the door is new or in use, if the fit is too tight, plane the door edges down slightly after removing the door from the frame. By removing the bottom hinge pin first, then the top hinge pin, the door may be lifted out of the frame. (When replacing the door, insert the top hinge pin first, then the bottom.)

REMOVE HINGES and hardware from the door. Place the door on two wooden horses and sand smooth. If the door has been painted remove loose or peeling paint. Sharp door edges should be sanded to a smooth roundness.

Measure the fabric, carrying it around both sides of the door and leaving plenty of room for overlap on all edges. If the door is less than 25 inches wide, the fabric may be used vertically and the door covered without piecing.

Wider doors require butting of seams whether fabric is run lengthwise or horizontally.

Your scarred table tops may get a new lift with ceramic tile, formica, adhesive backed paper that comes in a variety of patterns, marble, glass or Japanese grass cloth, depending on how the tables are used.

The New Sound In Decoration

Instead Of Buying Console To Match, Match Console To Existing Decor

The era of buying a radio console to fit the furniture in the home, like the era of the steam locomotive, is vanishing from our way of life. Stereophonic sound for the home necessitates that the furniture arrangement be guided by the placement of the stereo Music System. Does this mean that we have to be content with large pieces of stereo furniture that do not blend in? On the contrary. it means that the selection of a truly high quality stereo system should begin by an evaluation of the room in which it will be placed.

At this point, the guidance of a qualified engineer or of a highly specialized Hi-Fi expert should be solicited. Listening to the advise of that friends who knows all the answers may result in poor stereo and a wasted investment.

The specialized expert can advise you on the correct placement of the stereo system. For the average living room, this placement is usually along the narrower wall, with the two speaker systems approximately eight feet part and with the speakers facing into the general seating and furniture arrangement.

A discussion with Charles Catania, an audio engineer here in Marin County, revealed many interesting aspects of stereo for the home. Catania said that since he introduced stereo sound for the first time to the people of Marin in 1951, the progress has been unbelievable.

During the 1951 demonstrations, Catania used approximately $4,000 worth of equipment to play back stereophonic music. Today, he can play commonly available stereo records on equipment costing as little as $150.

In many cases, the size of the average console made it difficult to plan a pleasant arrangement of the furniture without the radio console "sticking out like a sore thumb." With a proper stereo system, such as the three section long low sillouette custom cabinet units, one wall of the home becomes beautifully and completely decorated. There can be complete harmony with no awkward out-size piece to spoil the decorative scheme of the room. For those homes that have shelving or built-in cabinetry, there is the possibility of planning your stereo music system so that it can be completely enclosed in your present cabinets.

It can be seen, that for the family to get the utmost pleasure from the spectacular achievement of stereophonic sound, a careful analysis of the room, the furniture and its placement, and the placement of the stereo system must be made.

Brighten Hearth With Pegged Wall

One of the best ways to increase the visual interest in a fireplace is to install a pegboard panel in either a handsome woodgrain or distinctive marble pattern on the wool behind the fireplace.

More than 60 hooks and fixtures are available for hanging pictures, decorative plaques, small plants, knick-knacks and other items on this accent panel. The predecorated hardboard, can be kept clean with an occasional damp wiping.

White Is Back

White walls, shunned by decorators for several years, have made a comeback, sans fanfare. In most cases, white is treated as a neutral between two strong hues. It can, however, be an accent of its own.

CHOOSE YOUR STYLE — Self-contained hi-fi stereophonic sets come in a range of furniture styles. Witness above the French provincial cabinet (left) for an RCA Mark VII. The contemporary stereo speakers are for Zenith's Scherzo hi-fi record player with FM-AM radio. Both have dual speakers with optional matching speakers available. Just two from the wide selection at McPhail's sound studio at Third and C streets in San Rafael. Stereo presents special problem in home decor.

And Now Comes Stereo

A new element has entered home decor — stereophonic sound. Fortunately, it brings with it cabinetry of the highest quality in a range of styles to fit any decor.

The special problem in stereo deals with relating speakers to the listeners, a phase of home decor which requires expert help. At McPhail's sound studio, Third and C streets in San Rafael, customers are given counsel along with their purchases.

Care should be taken in their positioning in the home so that the listeners are sitting at the apex of a triangle drawn from the twin speakers. When matching speakers are provided they should be set aside from 8 to 14 feet apart. A planter or occasional table may be placed between the units.

In all instances they should be canted at angle toward the center of the room and the listener area.

Some experimentation with the desired position is necessary to achieve maximum effect. McPhail's sound engineers work with the customer to provide with the placement for greatest fidelity of sound. Compensatory controls are built into the set to control and balance the sound. Maximum effect is achieved when the sound from the left speaker system reaches your left ear and the sound from the right speaker reaches your right ear, just as if you were sitting in the front row at a live performance.

Is White Right?

FOR DO-IT-YOURSELFERS

New Foam Wall-Covering Softens Sound, Insulates

If you're planning on buying a new home—or intend to redecorate the one you now own—you'll be interested in a new material that gives a wonderful textured finish to wall and ceiling surfaces, and contains built-in acoustical and insulating capacities.

One of modern science's newest developments in products for the home is a new decorating material of durable, ¼-inch thick plastic foam that creates a wall of rich texture and color. In addition, it adds to the over-all comfort of daily living by quieting annoying sounds and insulating against heat and cold.

This versatile material is soft to the touch, featherlight, and easy to install. Available in 24 pastel and accent colors, it can be applied directly to plaster, metal, aluminum, glass, wallboard and even cinderblock walls. The manufacturers say it is ideal for covering rough or cracked plaster, and turns old walls into new with a single application.

Particularly well adapted to the do-it-yourself enthusiast, Curon comes in easy-to-handle tiles measuring 10″ x 10″, 10″ x 20″, or 20″ x 20″. A special do-it-yourself kit complete with adhesive is available for the week-end decorator.

Its effectiveness as a sound control material has already been dramatically demonstrated in hospital nurseries, radio stations and restaurants throughout the country. It reduces noise reverberation within a room, and sharply cuts sound transmission between adjoining rooms. This new wallcovering offers the additional advantages of being mildew proof indefinitely, inert to bacteria and fungus growth, and fire-proof.

WHAT'S MISSING? — The only ingredient not shown in this loose composite of vinyl tile is the elbow grease --yours, if you wish. Vinyl, by the way, has swept the floor, so to speak, accounting for 80 per cent of linoleum type flooring sold, according to Clyde Jones of Rafael Floor Covering, 430 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael. By the way, while do-it-yourselfers are encouraged to lay their own tiles, the big solid linoleum-type vinyl is best left to the experts.

What Is A Colonial Hearth Without Proper Woodbox

A simulated antique woodbox follows early American design.

First make the base, as shown, fastening it with 16-penny nails and glue.

The floor and back are of 1 by 10-inch lumber, edge-glued or cleated. Use 2 by 2-inch corner supports.

To make the ends, draw a pattern to size, as shown in the section drawing, using measured widths and thickness of the boards. Mark the angle of the front and of the bevels.

Use two 1 by 12-inch boards for the front, ripping them to coincide with the chamfer lines of the sides.

Hinge the top with a large decorative hinge.

Tread Carefully

If you have a patterned carpet, tread carefully where other fabrics in the room are concerned. Chances are, most of the other choices should be plain or in subdued stripe.

A Pattern Theme With Variation

Variations on a pattern theme are often more intriguing than a perfect match. You may, for instance, want fewer lush red roses in the draperies than on the counterpane. Be careful, however, in going too far afield. Color is a telling ingredient in such pattern nuances.

A Teen-Ager Can Doll Up Own Room

Your own room—especially if you're a young lady, 12-18—is a very special place.

Pretty playthings needn't be shoved into a catchall room just because you've grown into your teens.

Here for example is an attractive way to keep your doll collection in a special niche: A small bookcase lined with wallpaper, either in the same pattern as the walls of your room—or in a paper with a harmonizing color leftover from one of the other rooms in the house.

IF YOU ARE especially energetic, you can cover the sides and top of the bookcase too—especially if you've selected paper that has vinyl impregnated colors — all of which means it can be scrubbed—and rather energetically too.

And, the rubbing and scrubbing can be done over and over without any harm to the paper. The only "do" in this little venture — do be sure that the manufacturer's directions that came with the wallpaper say that the paper can be scrubbed.

Wallpaper can make a small, unimportant window into a beautiful show-off. Use one or two, or even three, strips of an interestingly designed paper such as key border paper. Outline the entire window with this border.

Colors such as larkspur blue with white insets and sharp black outlines make a dramatic contrast to sidewalls covered with blue and white stripes. This could be in a small sitting room, in a foyer, or your own bedroom. With blue and white dominating the paper—try pink cafe curtains to give a sharp color contrast.

If you like music, get a paper showing collections of instruments such as a concert piano, French horn, violin, trombone, flute, harp and mandolin. Or if you are a golfer, one with various clubs and golf balls.

ONE GOOD WAY to transform a dull wall in a windowless room into a pretty picture-wall is to use a colorful scenic type wall-paper. This paper comes in regular rolls of wallpaper and the scenic design is repeated strip after strip, showing, for example, a beautiful landscape, a lovely harbor or an Oriental garden.

To make the picture wall, place three or four strips of wallpaper in the center of the wall, allowing about three feet at the bottom and at the top for the wallpaper frame.

To make the wallpaper frame, use, for instance, one of the papers with a grille-work design. One or two strips will do, depending upon the size of the wall.

IF THERE IS paper left over after the walls of your room have been wallpapered, here's a way to add color to your glass-topped vanity table. Cut the wallpaper to fit the top of the table, then remove the glass top and fit the paper to the top of the dresser.

The Story Behind Gold-Plated License Tag Numbered '457'

IN THE CHEVY CHASE district of Larkspur lives a very fine lady who wears a gold plated dog license on her wrist. It is a Mill Valley license bearing the number 467 and it expired in June, 1957. She wears it in remembrance of five months of her life which affected her so poignantly that she has set them down in a story.

The story has not yet been published and this is no attempt to steal her thunder, but a tribute to her kindness and devotion to an animal's welfare. One day you may see the full account in some magazine and it will probably be entitled "The Gold Dog Tag" by Jane Fowler. You should find it heart warming and there will be a lump in your throat when you finish reading.

A little less than two years ago residents of upper Marina Vista began to notice furtive appearances of an unidentified collie. Its fur was matted and dirty. Seemingly half starved and lost, it would slink away in the trees when approached, like a wild animal. How it managed to keep alive no one knew—no doubt by nightly raids on garbage cans, perhaps by catching rodents in the woods.

A MONTH or more went by before it was closely observed by Mrs. Fowler.

"Why, Fred," she told her husband, "that looks like Lady. I'm sure it is."

Lady had belonged to former residents on the hill who had moved out of state. Fred agreed that it must be the same dog, an opinion that became generally accepted as fact.

Now Jane Fowler loves animals, but her friendly overtures were unsuccessful. However, she left food in the yard which the dog found and ate. During the weeks that followed it took to staying closer to the Fowler house but retreated warily when Jane made advances.

She was determined by this time to win its confidence and also try to locate the former owners. Her efforts and disappointments are vividly described in her story.

INQUIRIES developed that Lady's owners had moved to Kentucky. Jane secured their address and wrote them, only to learn that Lady was in good hands in Kent Woodlands. The collie on Marina Vista had to be another dog.

Jane had noticed the glint of a metal tag on the animal, but it still remained too far away for her to read it. However, a habit peculiar to its sex definitely established that it was a male.

It was indeed a thrilling day for her when he approached close enough for her to make out the number 467. But a series of new difficulties followed in locating the owner.

Eventual reunion of "Tamalpais Lad," a valuable pedigreed collie, and his masters was a scene that brought tears of joy to everyone concerned. Only then did Tam voluntarily come up to Jane and gratefully lay his head on her lap.

He had, it appeared, been stolen from his home, traced to Santa Rosa, but there the trail had ended. Evidently he had made his way back on foot and become confused by the similarity of neighborhoods.

Thirteen years old Tam is now, but his coat is glossy and smooth again, and he will live out his remaining days contentedly with his rightful owners in Mill Valley. Jane Fowler visits him frequently and between them there is a bond of affection that rewards her for the months of kindness she spent beyond the call of duty.

She asked for only one thing — the little metal tag, number 467. The owners had it plated and presented it to her on a gold bracelet.

It is, she says, her lucky number.

If Seed Name Isn't Familiar, There May Be Legal Reason

America has a federal seed law. It applies to vegetable and field seeds.

Germination and purity percentages must appear on each package or bag of seeds sold, along with variety name.

Interpretations of that law by its administrators make it very difficult for seedsmen to develop improvements, better lines or strains of vegetables, to offer under the old or better known names.

A result is in change of variety names for distinct strains, confusing to most everybody. For example Great Lakes lettuce was an All-America Selection some years ago. So were Pennlake and Premier Great Lakes, distinct later improvements on the original. Becoming the largest planted variety or type in America, each good seed grower made his own plant selections towards what he believed was the most desirable or salable type, whether for fresh home garden use or for his long distance lettuce shippers. All were perhaps "improvements," for one purpose or another, but were not the original strain.

To identify the strains with Great Lakes, and running out of similar names, we are now confronted with dozens of numbers, like Great Lakes 59, 65, 66, 118, 659, and so on. Confusing, of course, but supposedly necessary to comply with administration of the seed law.

WITH SUCH in mind, gardeners need not hesitate to try such new varieties as are recommended by All-America Selections. They have been thoroughly tested under soil and climatic conditions from Canada to Florida and coast to coast. Only the most worthy have a chance for All-America awards. They must be superior, the best of their kinds or for their useful purposes for award consideration.

It is wise to purchase seeds of well known, reliable seed firms, whether new or older varieties. Take their judgment as to the newest and best strains for home garden or for other planting purpose.

Seed catalogs usually give this information. You can be sure with varieties which have merited All-America Selections. Look for them in the seed catalogs. And, look for the AAS certification mark on the packets of seed, vegetables and flowers, when you go to buy.

GARDENER'S CHECKLIST

- The curtain ringing down on the bareroot planting season. Get roses, fruit trees and other deciduous stock in the ground right away.
- Brighten a border with big clumps of Primroses in full bloom this spring. These beauties can be divided this year to give you several plants for next season.
- Start new lawns this month. Ask your nurseryman to recommend a seed mix for your area.
- Start a planned spray program for roses. Prevention is better than the cure when it comes to rose pests so don't let them get a toe hold.
- Plant hydrangeas in a semi-shaded location. Give them loose soil and moisture. If you want blue ones to stay blue, mix an iron compound in the soil at planting time.

Marin Gardens

Holds Color

To hold the lovely, beige colors of west coast hemlock or Douglas fir lumber, merely apply a coat of sealer after first rubbing the wood smooth. Then you can later apply any sort of clear lacquer or varnish and the wood will not darken.

Warming Hint

Use aluminum foil to divide an oblong baking dish into sections. Then place small amounts of left-overs in each section to warm them over. This saves on dish washing.

All Aboard For Mt. Tamalpais!

Tamalpais Land And Water Co. Was One Of Scenic Railway's Chief Backers

By A. BRAY DICKINSON

Conception of the Mount Tamalpais scenic railway is credited to Louis L. Janes of the Tamalpais Land and Water Company, who probably gained his idea during the summer of 1895 after a trip up Mount Lowe in Southern California.

Sidney B. Cushing, owner of swankey Blithedale Resort, which had been established as a sanitarium by his father and named after Hawthorne's "Blithedale Romance") started to get the right people interested in such a road.

Next, the Land and Water Company made a survey and when it was found that rails could be run to the mountain top with a maximum grade of seven percent, all ideas of a cog road were abandoned. Lovell White, of the Land and Water Company, undertook the promotion of an electric line, along with Cushing and Janes.

By the end of the year they had sufficient backing pledged to insure completion of their railroad.

INCORPORATION papers for the Mill Valley and Mount Tamalpais Scenic Railroad were filed in the office of the county clerk of the City and County of San Francisco, on Jan. 15, 1896. The purpose of the corporation, as stated in these articles, was to construct and operate a railway to the top of Mount Tamalpais, with telephone and telegraph lines and hotel, and with such other houses of refreshments as were deemed necessary.

Capitol stock amounting to $200,000 was divided into 2,000 shares.

Subscribers to the stock were The Tamalpais Land and Water Company, $20,000; A. E. Kent, $10,000; S. B. Cushing, $10,000; Arthur A. Martin, $1,000; William McCann, $500; M. M. O'Shaughnessy, $500; William C. Savage, $15,000; Cornelius Toohey, $500; William C. B. deFremery, $100; David McKay, $500; and Charles E. Green, $1,000—a total of $45,600.00.

STOCKHOLDERS held their first meeting Saturday, Feb. 1, 1896, in the office of Edward G. Stetson, 508 California street, San Francisco.

They chose for their board of directors Lovell White, S. B. Cushing, Henry C. Campbell, Thomas Magee and A. A. Martin.

The following officers were elected: Sidney B. Cushing, president; David McKay, vice-president; Louis L. Janes, secretary; and the First National Bank of San Francisco, treasurer.

Also, a contract of grading and track laying was let to the California Construction Company, an outfit which apparently was organized for this particular job.

The contract called for completion of the road within six months.

A LOCATION PARTY had been hard at work for some days under Surveyor Dodge, of the Land and Water Company. The construction company established a labor camp in Blithedale Canyon, and 75 men were put to work on Wednesday, Feb. 5, grubbing out brush and cutting down trees to clear a way for the graders to follow.

Redwood trees were cut close to the ground and their stumps blasted out with giant powder. Unemployed men, looking for work, descended upon Mill Valley by the score, for California still felt the effects of hard times following the depression and financial panic of 1893-94.

Almost over night a shanty town sprang up on the O'Shaughnessy property opposite the depot. So many nationalities were represented that this place was nicknamed the "Midway Plaisance," a name given to the international zone at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.

A grading crew turned the first shovelful of earth on Monday, February 17th. Corte Madera Creek was crossed four times in the first mile.

AS WORK PROGRESSED, more and more laborers were hired, until about 200 men were busy along the line of construction. Another camp was set up on the mountainside. Progress here slowed down considerably as most of the grading was in solid rock which had to be done with pick and shovel and blasting powder.

Although work progressed rapidly, there was a great deal of grumbling by the men about their working conditions and the food served them.

A laborer received $10.50 a week for six 10-hour working days. Half of the pay was taken out for board and an additional 25 cents for each Sunday meal.

Further, they were not allowed to purchase any article except from the company-owned store, and if a man quit before Saturday night 10 per cent of his wages was deducted.

On eman who had worked 19 days as foreman at $4 a day complained to a "San Francisco Call" reporter that 10 per cent of his wages had been deducted on account of his leaving before the month was up; also 10 percent was added to his purchases from the company's store. When the paymaster finished his figuring, the man had but $4 coming to him.

A GREAT DEAL of misery was experienced in the mountain camp. Men claimed they got up at five o'clock in the morning for breakfast, then had to walk as much as two miles before starting work at seven. They were marched back to the camp at noon for lunch but had to be back on the job by one.

Work continued until six o'clock, when the men were returned to camp for supper, a meal which "wasn't fit for a dog."

On the other hand, the general manager for the construction company told the same reporter that, while their cuisine could hardly be expected to compare with the Palace Hotel, the food served was wholesome and well-prepared.

Nevertheless, during one noon meal at the headquarters camp in Mill Valley, a gang of teamsters had occasion to pelt a Chinese cook with boiled potatoes, which were served half-cooked.

When the commissary protested, he was treated to a dose of the same medicine. When the company ordered cold lunches served to the men and an additional 35 cents taken out of their pay for a lunch pail, all the teamsters walked off the job.

SNOW DURING the first week in March added to unrest at the upper camp.

The cold was intense and ice-covered trails became dangerously slippery.

Leaks in the bunk-house roof soaked all the bedding, which could not be dried out properly with green stove wood. Groups of disgusted workers continuously drifted off the mountain into Mill Valley, where they blew in what little money was due them at the headquarters store for liquor. After a brief spree the penniless men went from house to house begging for food and enough money to get back to San Francisco.

Officials of the Tamalpais Land and Water Company who managed supposedly "dry" Mill Valley, apparently winked at this transgression.

However, the company began serving good food, which brought about better relations with the men.

MARIN POETS' CORNER

THE PINK PLUSH PONY

Father came home from work
All golden with sparkle-dust,
And his laughter bobbled his voice;
His laughter twisted his eye-corners,
And his laughter feathered me into shouting.
Then, trotting me at arm's reach and hand hold,
Father took me high and quick to-UP —
And held me there to kick and twist
With fun like a father-toy,
And I was a pink plush pony
Instead of a baby boy;
And oh how I laughed to the sing-sing-song
Of my father's teakettle joy.

ROSES KEEGAN

BUSH MONKEYFLOWER — (Diplaucs aurantiacus) One can find the yellow flowers of the Bush Monkeyflower almost any time of year on our dry hills, although most abundantly from April to August. The shrub grows from 2 to 4 ft. high, has dark green, shining, opposite, 1 or 2 in. long leaves which are sticky and hairy underneath. The numerous tubular flowers, 1½ in. long, have broad throats and spreading lobes. (From Out-of-Doors in Marin, copyrighted by M. F. Austin)

Work By Marin's Dr. Silva To Be Performed Tomorrow

Modern composers often complain that it is more difficult to get a first performance than a second one because everybody prefers to do a "premiere."

Well, the Dominican College in San Rafael will present tomorrow a contemporary work that has been performed before (last, 1951). It is the cantata "The Hound of Heaven" by Dr. Giulio Silva, a Marin County resident. Musical director is Winifred Baker, who has a special interest in modern music.

Dr. Silva is well known in the musical world as a universal personality with a wide range of interests and knowledge. In spite of the fact that he is past eighty he is still full of productive vitality. He is always busy, teaching, composing, conducting, or writing about music.

HE LIVES in Novato at Sinaloa Ranch with his wife valyna, a former pupil of his, and his daughter Maria who teaches music at Novato High School.

Born in Parma, Italy, Dr. Silva received his education at the University of Rome and at the famous Royal Academy of St. Cecilia. He came to this country in 1921 as vocal director of the Mannes School of Music in New York.

In 1926, invited by his friend Ernest Bloch, he came to the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, where he still teaches. He has also been, for about 10 years, head of the music department at Dominican College at San Rafael and for some time conductor of the San Francisco Opera.

Besides being well-known in voice training, his special field is the Gregorian Chant which had great influence on his own compositions.

THE MOST KNOWN of his works are—according to Alleen Campbell — the Mass of the Sacred Heart, published by Birchard in Boston, a "Mass of the Blessed Virgin," the "Mysteries of the Rosary" (performed annually at Dominican) and "California," a fantasy based on a poem by Ina Culbrith.

He also has written three books on Gregorian Chant. Another book of his, about singing, is a basic textbook at Italian conservatories. The author hopes that his English translation will be published soon. He is also preparing a lecture about Gregorian Chant on KPFA.

Besides conservatory teaching in San Francisco, he has pupils all over Marin County. Two of them, Gwen Curatilo, a winner of the San Francisco opera debut auditions last year, and William Bihn will be the soloists in the forthcoming production of "The Hound of Heaven."

STEREO and HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

Tenth of a weekly series of articles which will cover all phases of STEREOPHONIC SOUND for the home.

Assuming that you have your Stereo Starter set (see last week's article) and that you wish to expand your music system, your merely ADD a second loudspeaker (which also can be in the $10 class) and a Speaker Cabinet (prices from $38.75) and you have a Stereo Phono Set.

To expand you set further, you select an AM-FM Tuner to match your stereo amplifier (prices from $100.00 up) and merely plug it into your custom set. Does this mean that now we have reached the point that in the months or years to come, if we wish to own a stereo music system with sound even more full bodied than we already have, that we have to trade-in our set and begin again? Certainly not. You can garnish those speaker systems by adding first the High Frequency horn (tweeters) to each one, and as a later step by adding the Mid-range Horn. Now you have two complete Three-way (woofer, mid - range, and tweeter) loudspeaker systems for the ultimate in stereophonic music reproduction.

How far can we go with our custom system? Since your custom system is made up of building blocks, you can add as many items as you like without ever losing any of your original investment. It is like adding-on more rooms to your home.

One of the units that you can add later is a Tape Recorder. Again, all of the provisions for recording your favorite radio or record material are already part of your original equipment, as also are the provisions for playing back the stereo tape through your Custom Stereo System. In a later article, the tape recorder will be discussed more completely.

How can anyone have all of these so called custom items scattered all over the place? You don't. The custom cabinetry, or furniture if you prefer, can be just as beautiful and tasteful as the pure rich tones of your home music center. At Catania Sound, you will find custom cabinets that will house the units of your choice. To meet the modern requirements of stereophonic sound for the home, Charles Catania has designed groups of cabinets that blend together gracefully as add-ons.

Reminiscences Of Old Times

Longtime Chief Of Larkspur Volunteer Firemen Horse-Drawn Fire Trucks And Narrow Gauge

By
RICHARD D. STEINHEIMER

Randolph C. Doherty was born the son of a Bakersfield bee rancher just a bit more than 78 years ago.

The life of Randolph, or "Dolph" as he is better known perhaps reflects the character of some of the men who founded Larkspur and gave it a volunteer fire department unequaled in North America.

The former fire chief and present day partner in the Larkspur Lumber Co. was born Dec. 5, 1880 on the outskirts of the sleepy town that only six years before had been linked with the Bay Area by the rails of the Southern Pacific.

He, his parents and sisters lived the next 16 years in the Bakersfield-Fresno area. Doherty got through the seventh grade in school before going on his own at the age of 16.

HE SPENT two years on a Kernville dairy ranch. Then after oil had been discovered in Kern County he came down and drove teams in the Bakersfield oil fields. He got a taste of the lumber business soon after when he started work for his uncle's Union Lumber company in Bakersfield.

As a young man he took over management of the company's sawmill at Breckenridge, about 40 miles east in the Sierra Nevada, and later managed the woods operation.

Doherty was 26 years of age before he heeded the call of his cousin, Earl L. Doherty, to come to Marin county and take over management of the Larkspur yard of the Doherty Lumber Co. His cousin was to retain management of the yard in Mill Valley.

Doherty said he first stepped from the train in Mill Valley in January, 1906.

DOLPH SAID he had been told about the new third rail electric line that ran from Sausalito up to Mill Valley and out toward Manor.

He said that the principle of trains using a charged third rail for power so interested him that he looked at the rails the first chance he got after getting off in Mill Valley.

"What I saw was the third rail used by the narrow gauge trains into Mill Valley, which of course was not charged nor protected," Doherty recalls.

"I sure stepped high over it when I crossed the tracks," he added.

"I was so amazed that I had to ask my cousin 'Why didn't the damn fools put some kind of protection over the rail?'"

Dolph got his first look at the little town of Larkspur soon after that from the deck of a wagon.

HE FIRST stayed at the old Larkspur Hotel (now the Blue Rock Hotel) which he recalled "had no heat and no nothing." Later he lived above what is now a Magnolia avenue cleaning establishment.

The Doherty Lumber Co. in Larkspur at that time occupied much of the block upon which now stands the Bank of America and other east side of Magnolia businesses. The land was owned by N.P. Yoast of Mill Valley who eventually sold off pieces of the block until the lumber yard was forced to move to the site upon which it is now located.

Dolph said the great earthquake came shortly after his arrival, cutting off all lumber shipments except those brought by narrow gauge from Duncan's Mills near Cazadero.

AROUND 1909 he bought the yard from his cousin and changed the name to Larkspur Lumber Co. It was after the First World War he moved the yard to the present site. In filling the site he took about six feet off the top of a small knoll adjacent to the lumber yard. He and his wife, Nellie, then decided to build their home on the now-level top.

Doherty said that many persons told them they were foo' for building in such a barre area. He said he was determined to go ahead and use plantings to cover the barrenness.

STABILITY of government may be a Larkspur characteristic now but according to Doherty it sure wasn't in November of 1909 or 1910.

He recalls having the chief of police, "a fellow named Murphy," come running up to his apartment asking him to come to the fire house, quick

Dolph was a deputy marshal at the time and came running. The chief opened the door to the fire house to a meeting of the new city council.

What had happened was that a member had resigned and a new man was immediately needed to fill out the six months term remaining.

"But I later decided the city council was no place for me," Doherty recalls. He said the town was one of his big customers. As a councilman he could not sell to the town.

HIS FIRE experience started as a toddler.

"Once when I was six years old my parents placed my name and address in my cap because they knew the first time a fire truck would go past I would follow it and get lost."

He recalls that he did, only to be brought home by a friendly policeman.

The Larkspur volunteer fire department had its first fire house on the property of the Doherty Lumber Co.

Dolph became one of the first members of the volunteer force, and an early chief. He recalls that there were two delivery men in town with horses and wagons. The fire department used to pay the first one of them to arrive at the fire house $2.50, "which was a lot of money in those days."

He said the lucky delivery man would hook on to the hose cart and haul it and the firemen to the fire.

"LATER WE got a new chemical truck which put out its own pressure. It had two 30 gallon tanks, one acid and one soda," he said.

When the contents of the two tanks were mixed it acted like a modern soda-acid extinguisher and spat out water and gas.

He said the forerunner of the volunteer's Rose Bowl dance pavilion was a dance platform put up one time at the present location of the Chevron gas station in Larkspur. He said dancing on the small platform during "Booster Days" paid for the new soda-acid truck.

"We got to thinking that was a pretty good idea so we later got permission to hold dances on the property of the Coleman-Forbes estate at the present location of the Rose Bowl pavilion," he said.

They later were able to buy the land, which is still held by the volunteers.

The Rose Bowl became one of the great "payers" of the Bay Area, he said.

The zenith was hit one night with 3,700 paid admissions. The people would come over from the East Bay, Peninsula and San Francisco on the ferries and electric trains.

One of the attractions of the Rose Bowl was the "fire fall" staged from a tree with fireworks.

DESPITE the eventual decline of the Rose Bowl as a great moneymaker, the dance pavilion gained the Larkspur volunteer firemen a prominence apparently unattained by any other such force in North America.

Doherty said that the records of such fire truck builders as LaFrance and Seagraves showed no other volunteer fire department ever was able to give its town such a first class fire department completely free of charge.

The present firehouse site originally was bought by the city for a library. The volunteers paid for the firehouse, trucks and even some of the hydrants and water charges from proceeds from the Rose Bowl. All this was later to be given to the city.

The volunteer decision to buy the 1,000 gallon pumper came during a big Mill Valley fire.

Doherty and his men were manning their 250 gallon capacity pumper on Lovell or Summit drive when a 1,000 gallon pumper from San Francisco cut into the line.

"The pressure from that pumper nearly knocked our truck off the mountain and from that moment on the boys and I decided to get a 1,000 gallon pumper," Doherty said.

Later Doherty retired as chief "when we realized the place was getting too big" and a full time paid chief hired.

The days of World War II saw the Larkspur Lumber Company taken over for a staging area for the construction of Marin City and Hilarita housing projects.

He said he personally planned to leave the business but that "one of his boys," Burt Wheeler, asked him to go back with him as partner after the war.

It was a two year battle with the government to get the yard back.

Now as partner, Dolph works 9 a.m. to noon and 2 to 5 p.m. most days at the busy yard. His wife, Nellie, whom he married in the days he worked in the Sierra woods, keeps house in the home on the knoll.

Dolph says the reason his wife "has the brains in the family" is that unlike him, she went through high school. She was a childhood friend in Bakersfield.

He is a charter member of the San Anselmo Lions Club and a member of the Larkspur Lions Club. He is a 50 year member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge.

Still active, Dolph has now even entered a new legal battle.

HE PLANS to protest before the Interstate Commerce Commission the intended abandonment of the spur to his lumber yard by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

A customer of the road for 52 years, Dolph plans to show the short spur from Baltimore Park still serves a useful purpose in bringing lumber into Larkspur.

His hobbies?

Dolph says his one hobby is duck hunting.

"One year I missed duck hunting and it was nearly the death of me," he said. He, along with several other persons owns 750 acres of rice land in the Sacramento Valley which is used for hunting.

How about the present Larkspur?

The 53-year resident said "I'm very well pleased with the way the town is being operated."

THEY ALL LEAD A DOG'S LIFE — Actress June Lockhart, shown here with co-star Hugh Reilly and Lassie, says her contract prohibits her from any acting roles that would embarrass Lassie. "I used to specialize in neurotic women roles and also portray drunks and nymphomaniacs—but that's out, now," she says. (UPI Photo)

If Lassie Barks, Whole Cast Jumps

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — That Lassie is a real dog.

What I mean is, Lassie has been posing all these years as a female, which everybody knows. But while he traipses around making a fortune with his impersonation act, all the rest of the cast leads a dog's life.

Take his supporting players — Jon Provost, June Lockhart and Hugh Reilly. Their contracts say they can't do anything that would embarrass Lassie.

MISS LOCKHART, a winsome charmer with sex appeal to spare, can't accept outside acting jobs unless she plays wholesome, sexless types. Plunging necklines and wanton behavior are out of the question.

"I used to play a variety of roles," June said during lunch at the Brown Derby. "Neurotic women were my specialty. I also portrayed drunks and nymphomaniacs.

"But now my contract stipulates that I cannot appear in any production that might cast any reflection on my 'Lassie' series character, Ruth Martin. Hugh and little Jon signed up under the same restrictions.

"BECAUSE LASSIE is the best-known, most decorous dog in the world, we human members of the cast are forbidden to embarrass her, er, him."

Sponsors of the doggy series keep a close eye on the program's scripts. No kissing scenes involving June and Reilly have ever been written into the story.

"ONCE IN A WHILE Hugh and I sneak one in though," June laughed. "They aren't very passionate, but we hold them as long as we can. So far none of the kisses have been cut out. But we've only managed eight in 39 sequences."

"But I'm perfectly happy with my role," says June. "It's steady work with excellent pay. The role is dignified and the program is always highly rated.'

HOW DOES JUNE get along with her canine co-star?

"Lassie's a funny dog," she said. "He's very aloof and just seems to tolerate us. The dog knows he's the star of the show, and when he's working he's all business. Lassie becomes terribly upset when another dog, a double, is brought in for some of the difficult stunts."

Dead Sea Scrolls On Science Show

Recently discovered Bible stories a thousand years older than known accounts will be the topic of "Science in Action" at 7 p.m. Monday over KRON (Channel 4).

Dr. Jack Finegan, head of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, will be guest scientist on the program. He will bring rare leather and copper scrolls that lay buried for nearly 2000 years in caves at the edge of the Dead Sea. Discovered in 1952, the Dead Sea Scrolls have been hailed as the greatest archeological find of our times.

Story Of Radar On '20th Century'

"The Silent Sentinel," the fascinating behind-the-scenes story of the electronic miracle which helped to win a war and today may help to safeguard a peace, will be presented on "The Twentieth Century" series at 4 p.m. tomorrow over KPIX, Channel 5.

The story of the eye that hears and the ear that sees, "The Silent Sentinel" will trace the development of radar from early in the century up to the present, showing its achievements, its uses, and its promises. Appearing on the program as special guest will be Sir Robert Watson-Watt, Scottish-born descendant of famed inventor James Watt.

Tam High Student On KRON Show

A Tamalpais Union High School student will be featured in a Channel 4 television program at noon tomorrow. The show asks the question: "Is Youth Color Conscious?"

Beverley Barnes of Marin City is one of several young people whose views on racial problems will be expressed on the half hour KRON show.

The Council for Civic Unity of San Francisco filmed the report at a recent teen-agers conference on civil liberties. The conference was sponsored by The American Friends Service Committee and was held at Asilomar, California.

Clock Turns Back On 'Beat Clock'

The producers of "Beat the Clock" will turn back the clock some five million seconds of stunt time on Monday, when they recreate the TV premiere show—presented nine years ago—of the popular game program (KGO-TV, Monday through Friday, at 3 p.m.).

Bud Collyer, who has been host on "Beat the Clock" since its debut, and his staff have searched the nation and found all six of the contestants who appeared on the program March 23, 1950. The original contestants will appear on the program to see if they can still "Beat the Clock" performing the stunts they did on the first show.

Frog In George's Throat Pays Off

"I've been singing all my life but I never made a buck out of it before. Now I'm finally being appreciated."

So said George Burns the other day in connection with his first, and successful, cutting of records — "Red Rose Rag," "Don't Take Me Home," "Some of These Days' and "La Vie En Rose."
French, of course."
French of course.'

GEORGE BURNS
Appreciation At Last

"DO YOU SPEAK French?" we asked.

"No, but then I can't speak English," the NBC-TV comedian quipped.

Burns, who sounds like a spirited Big Crosby when he vocalizes, is intrigued with his new gambit.

"It's like 'Garbo Talks,'" he commented. "Maybe I'll make history."

WE EXPRESSED surprise that the veteran comedian could sing.

"Oh," he said, snapping ashes from his cigar, "I love to sing. Everybody likes to sing when you get down to it.

"Me, I'm basically a harmony singer and that's like taking dope."

"I sing at parties," he added it's been a life-long-passion Sinatra, Dean Martin and Maurice Chevalier can be there but they won't be able to join in because they won't know the songs. I'll see to that."

ON THE MATTER of harmony singing, Burns observed it's been a life-long apssion with him, "When I wás a kid," he said, "I wouldn't kiss a girl unless she sang baritone."

Since October, Burns has been working without wife Gracie Allen for the first time in many a year on NBC's "The George Burns Show."

"When you make a transition like that, there are problems but they were overcome," he remarked.

"Gracie won't be coming back," he said. "She worked hard for years and she's wanted to retire for the last four or five years."

GRACIE'S RETIREMENT, it seems, has brought out her critical qualities. She views George's show with a thoughtful eye and then expresses her thoughts.

"Yes," George laughed, "she criticizes a little. But that's really good because I always criticized her and now she can get even."

But George still has family ties in his show.

His 23-year-old son, Ronnie, makes regular appearances.

"He's got ability," says Burns, "I think he can be a good dramatic actor."

Lease Signed For Giant Ward Outlet

$4 Million Corte Madera Store Opens In 11 Months

It's official. The lease has been signed for construction of a four-million-dollar Montgomery Ward store at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Grading was expected to start today for the two-story structure, to be built on a 175 by 350 foot lot east of the J. C. Penney store. The new Ward store is expected to be ready for business by February, 1960.

Walter Shorenstein, of Milton Meyer and Co., of San Francisco, real estate brokers for the shopping center, said simultaneous with construction of the Ward store will be construction of a building to house a branch of the First National Bank of San Rafael.

A third development, consisting of 51,250 square feet of shops, is to be constructed in time to open the same month as Ward's.

BANK LOCATION

Shorenstein said the bank is to be located south of the Ward store, with the shops between.

Ward officials declined to say whether the new Corte Madera retail outlet will cause closing of the downtown San Rafael store. However, it is known that the San Rafael store's lease was not renewed recently. It is due to expire about May, 1960.

Leasing of the store was hailed as "terrific news" by Corte Madera residents and in other quarters. Robert C. Batty, manager of the San Rafael Ward store, said the new outlet will offer "terrific possibilities."

Lee Champion, head of Ward's real estate department in Oakland, said the Corte Madera outlet will be one of three big new stores for the company in California. The others will be in Richmond and Santa Ana.

CAN BE EXPANDED

The new store is to have 75,000 square feet of space, and is to be expandable by another 40,000 square feet.

The lease negotiated yesterday by Milton Meyer & Co. was for Madera Gardens Development Co., headed by president Frank Rusalem.

Shorenstein said the lease is for 30 years, with option to extend another 50 years. He said a conservative estimate of the rentals to be paid by Ward's in the next 30 years is more than five million dollars.

The store is to be completely air conditioned and will include provision for automotive services and sales as well as other outdoor sales.

The architect is John S. Bolles of San Francisco, designer of the Giants' stadium.

Shorenstein said he expects to announce in the near future the leasing of the spaces between the proposed store and new bank "to major stores."

Three Injured In Two Marin Pistol Mishaps

Three persons were wounded in Marin yesterday in two separate accidental shootings involving a Standard Oil Co. executive and his wife and the son of a well-known San Francisco bandleader.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said the victims were Walter K. Pearce, 52, of 123 Marina boulevard, San Rafael, the executive; Pearce's wife, Eloise, 51, and Carl Steven Heckscher, 15, of San Francisco, a son of bandleader Ernie Heckscher. None was seriously hurt.

Inspector Carl Sears of the sheriff's office said Pearce told of shooting his wife in the left elbow last night in the mistaken belief she was a burglar prowling in the hallway of their home. Realizing his mistake, he placed his left index finger over the muzzle of his .32 caliber automatic pistol just as he squeezed the trigger a second time.

They were taken by neighbors to Marin General Hospital, where Pearce's ragged finger tip and his wife's small elbow wound were treated. Both were discharged in good condition.

Deputy Sheriff John Harris said the Heckscher boy accidentally shot himself in the right leg with a .22 caliber au-

Ike, Macmillan OK Talks At Summit

But Insist Ministers Meet First

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed today to meet Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at a summit conference in July or August.

They insisted, however, that a top-level conference must be preceded by a meeting of foreign ministers at Geneva.

Eisenhower and Macmillan announced their "complete agreement" on a formula for the top-level meeting with Khrushchev during the second day of their strategy talks at the President's Camp David., Md., retreat.

MINISTERS' MEETING

High officials passed the word that the two Western leaders had agreed to Khrushchev's suggestion for the summit meeting this summer. They said, however, that a conference must be preceded by a Geneva meeting of foreign ministers about May 11.

Officials declined to pinpoint the exact date for a summit meeting brought about by the Berlin crisis. But they indicated that, if held, it would take place in July or August.

Eisenhower and Macmillan immediately dispatched the terms of their agreement to Paris for consideration — and expected approval—by members of the 15-nation council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

NO DETAILS

Officials declined to disclose details of the British-American draft. But they said Eisenhower has not changed his mind that a prior foreign ministers' meeting must "justify" a top-level meeting.

This appeared to represent a capitulation by Macmillan to Eisenhower's insistence that the proposed foreign ministers' meeting be more than a mere formality.

32 MODESTO STUDENTS IN BOOTH FOR RECORD

MODESTO (AP) — Thirty-two slightly built students crammed themselves into a telephone booth on Modesto Junior College campus yesterday and laid claim to a new record.

The people-packing mark was set even as 22 itty bitty sophomores at St. Mary's College at Moraga were boasting about their sardine act in a regulation booth, 32 by 32 by 84 inches.

That was the size of the booth used on the Modesto campus, but there was one difference. Here the booth was horizontal and it didn't contain a telephone.

Rod Underwood, one of the students who was in the middle of the pack, emerged looking slightly like a well-pressed tablecloth and commented: "I feel like a sardine, one on the bottom of the can."

HOLY WEEK RITES START TOMORROW

Marin Churches Slate Special Services In Preparation for Easter Celebration

Palm Sunday — the celebration of Christ's triumphant arrival in Jerusalem five days before His crucifixion—will be observed in Marin County's Christian churches tomorrow.

The day marks the start of Holy Week, culminating in prayers and special services on Good Friday, and preparation for a high point of the Christian calendar—Easter.

Many Marin churches have scheduled special Holy Week services.

Two Good Friday union services will be sponsored by the Marin County Council of Churches. One will be held in the First Congregational Church of San Rafael, from 12:30 to 2 p.m., conducted by Rev. Paul Peterson of the First Congregational Church, Rev. Bliss Bellinger of Faith Lutheran and Rev. Louis Weston of the San Rafael Assembly of God.

The second union service will be held in two churches—First Presbyterian in San Anselmo and Fairfax Community. The service will start at noon in San Anselmo and 12:45 p.m. in Fairfax. Seven ministers will speak on the Seven Last Words, first in the San Anselmo church and then, in succession, in Fairfax. Speaking will be Rev. Jack Biersdorf of Fairfax Community Church, Rev. John Bonner of San Geronimo Presbyterian, Rev. John Weaver Hess of San Anselmo Presbyterian, Rev. Gerald Traeger of San Anselmo First Baptist, Rev. John Bruce of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian, Rev. Harold Bonner of San Anselmo Church of the Nazarene and Rev. Robert C. Clapham of San Anselmo Presbyterian.

Another Good Friday union service will be held in Novato, sponsored by the Novato Ministerial Fellowship, from 1 to 3 p.m. in Bethel Baptist Church. Taking part will be Rev. Lawrence H. Boyle of the Community Methodist Church, Rev. Hubert Lindwall of Novato First Baptist, Rev. Roy W. Herndon of Bethel Baptist, Rev. Howard B. Swartz of Novato Presbyterian, Rev. William Vickery of Northland Assembly of God, Chaplain Donald Kehrli of Hamilton Air Force Base and Rev. Frank Smith of Loma Verde Baptist.

Among special Holy Week services scheduled at other Marin churches are these:

Murder Trial Goes To Jury Monday

The fate of Prince Sam Davis, 34-year-old Marin City garbage man accused of shooting his common-law wife to death, will be in the hands of the jury Monday morning.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court is scheduled to turn the case over to the jury of 10 women and two men then.

Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich presented evidence showing Davis shot Viola Baker, 32, last Christmas Eve at their Marin City apartment after an argument.

Davis, defended by Public Defender Leonard Thomas, testified he held his 9-month-old boy in one arm and shot his wife because she turned toward a drawer where a knife was kept. Davis said he feared she would attack him and the baby.

The district attorney, in his final argument yesterday, declared that Davis "had shot too soon." Even if Davis feared attack, he had no right to shoot until his attacker held a weapon and his life was in immediate danger, said Weissich.

Another court case has developed as a sidelight to the murder trial.

A key witness in the trial, Matthew Walker, said he had been attacked and threatened Wednesday night by Wade Henderson, 24, of House A-30, apartment 236, Marin City. Walker said he was again threatened over the telephone Thursday night.

Walker, 37-year-old body and fender man, was a witness to the shooting. On Wednesday night, he said, Henderson accused him of lying on the witness stand and struck him, keeping his left hand in his pocket as if holding a gun.

Jailed on an assault charge, Henderson yesterday pleaded innocent and asked for a jury trial. He comes up in Marin Municipal Court again next Friday at 11 a.m. to have a date set for his trial. He is free on $500 bail.

Dairy Association Elects Marinite

Armin Truttman of Olema was named an executive committee member of the American Dairy Assn. yesterday at the association's 20th annual meeting in Chicago, Associated Press reported.

Lyman D. McKee, Madison, Wis., was re-elected president at the concluding session attended by 450 dairy industry leaders from 48 states.

SPOTLIGHT ON FURNITURE IN I-J MAGAZINE

Today's Marin Magazine is bulging with bright ideas for redecorating your home or spicing up a tired interior. The 25 pages of 1959 Spring Furniture Fashions bring the magazine to almost double its usual size—36 pages in all.

The weekly TV log is there as usual, as well as general interest features and a profile on Larkspur's long-time volunteer fire chief, Randolph Doherty.

TAKING IT CALMLY

Marinite, Dad Share $28,000 Sweeps Win

John J. O'Neill of Willow Hill road, Ross, and his father, a San Francisco physician, were $28,000 richer today because a horse named Mr. What ran third in the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England.

O'Neill and his father, Dr. John R. O'Neill, held an Irish Hospital Sweepstakes ticket on Mr. What, the pre-race favorite. The two will split their winnings after Uncle Sam takes his tax bite.

Asked if he had any plans for spending his half of the money, the younger O'Neill, an auto parts salesman, said, "I'm not a gambler. I don't indulge in horse betting as a rule, and I don't think you should plan until you win."

His father, recuperating from a heart attack and under doctors' orders to keep cool, received the news calmly.

"His health comes first," the physician's wife said. "Not that this isn't a very wonderful thing."

Her son and his wife, Arline, have three children, John, 3, and 2-year-old twins, Jeffrey and Robin.

Two San Francisco couples each held tickets worth $140,000 on Oxo, longshot winner of the Grand National.

Spring Bows In With Light Rain

Marin, which has been treated to spring weather during the winter, today—the first day of spring—got a few very light rain sprinkles.

The cloudy skies which produced them are expected to continue tonight and tomorrow, said the Weather Man.

HANDWRITTEN WILL

Carter Leaves All Estate To Wife; Value Not Given

State Supreme Court Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow, who died Sunday at the age of 70, left his entire estate to his wife, Jean Woodward Carter.

A petition for probate of the late justice's handwritten will was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Carter.

The one-page will was dated July 18, 1952. It named Mrs. Carter executrix of the document without bond.

Justice Carter made no provision for his three children "for the reason that I have heretofore advanced to them money and property out of my estate." They are Federal Judge Oliver J. Carter of San Francisco and Harlan F. Carter and Marian Rose Bui, both of Redding, Shasta County.

A hearing on Mrs. Carter's petition will be held April 6 at 10 a.m. before Judge Jordan L. Martinelli. She is represented by the San Rafael law firm of Freitas, Allen, McCarthy and Bettini.

The petition contains no estimate of the value of Justice Carter's estate nor a listing of his real or personal property. His home was on Oak Knoll drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Gay Hats Blossom At Primrose Tea

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Tuneful was the name of the Inverness Garden Club's event, The Annual Primrose Tea and Treasures from the Sea, and colorful was the setting for the twenty-sixth annual in the lovely hillside home and garden of Mrs. Lucien Knight in Inverness on Thursday. The members wore gay hats, many of these decorated with fresh primroses; however, there was a great variety in the headdresses.

Mrs. Irene Kelly, chairman, had a filmy gray chapeau of dried seaweed. Her co-chairman, Petite Miss Marion Dunbar, chose a Swedish holiday headgear, fresh primroses in the small candleholders. The club's attractive young president, Mrs. Monte Barton, wore a hat of pale yellow orchids and Mrs. John Camm, who had made the lovely shell figurines which were on sale, had a cloche of "hen and chickens." Mrs. S. L. Haas wore a picture hat, trimmed with small sea shells, and a matching necklace. Mrs. Harvey Tadlock, a past president of the garden club and past director of District 7A, California Federation of Garden Clubs, had covered her picture hat with primroses. Mrs. L. J. Meszaros, who was in charge of the guest book in which more than 450 visitors signed their names, decked her hat with parsley, rhubarb, rosemary and other herbs from her kitchen garden and topped it with a tiny flower pot and rake. And Mrs. Jesse Adams wore a magnificent bunch of carrots on her hair.

The booths did a lively business. Mrs. Jessie Lovell was in charge of the miniature gardens; Mrs. Richard Grant and Mrs. Angelo Duperu sold the glass balls which float across the sea from the nets of Japanese fishermen. Mrs. W. C. Kasmire's booth featured driftwood; agate and other colorful pebbles picked up on the beaches were the wares of Mrs. Frank Meyer. Miss Dorothea Phillips sold the cookbooks with the favorite recipes of the club members.

After viewing the wares in the garden we went into the delightful old home to admire the gorgeous flower arrangements and have the tea for which the members had made delicious breads. Mrs. Harry Swift was in charge of decorations; Mesdames Mary Griffith, Elmer Martinelli and Richard Cowham, of refreshments, and Mesdames Lloyd Mery and Frank Coster, of serving.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. John Prescott of San Rafael was the setting for the dinner party last Sunday night at which they honored Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Box of Tiburon. The Boxes with their two sons, Richard and Wally, left for Honolulu Wednesday night for a 10-day vacation and are headquartering at the Edgewater. Other guests at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. James Rideout and Messrs. and Mesdames Michael Schwartzkopf and Lenard Maurisch Jr.

AT SQUAW VALLEY where they have taken a house for the Easter vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkin, her son, Joseph Esherick Jr., and several of his friends from Midland School, and her other son, Peter Esherick. Mrs. Watkin's sister, Mrs. Dean Kendall, came from her home in Portland, Ore. to join the group. Others in the party are Mr. and Mrs. Clement Hurd of Mill Valley and their son, Thacher, and a young neighbor of the Watkins in Kent Woodlands, Dan Smith.

Honoring Mrs. Kent Robinson on her birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Watkin entertained at a dinner on Tuesday. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Malone and Mr. and Mrs. George Paulus and over from San Francisco came Mr. and Mrs. Milton Esberg Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Hamilton.

AT PALM SPRINGS for Easter week are Mrs. Niels Schultz Jr. of Greenbrae and her four daughters, Christine, Erica, Carla and Andrea. They left this morning by plane and will return Easter Sunday night. Because of business, Mr. Schultz could not go south. Also at Palm Springs and staying at the Tennis Club—as are Mrs. Schultz and her daughters—are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cain of Greenbrae and daughter, Candy.

THE PRINCE and Princess Roselan from the island of Java were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Day in Sausalito. The prince is here for a training program with the Standard Oil Company at its San Francisco office. Other guests of the Days were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Donnell of Sonoma and the Harry Mohlers and Robert Bergins of Sausalito.

HONORING Mrs. Howard Hammond, a luncheon was given on Wednesday at the Century Club in San Francisco by Mrs. Albert C. Daniels. Other guests were Mesdames Samuel Archibald, B. Balfour James, Frank Baumgarten and John Reichmuth.

VACATIONING in Mexico for two weeks are the Noble Hamiltons and the Robert Elliotts.

BON VOYAGE parties are being given for the Lester Fergusons of Winship Park who leave on April 9 for an extended European tour. They toured the continent three years ago. They are flying first to New Orleans, Washington D.C. and New York, from whence they sail for Naples aboard the "Independence" on April 25. They will take the train to Rome and then visit Florence, Vienna, and go on to Switzerland, the French Riviera, Paris, the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles. They'll sail from Liverpool on the "Empress of Britain" for Quebec. After a brief tour of southeast Canada the Fergusons will board the train for the westward trip over the Canadian Rockies.

Honoring Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Larry Freeberg is entertaining at a luncheon at her home in Ross on March 31. Guests include Mrs. Ferguson and her daughter, Jean; Mrs. E. V. Knapp and her daughter, Betty; Mrs. James Sullivan and her sister, Miss Vincenzia Fenn; Mrs. Charles Bradley and her sister, Mrs. Martha Adam; and Mesdames Harold Schutte, Anthony Lilienthal, Ira H. Degenhardt, William Burgren and Harold Hutton.

SUDDEN was the decision of Mrs. Herbert K. (Helen) Walton of San Rafael to make a tour of Europe. She has been to Europe twice but that was a long time ago, so when Mrs. A. H. Persons came from her home in Covina to visit her son-in-law and daughter, the Herbert K. Waltons Jr. of San Rafael and their two little ones, she asked Helen to join her on a trip to the continent. Helen decided at once to go. She leaves here on April 11 on the jet flight to New York and Mrs. Persons will fly from Los Angeles to join her. They will travel to plane to Lisbon, Madrid and then go to Rome to begin a leisurely tour of Italy. Then it will be Vienna, Switzerland, France—with several days in Paris—and then to the Scandinavian countries. On return to New York on May 26, the travelers will stay a week or 10 days before returning home.

BIDS TO NIGHT AT THE TAJ, APRIL EVENT, NOW IN MAIL

Bids are in the mail for Night at the Taj, which will be held at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere on April 24.

Delicious Indian foods, exotic decorations and delightful dance music are being provided by members of the Recent Graduate Section, Marin Branch of the American Association of University Women, who are sponsoring this annual semi-formal dinner dance for members and friends.

Mrs. Michael Larkin, chairman of the event, is assisted by Mesdames James Kretchmer and W. Clayton Finch.

The myriad problems involved with the reservations are on the shoulders of Mrs. David Dorward.

Fantastic decorations are planned by Mrs. Joel Flood, the artist. Oriental rugs will carpet the entry which will be a massive silhouetted facsimile of the Taj. The many-armed Hindu gods and goddesses will adorn the walls. Mrs. Flood will use black, gold, and aqua in her decor. And there will be a "parade" of jeweled elephants around the free standing circular fireplace of the yacht club. The formal gardens of the Taj will be simulated by the many formal potted plantings.

The committee, assisting Mrs. Flood with decorations, includes Mesdames Robert Praetzel, R. C. Spaan, Robert L. Kahl, Remy Burkel, Robert D. Irwin, Philip J. Zimmerman, John N. Childs and R. P. Rodrigues.

Beauty Tips from ME to YOU
BY Walter

How does your hair measure up to the four C's: condition, cut, curl, and color? . . . Condition—oily hair will improve with proper shampoo—dandruff is a warning not to be ignored—dry hair can be given a boost with massage and pre-shampoo treatments. Cut—a good cut makes a difference in the way hair behaves — Curl — expert hair-dressers adopt waving skills to the hair in hand — Color — rinses, lightners or more lasting colorings give hair a more vibrant look if properly administered so a trip to your favorite hairdresser will certainly give you a new look.

In keeping with color, we have been fortunate in obtaining the services of Miss Martie, Tiara color representative to return to our salon on Wed., March 25th. She will be available for free consultation between the hours of ten and five on that day.

Lamplighters Well Received In AAUW Concert Program

A well paced and delightfully informative potpourri of Gilbert and Sullivan operas was presented to the Marin AAUW recently by The Lamplighters of San Francisco.

More than 200 members and guests were present to appreciate the talented artists directed by Ann Pool and assisted by Orva Hoskinson, well known tenor in Bay Area opera and concert circles.

The Gilbert and Sullivan program included selections from "Pinafore," "Princess Ida," "Yeomen of the Guard," "Patience," "The Sorcerer," and "The Mikado."

Among the outstanding performers of the evening was June Wilkins rich contralto's hilarious presentation from "Patience," sololiquizing while playing the cello; Peggy Overshiner's scintilating and coquettish aria of quandary over love or riches from "Pinafore."

Accompanist LeRoy Miller was brilliant at the piano and was artfully joined by versatile Gil Russak to present an exciting special four-hand arrangement of the Mikado overture.

The chorus numbers and madrigals showed fine artistic taste. The artists included Helen Studabaker, soprano; John McGowan, tenor; Charles Mack, baritone, and Ray Castel-Blanch, baritone.

The Lamplighters will next perform "Patience" on May 23 in Antioch at the Contra Costa concert series and at the Berkeley Little Theatre, July 17, 18.

The program was arranged for the AAUW by Mrs. Byron Jones, program chairman, assisted by the Education Section, Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger, chairman, and Music Section, Mrs. Harold De Pue, chairman.

Bay Mayors Reject Authority Plan

BERKELEY (AP)—Twenty-four Bay Area mayors voted last night against creation of a single authority to manage and develop the area's toll bridges, seaports and airports.

There was little debate as the mayors loudly criticized the proposed Golden Gate Authority and then cast a 24-2 vote against it. They voted, by the same count, to investigate the possible formation of a metropolitan council instead.

City Manager Wesley McClure of San Leandro blasted the proposed authority as "an undemocratic supergovernment."

Attempts at rebuttal were squelched by the chairman of the meeting, Mayor James D. Nordahl of Livermore.

Edgar Kaiser, Oakland industrialist and chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Golden Gate Authority, received a flat "no" when he asked, "May I tell the other side?"

City Manager Lee M. Roberts of Napa was ruled out of order when he complained, "I haven't heard any discussion." He then stomped out of the meeting, charging it had been "perverted to special use."

The crucial motion, by Mayor William McCall of Alameda, asked the Legislature to send the pending authority bill back to committee.

The alternate plan would allow metropolitan problems to remain in the hands of local government.

Catholic High Girl Wins For Speech

Melinda Krause of Marin Catholic High School last night won the Zone 2 finals of a student speakers contest held at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio, under sponsorship of the Kentfield, San Anselmo and Fairfax Lions Clubs.

Miss Krause, sponsored by the Kentfield club, became eligible to compete for a chance to participate in a four-region Lions Club contest May 8, at Hoberg's resort in Lake County.

She competed last night against two students of Sir Francis Drake High School, Linda Allison, sponsored by the San Anselmo club, and Norma Fong, sponsored by the Fairfax club. Topic of the contest was "Complacency: Danger to America."

The slug entered the leg just below the knee and emerged just above the ankle, Harris reported. He said a physician who treated the youth at Marin General Hospital reported no broken bones and no major injury to the leg.

"Heckscher has decided not to try any more fast draws in the future," the deputy's report concluded.

ITALIAN NEWSMAN DECLARES HE INVENTED LOCH NESS MONSTER

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A man who claims to have invented the Loch Ness monster admitted sadly today that the beast is bogus.

Francesco Gasparini says he made up the yarn whiling away some idle hours in London in 1933, when he was correspondent in Britain for an Italian newspaper.

Newspaper files of a quarter century ago seem to bear him out. It was about that time that the monster first reared its ugly head into the world press, although Scotland had had legends about the critter for centuries.

Gasparini says he merely stretched a two line item into a big fish story.

His explanation, as published in the Milan magazine Visto, says:

"I was running short of factual news when I recalled having heard something about fishermen catching a strange fish in Loch Ness.

"It was only a two-line item in the Glasgow Herald.

"But that strange fish became a monster as I wrote the story for my paper."

Judge Refuses Damage Claim

Paul Brindel of 133 Maestro road, Novato, who has been trying to collect $1,100 from his neighbor since September, 1955, has lost his case in Marin Municipal Court after more than three years of litigation.

Last week, Judge Harold J. Haley ruled in favor of Brindel's neighbor, David Bellucci.

Brindel charged that Bellucci had knocked down stakes on the property line and piled building materials on an easement.

Judge Haley ruled that Brindel had failed to establish enough evidence to back up his charges. The judge ordered Brindel to pay Bellucci his court costs.

Hub Police Could Take Chief Test

San Anselmo City Manager Arthur W. Brewer pointed out today that a memorandum from his office suggesting a nationwide examination for police chief provides that all qualified members of the San Anselmo Police Department would be eligible.

The memorandum suggests age limits of 35 to 50 years for candidates, which would rule out Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio, who has passed his 50th birthday. However, Brewer noted at another point it says "with the exception that all present members of the San Anselmo department in the grade of sergeant or higher would be permitted to take the examination."

Serio holds the civil service rank of lieutenant. There are three sergeants in the department.

The examination is proposed to find a successor to Chief Donald T. Wood, who will retire Aug. 1.

A total of 127 science displays were exhibited by students in fourth through eighth grades.

School Opinion Survey Broadened

Because of the interest shown in the public opinion survey now being conducted in the Mill Valley School District, the questionnaire will be available to anyone who wishes to fill it out, according to William E. Casterson, survey chairman.

To obtain a cross-section opinion, 664 residents had been selected for interviews.

Copies of the questionnaire may be obtained at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. office at 140 Throckmorton avenue and must be returned by Monday, Casterson reported.

The survey is being made under the auspices of the Mill Valley Advisory Education Council.

Marin Artist Wins 3rd In Phelan Awards

William P. Morehouse of Mill Valley has won the $300 third prize in the James D. Phelan Art Award competition. His winning painting, "Acropolis III," will be among the 49 top entries to be exhibited beginning April 5 at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

The competition drew 280 entries from 140 Northern California artists.

Three other Marinites will be represented in the show: Margaret Brunn of San Rafael, Jess Collins of Stinson Beach and Viking Leon of Mill Valley.

Morehouse is a teacher at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

He is also winner of the $100 Gerstle Award (second prize) in the San Francisco Art Association Annual which opens Wednesday.

Both his winning paintings were in a collage technique combining paper and polyester resins on canvas.

Other winners of Phelan awards were George C. Ball of Oakland, $500; Don Reich of San Francisco, $400; Ralph W. Broge of Oakland, $200, and Sutter Marin of San Francisco, $100.

Hub Planners, Chamber To Meet

San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce has made plans to discuss the city's future at a joint meeting April 2 with the city planning commission, the Citizens Committee on City Planning and James M. Campbell, planning consultant preparing a master plan.

Plans will be completed after it is learned whether Campbell can attend, said secretary George G. Washburn.

The chamber's merchants committee, headed by Homer Rickards of Drake Market and John Slaugh, manager of Sprouse-Reitz Co., outlined plans for San Anselmo Bargain Days. They will be held in the fall, but the date has not yet been set.

Instead of the regular meeting next Thursday, the San Anselmo chamber will meet with San Rafael Kiwanis Club to hear T. Fred Bagshaw of Mill Valley, deputy state director of public works discuss Marin County roads. The meeting will start at noon at Mission Inn, San Rafael.

Science Fairs Prove Our Schools Do Teach Students

The most vociferous and derogatory critics of our public schools would have us believe that nobody ever learns anything in a public school any more.

Actually, that just isn't so, as any sensible person knows. And if you are looking for proof, you should have gone to one of the many science fairs held recently at many of our Marin schools. (A few more still are to be held, too.)

What the youngsters are doing in science in grammar school today is in many respects comparable to what their fathers and mothers were doing in high school and college a generation ago, except that some things that seem to be common knowledge among grammar school scientists today had not yet been learned nor discovered a generation ago.

"Our schools no longer teach the fundamentals, reading, writing and arithmetic." That's what critics would have us believe.

But all the youngsters who have displays at science fairs obviously are able to read, write and "figure" quite well or they wouldn't be able to comprehend and create the exhibits which they have prepared.

While we cannot claim to have made a scientifically accurate survey of the matter, we conclude that two principal factors are usually present when a youngster distinguishes himself with an interest in some aspect of science. First, he has some kind of practical parental support and encouragement. Second, he has some kind of practical support and encouragement from one or more of his teachers at school.

What does this mean?

If it doesn't mean anything else, it at least means that NOT all parents are completely neglecting their children and NOT all teachers are complete dunderheads.

But let not overly-zealous public school supporters and apologists cite science fairs as the ultimate in proof that all our youngsters are receiving an adequate education and everything in our schools is just dandy.

We wish there were some kind of "academic fair" contrived to display student talents and acquired skills in the field of literature, composition, "pure" mathematics, geography and elementary political science so that we might better know the accomplishments of our youngsters in this and similar academic fields.

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR HEART

A heart attack is the high price often paid by those who overemphasize personal recognition and advancement, according to heart specialists.

Whether a person is young or old, he is looking for trouble if he constantly and selfishly strives to "best" the other fellow at work or play. An insatiable desire to be "top man" can easily throw anyone's life out of kilter. This lack of balance hurts him in every way—mentally, morally and physically.

Too much emphasis on self-advancement and too little effort in helping others, especially those less fortunate, is actually against man's make-up.

God has constituted every human being so that he leads a happy, balanced life only when he seeks the good of others while furthering his own interests. Those who disturb that divine equilibrium pay a heavy penalty, in one way or another, for time and eternity.

Temper a "go-getter" instinct with a "go-giver" habit and you will help your heart in more ways than one.

"This commandment we have from God, that he who loveth God, love also his brother. (1 John 4:21)

Deepen in me, O gentle Master, a consuming desire to promote the advantage of others, as well as my own.

Senator Tugbutton Sips Bourbon, Analyzes Campaign Blueprint

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Timothy Tugbutton carefully tilted a splash of branch water into his jigger of sour mash bourbon. As the liquids comingled he remarked that it was an interesting if minor factor in the current political situation that Leonard W. Hall is a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Tugbutton downed the diluted bourbon and harumphed in throaty authority.

"SON," SAID the senator to the old timer, "Jim Farley was an Elk. Still is, I reckon. Jim, he joined mighty near everything and soon as he was in he learned all their first names and called 'em by 'em. Even learned all the first names in the Democratic party."

"Yeah, but what about the Elks?" said the old timer.

"Son," the senator said, "I comin' to that. It was in the disguise of an Elk back there in 1931 that Jim Farley went travelling 'cross country — 18 states in 19 days — pledging local Democratic leaders to support Frank Roosevelt for the presidential nomination and to instruct their convention delegates to knock out the prohibition amendment.

"That was in the summer of 1931 a full year before the convention met. And when it did meet the drys and Al Smith, Newton Baker and the other candidates never did know what hit 'em. Jim Farley did his pre-convention work sly and secret. He took off from New York City about mid-day on Monday, June 29, 1931, and by the middle of July he had secured the basic delegate vote which is 1932 nominated his candidate and re-opened the old time saloon as a co-educational cocktail bar.

"Jim set out," Tugbutton continued, "with the announcement that he was going to attend the annual Elks' convention in Seattle. Now, I see in the papers that Len Hall will be manager of Vice President Nixon's presidential campaign. And, Len being an Elk, he'll be taking off for the Elk's convention this year with a pocketful of Nixon-for-President pledge cards.

"IF HISTORY repeats itself, and it usually does," said the senator, "Len's trip will require some money. And, if history repeats itself some more, some smart boys are laying out that money right now with the idea of cashing in if and when Dick Nixon moves into the White House."

"You mean . . ." the old timer began.

"I mean," Tugbutton answered, "that the longest shot in politics and the biggest, sweetest pay-off is to be had by putting up the dough for a politician's pre-convention campaign. Like those three fellers who put up the dough for Jim Farley's trip back there in 1931."

"What three fellers?"

"Why, you know about them," the senator said. "They're all in that book called 'Jim Farley's story.' Three rich men, Frank C. Walker, New York attorney, Henry Morgenthau Sr., Woodrow Wilson's ambassador to Turkey, William H. Woodin, industrialist. They each wrote Jim a check for $5000, and away he went.

The payoff: Walker didn't want anything and got to be postmaster general and national committee chairman. Woodin became treasury secretary as second choice when Carter Glass turned it down. The jackpot fell to Henry Morgenthau Jr. He got the treasury when Woodin died. As FDR once said: "We've got to do something for Henry."

Why Recruiting And Draft Both?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Coincident with your news and picture of the change of "Command" (March 12) came the announcement that the U.S. Government had extended the draft requirements another four years. When one becomes eighteen he goes.

Where then is there need for recruiting? Each small County seat such as San Rafael has its offices with furniture, typewriters, and separate automobiles for the Navy, the Air Force, the Coast Guard, the Marines, and the Army Recruiting staffs. Multiply this expense by the number of counties in the State times fifty states and — how many millions a year is that? Would you please explain?

Cartoon Didn't Convey Message?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Perhaps I don't fully get the message conveyed by your inspirational cartoon of last Saturday's issue, but it seems to say that Khrushchev's pawns must die at his command, whereas we, as Christians and therefore real persons, have such decisions in our own hands. There is also the implication that God likes us best — thank heaven we are not as other people.

But General Taylor seems to be telling me that I must be willing to die for the Germans in West Berlin, perhaps even to use that Christian emmisary, the atomic missile. If he goes into action do I have the choice as a real person of sitting it out at home with the kids, or will I find myself a pawn too, and just as dead as any non-Christian?

If we are going to invoke Him, let us remember with deep humility the millions we too have killed; I'm sure it would be more acceptable to Him than the sorry conceit, smugness, and hypocracy of such cartoons.

Tam Student Sets Critic Straight

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I understand that Mr. Thomas McDougall stated at the March 17 meeting of the Tamalpais High School P-TA that he is not willing to believe that a student wrote the "Facts on the Tax" article which was printed in the February 13 edition of the Tamalpais News.

He is mistaken, as I did write that article, my reference being the mimeographed publication of the Citizens' Committee. I also wrote a similar article published in the News on October 24, 1958, my source of information being the workers handbook printed by the Citizens' Committee previous to the November 4, 1958 election.

I was asked to write my first article by Joel Rubey, then editor of the News. I, as spring semester editor, decided upon having the second article. The advisor for the Tamalpais News, Miss Ann Rogers, did not ask that any stories regarding the tax election be printed in either paper nor did any other adult or faculty member.

Board Starts What May Be Fruitless Search For Beaches — Parks Chief

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill is pending before the State Legislature to make the office of chief of the Division of Beaches and Parks appointive by the governor instead of the State Park Commission. Despite this, the state Personnel Board is conducting a nation-wide campaign for a man to fill the job.

The chief's post will be open within a short time because of the pending retirement of Newton B. Drury, who is approaching the age of 70 years. He will therefore not be eligible to hold the post because of the age limitation.

SOME LEGISLATORS wanted to see Drury out of office before his mandatory retirement date. They introduced the bill which would give the governor the appointing power, instead of the Park Commission. The governor at the present time does not have control of the Park Commission, which has a majority of members held over from the Knight administration.

So the Personnel Board was called upon by the Park Commission to find a man to take Drury's place, in the face of the proposed legislative action which, if completed, could easily wipe out all the effort and expense to the taxpayers.

GENERALLY, IT WAS supposed that the Personnel Board takes care of civil service jobs. But there is a section of law which permits the board to accept contracts from other government agencies, both state and local, to find personnel.

It was this section of the law that the park commission invoked and a contract was made with the Personnel Board to find candidates for the job. The board estimates the bill will be well over $1,000.

Already, nine candidates for the $14,400 post have been referred to the "screening committee," composed of one member of the Park Commission, one outside citizen, one member of the Personnel Board, and DeWitt Nelson, director of the state Department of Natural Resources.

Nelson, while refusing to announce names of the candidates, did say that at least two of them are out-of-state residents, and two are present members of the Beaches and Parks staff.

David Niven loves to tell the story of the day he made his triumphant return to his exclusive Pall Mall club in London after years of starring in Hollywood. A member who could have played Colonel Blimp without a bit of makeup looked up from his military gazette and humphed, "I say, Niven. They tell me you're about to leave us." "On the contrary, sir," said Niven. "I'm just back. I've been in America." "Extraordinary," mused the member. "Never knew we had a base there." "But we do!" countered Niven. "It's called Fort Goldwyn and I was confined to barracks there for 15 solid years." Outrageous," grunted the member, turning back to his gazette. "You must lodge a formal protest with the rules committee!"

Groom Leaves Bride Immediately After Wedding, Returns To Jail

Couples are married almost every day in the judge's chambers of the Marin County courthouse. But a quiet ceremony which took place a week ago yesterday was different.

After the ceremony, the groom embraced his bride, and was promptly led downstairs into the jail cell to serve his one-year jail sentence. The bride walked happily out the courthouse to await her husband's release.

This is what led to the unusual ceremony. The man was jailed and recently sentenced to a year in jail. His girl friend appealed to Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos with this request. Would he please let them get married. She had a baby by him, and wanted to give the baby a name. The sheriff talked to the jail inmate, who confirmed the story and expressed willingness to wed the girl.

The sheriff conferred with a judge, who quietly rounded up the necessary witnesses from among courthouse workers, and performed the ceremony.

Names were withheld to protect the innocent.

JERRY CONNERS of San Anselmo whose South American adventure was cut short by jungle fever, is fully recovered. Movies he's taken of the remote jungles may some day appear on your TV screen on adventure programs. They tell me he's getting inquiries from all over the country.

TWO ASPIRANTS who took the Sausalito police chief's exam came out pretty close, but not exactly tied, as we get it. Word has leaked out that the patrolman won by a point.

The late moving van owner Julius Cerf, described as a "man who didn't have an enemy in the world," will be missed by many. He used to offer his truck for use by political candidate friends to paint their names and slogans. He offered the sign space free of charge. After several elections, he would have to sandblast or scrape off a quarter inch of paint.

One reason why San Rafael is outsmarted by some of the shrewd developers is the deplorable state of its official records, according to those who ought to know. They tell me city records "are in a mess." Sometimes you can't tell what happened as recent as four or five years ago.

SAN RAFAEL'S coming April 13 election appears to be a quiet one. Lt. Charles Chiesa is waging a house to house campaign against Police Chief Frank Kelly. The closest thing to a public debate was an invitation for both to appear on KTIM sounding board program. Chief Kelly says he was ready but his opponent couldn't make it.

Even City Planner Mitchell Baird couldn't have planned this one. He walked in to buy a car and turned out to be the 10,000th customer. Drove out with his convertible plus a $500 check as prize.

AUDIENCE AT VATICAN

John XXIII Not Interim Pope As Some Predicted

By PHIL NEWSOM

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A wave of sound rolls through the Vatican's Hall of Benedictions.

An American woman's mink cape slips from her shoulders to the floor as she leans far forward for a better view. A nun dabs at her eyes with a handkerchief.

The hand-clapping which had begun far back in the vast hall, now rolls forward, the wave advancing with the gestatorial chair borne by eight sturdy bearers.

Ahead are the noble guards, with glittering gold helmets.

At the side are the palentine guards, gold epaulets on their shoulders and gold trim on their uniforms. Along the route are the chamberlains in crimson tail coats and knee breeches.

Near the papal throne, the Swiss pikemen draw stiffly to attention.

THIS IS HOMAGE to a portly man of 77 elected to assume the mantle previously worn by Pope Pius XII.

THIS MAN IS Pope John XXIII, new spiritual leader of the world's 500 million Catholics, as different from his predecessor as his personal bulk contrasts with thin, esthetic Pius XII.

This is a man of seemingly boundless energy, impatient with tradition, possessed of limitless curiosity which already has startled more than one Vatican attendant.

From the papal throne, he welcomes the more than 7,000 Romans and pilgrims jamming the Hall of Benedictions to standing room only.

It is the regular weekly audience.

As he begins his welcome, his hands rest relaxed against the armrest of the throne.

But as he continues, he gestures and finally the gestures are continuous and vigorous. His voice booms through the two microphones before him and he half rises to make his point.

His message in Italian and French is a simple one of faith but Pope John XXIII pours energy into every act.

ALREADY HE has confounded the prophets who had predicted he would be an "interim" pope, content to consolidate rather than to institute new policies such as his predecessors who plunged the church into internation diplomacy.

One announcement already portends far-reaching consequences for the Roman Catholic Church.

That was his call for an Ecumenical Congress, one of the highest level of all church councils whose decrees by church law are infallible. It will aim at bringing back to the Roman church some 50 million eastern Catholics not now under Vatican jurisdiction.

Meanwhile, he continues to smash tradition.

A helicopter landed inside the Vatican walls the other day, and there are predictions Pope John will not hesitate to use air travel.

And he insists on simplicity. He told the editor of the Vatican city newspaper Osservatore Romano to delete "exalted" phrases used in the past to describe a pope.

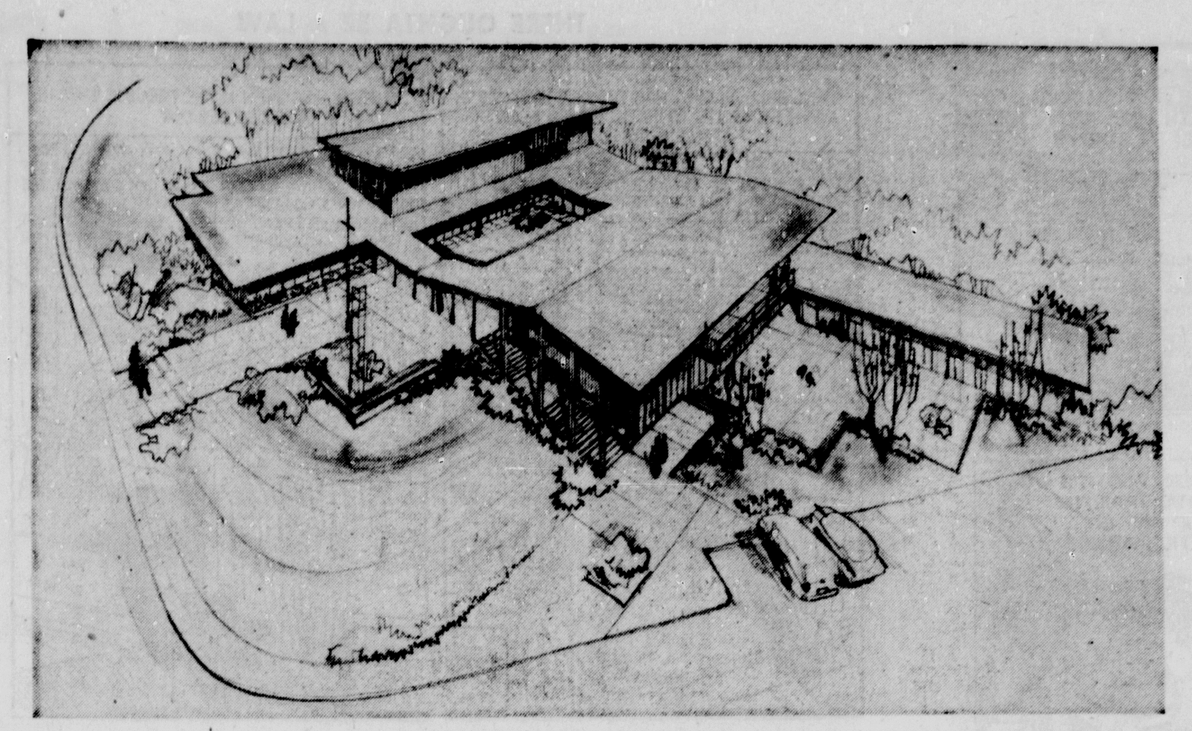
10 YEARS AGO

Elton Davis, all-around athlete at Tamalpais High School, was presented the school's "Outstanding Basketball Player" trophy after being unanimously elected for the honor by fellow players and officials. The youth schored 204 points through Tam's 22-game schedule.

Marin Junior College District trustees moved ahead with plans to build a $125,000 art building for the campus with the expectation of approving preliminary sketches at their next meeting.

The Country Parson

"I understand how people can have opposite opinions — but not how both can claim the basis for them to be the scriptures."



NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—This sketch by architectural firm of Crawford and Banning shows projected Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church. First unit to be constructed will be a two-level structure (the middle unit in this drawing) which will include a sanctuary and Sunday school rooms. Contract is expected to be awarded in the middle of June, with completion by the end of the year.

New Church Slated For Sleepy Hollow

Construction is expected to begin in August or September on a new building for the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, Rev. John Bruce, pastor, announced today.

A contract for construction will be awarded about the middle of June, and completion of the structure is expected by the end of the year.

The church will be located on a three-acre site on Tarry road adjacent to the Sleepy Hollow School. The site was purchased two years ago for $27,000.

The new building will be the first unit of a three-stage development. The two-level structure will include a sanctuary with a seating capacity of 164, five Sunday school rooms, a parlor, office and kitchen. Cost is estimated at $70,000, with $10,000 additional for furnishings.

The building will be of redwood and glass, with redwood furnishings. Parking space for 50 autos will be provided initially.

Crawford and Banning are architects for the project.

The second phase of the church's over-all development —expected within three years —will add more Sunday school space, and the final phase will consist of a larger sanctuary, still more Sunday school rooms and administrative offices.

Financing for the project has been arranged with the help of the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., along with local loans and contributions by the congregation.

Elder Robert Schneider is chairman of the building committee, and George Hermsmeyer, president of the church's board of trustees, is finance committee chairman.

The church, organized in May, 1957, now has a membership of 143, with Sunday school attendance of 100.

1st Christian Building Work Moving Apace

The First Christian Church of San Rafael, which has been meeting in temporary quarters at the VFW Hall in Santa Venetia, expects to occupy its new church home early this summer.

The first story of a two-story educational unit is now completed on the church property at Ranchitos road and San Pedro road in north San Rafael.

Pastor Richard Wilcox said construction work is being done by men of the church with Albert Phipps, a member of the congregation, as general contractor.

The new building will be the first unit of a plant which will eventually include a chapel and educational unit that will accommodate a membership of 300.

The First Christian Church of San Rafael is the only Christian Church in Marin County, but Pastor Wilcox said plans are being made to begin new congregations in Mill Valley and Novato. Several families from these two cities who now attend the San Rafael church will form the cores of the new churches.

Mt. Tam Easter Services Slated

The annual Easter sunrise service at Cushing Memorial Theater atop Mt. Tamalpais will again be sponsored this year by Mill Valley and the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron.

The service, to start at 6 a.m., will be conducted by Protestant clergymen of Mill Valley and Air Force chaplains.

Generous Decade

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — The Seventh-day Adventist Church reports that its American members gave $464,546,312 to the church in the last 10 years, $105,957,516 more than the $358,588,768 given in the previous 84 years.

Arab Clothing

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous Lutheran women's groups prepared 7,200 garments for boys and girls. The clothing was shipped to Arab refugee children under auspices of Lutheran World Relief.

Church Schedules Double Services

Increased membership and attendance will result in double Sunday services, effective tomorrow, at Marin Lutheran Church in Corte Madera.

Rev. George O. Loftness, pastor, said identical services will be held at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday school will continue to meet at 9:45 a.m.

Missionland Vacations

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Taking a trip to visit missionary outposts is getting to be a major vacation habit for members of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). Since 1950 about 500 ordinary church-goers have gone on such denomination-sponsored tours to far-flung spots around the world, paying their own expenses.

Long Sermon Advocates

TORONTO, Canada (AP) — Polish Christians like their sermons long, says Rev. John Kaczowak ,a Baptist pastor, after a trip to that country. He said they aren't satisfied with a sermon of less than 90 minutes.

LOSING PASTOR IN THIS CONTEST MUST SHINE WINNER'S SHOES

"Who shines whose?" is the big question being asked in bulletins of the First Christian Churches of San Rafael and Petaluma these days.

The question refers to a Bible school attendance contest between the two churches: The pastor whose church loses will have to shine the shoes of the pastor of the winning church (at a special service, even!)

Right now, Maurice Williams, Petaluma pastor, is worried, since his church is trailing by 40 points in the contest, with two Sundays to go. (The score is figured weekly on the basis of percentage of increase in attendance over average attendance for the previous three months.)

But San Rafael Pastor Richard Wilcox is apprehensive about Easter. He figures Petaluma attendance will be large that day, since the church there has a large, city landmark of a building. His own congregation meets in the Santa Venetia VFW hall.

"Folks don't don their Easter finery to worship in a rented hall," he notes, "they attend the churches with the nice buildings."

Churches In Recruiting Drive To Meet Shortage Of Clergy

By LOUIS CASSELS
U. P. International

A drive to recruit more young men for the ministry is under way in America's major religious denominations.

It is prompted by a shortage of trained clergymen which is already serious and getting steadily worse.

Statistics from the two largest U.S. denominations indicate the dimensions of the problem.

During the last 10 years, the Roman Catholic population of the United States has increased 31 per cent, but the number of priests has increased only 21 per cent.

Membership of the Methodist Church has grown 28 per cent since 1940, but the number of fully accredited ministers has increased only 1 per cent.

Similar figures could be supplied by Baptists, Lutherans, Episcopalians and Presbyterians.

Churches face a severe handicap in their efforts to interest more young men in seeking holy orders. There is a growing tendency among U.S. youth to choose careers primarily on the basis of material rewards. The ministry, with its traditionally low salaries, does not fare well in this test.

Many denominations are working to raise ministerial salaries. But they are doing so primarily in the interests of justice to clergymen and their families, rather than as a recruiting measure. The idea of attracting more people to the pulpit with a purely financial appeal is repugnant to most church leaders.

So the churches are doing their recruiting the hard way. They are trying to get across to their youth the message that there is more to life than making money, and that no sincere Christian can ignore a call to full-time service because it may entail some sacrifices.

At the same time, they are trying to clear away some of the misconceptions that young people have about a clergyman's life.

One of the most ambitious programs of this kind is being conducted jointly by four Lutheran denominations — the American Lutheran Church, Lutheran Free Church, Evangelical Lutheran Church and United Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Since last November, these Lutheran bodies have held "Men for the Ministry" conferences in 37 major cities. More than 3,000 young Lutherans have attended.

The Methodists are using a somewhat similar approach. They have held convocations in several major cities to acquaint college students with the church's need for manpower, and to encourage applicants.

The United Lutheran Church is in the midst of a series of regional conferences to involve all church leaders in the quest for ministerial candidates.

Catholic parishes throughout the nation are observing "Vocation Month" in March, with special prayers and sermons directed to the church's acute need for additional priests.

HUMBOLDT, Tenn. (UPI) — The First Assembly of God Church is the church that peanut brittle built.

The church, completed this year, was entirely built by funds raised through sale of peanut brittle made by members of the congregation.

Survey In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)— Under Swedish law, every person born automatically belongs to the state Church of Sweden. To withdraw, he must request it personally. In recent discussion over proposed abolition of the system, pollsters took a survey, found that 72 per cent of the people would apply for membership voluntarily — if the law didn't make them members involuntarily.

Cal Defense Faces Another Big Test In NCAA Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (UPI) — It will be Jerry West against the defense that stopped Oscar Robertson when West Virginia faces California tonight in a battle for the NCAA Basketball Tournament championship.

The 38 points West racked up to lead West Virginia to a 94-79 victory over Louisville in last night's Eastern final won't overawe a rock-solid California crew that held Robertson to five field goals and 19 points for a 64-58 victory over Cincinnati in the Western finals.

If the "Big O's" showing was a disappointment to the 18,619 fans who jammed Freedom Hall for the NCAA semi-finals, West's performance was a revelation as he poured cold water on Louisville's dreams.

The kid from Cabin Creek did more than shoot, although he did that exceedingly well, hitting 12 of 21 shots from the floor. He also pulled in 15 rebounds, outbattling a lanky Louisville front line that had outrebounded Michigan State and Kentucky in regional play.

California, first Pacific Coast Conference team to reach the NCAA finals since Stanford won the crown in 1942, beat Cincinnati on defensive strategy, never giving the Bearcats a chance to set up Robertson for effective shots.

Oscar, who led the nation in scoring with a 32.9 per game average this season, could manage only 16 shots from the floor as the Bears kept at least one man and usually two between him and the ball. Senior forward Bob Dalton carried most of the burden on this maneuver, with a lot of help from 6-10 center Darrall Imhoff.

PLAYOFF ON TV

Tonight's California-West Virginia playoff for the NCAA championship will be televised to northern California by Station KTVU, Channel 2, Oakland, starting at 7 o'clock.

Imhoff, who had been hailed as approaching Bill Russell defensively but no great shakes in scoring, also displayed an effective left-handed hook shot that accounted for 22 points to lead both teams in scoring.

The key moment in the California victory came with the score tied at 54-54 after the Bears had held Cincinnati without a field goal for the first nine minutes of the second half to make up a 33-29 halftime deficit.

California went into a slow-moving weave and waited for more than a minute to work the ball into Imhoff. He spun in one of his southpaw hooks to put the Bears ahead with two minutes left and Cincinnati couldn't catch up.

Cincinnati contributed to its own downfall by allowing California to set the pattern of play. Coach George Smith conceded, "We didn't have it. We didn't run or do the things we were supposed to do. We didn't hustle."

California can expect to see a hustling team when they meet West Virginia for the title tonight. The mountaineers have to hustle just to keep up with Jerry West.

"I don't know what we'll do against West Virginia," Coach Pete Newell said of his California squad that tops the nation in defense with a 50-point per game yield. "That West is something. But we'll be in there if we can do the job we've been doing."

About the victory over favored Cincinnati, Newell said: "I thought Imhoff probably played his best game. He was the key when we revised our defense to force Robertson out in the second half." Imhoff is a junior.

49er Cagers Nip Marin Quint In Rough, Tumble Exhibition

San Francisco 49ers basketball team eked out a 66-64 victory over the Dugout Dandies last night at San Rafael High School in a benefit exhibition game sponsored by the San Rafael 20-30 Club.

Big Bob St. Clair, the 6-foot-9-inch, 265-pound tackle for the professional grid squad, scored the winning field goal from under the basket with five seconds remaining in the game that was marked by rough body contact.

After paying the 49er squad its fee of $300, a spokesman for the 20-30 Club said, "We'll be lucky to break even" financially. The televising of the California-Cincinnati basketball game was blamed for the poor paying attendance. The club sponsored the game for the benefit of its eyeglasses fund for needy children.

The Dandies, champions of the San Rafael men's league, gave the talented 49ers all they could handle. The pro gridders held a slim 32-30 halftime lead and broke away to a 10-point spread in the second half. But the Dugout's Bob Liebe took matters into his own hands and scored four consecutive field goals to close the gap. It was nip and tuck right down to the wire when St. Clair came through with the winning bucket.

CONNER OUSTED

At times the game got plenty rought. Clyde Conner of the 49ers was thrown out of the game after he threw a body block on the Dugout's Al Murray, knocking him flat.

The 49ers got good scoring balance with John Thomas, former COP star, scoring 17, Billy Wilson 15 and Gordy Soltau 14. Y. A. Tittle kept up his two-point per game average by swishing one through from the corner.

Other grid stars who performed were Hugh McElhenny, and Ed Henke who didn't help much basketball-wise as they contributed a combined total of one point and committed a total of eight fouls.

Leading the Dugout was Liebe with 20 points while Murray had 12 and Bob Stout 10.

The 49ers signed autographs for the several youngsters in the audience.

In the preliminary game the San Francisco Chinese All-Stars downed the San Rafael Independents, 57-50 in a nip and tuck fray.

Marin Prep Baseball Tourney Opens Monday

Marin County's high school baseball season begins in earnest next week with the annual county tournament taking the spotlight at Albert Field in San Rafael.

First round games will be played Monday, while the finals are scheduled for Tuesday.

Lined up for action are the host school, Tamalpais, along with San Rafael, Drake, Redwood, Marin Catholic and George Washington of San Francisco. The latter team is entered only to fill the "bye" dates for the other teams and its games will not count in standings.

Monday's opening schedule is as follows: 4 p.m.—Redwood vs. San Rafael; 5:15 p.m.—Drake vs. Marin; 8:30 p.m. — Tamalpais vs. Washington.

Final rounds for consolation and championship brackets are scheduled Tuesday, with games at 1:45, 4, 6:15 and 8:30 p.m.

Winning team will be presented a trophy donated by Taveggia-Brusati Sports Shop of San Rafael. Each player on a 10-man All-Tournament team, to be selected by a special group of judges, will receive a miniature gold baseball.

Olympic Club Eliminated In Final Seconds Of AAU

DENVER (AP)—Wichita and Bartlesville, old foes who've played six times this season, battle tonight for the championship of the 52nd AAU Basketball Tournament.

The Wichita Whiz Masters conquered Army's All-Stars 104-102 in overtime and the Oklahomans edged San Francisco 72-71 in skin tight semi-final games last night before 7,500.

The Kansas speedsters hold a 5-1 edge, including a whopping 142-78 triumph, over Bartlesville in regular National Industrial Basketball League play. Bartlesville's lone victory against Wichita was 113-96.

Gary Thompson, who bagged only two field goals in the game, sank one from 20 feet with eight seconds left to seal the triumph over the gallant San Franciscans, who trailed by 17 points early in the contest.

BIG LEAD

Bartlesville bolted to a 10-0 lead against San Francisco during the first two minutes when three fouls were whistled on Ron Tomsic, the team's playmaker. The Californians pulled up to 21-18 before 6-4 Red Murrell of Drake sent Bartlesville into a 40-23 lead with 90 seconds left in the half. Murrell flipped in 19 points during the first half but drew a blank in the second half.

Paul Neumann of Stanford, voted northern California's top collegiate player this season, paced San Francisco with 21. Tomsic, who entered the game with a 31.5 average, canned 19.

San Francisco and the Army All-Stars play for third place tonight in advance of the Wichita-Bartlesville final.

Crash Kills Driver In Sebring Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Sebring's dangerous hairpin turn already had claimed its first victim of 1959 before the racers took off today on the gruelling 12-hour sports car endurance test.

Ed Lawrence, 30-year-old amateur driver from Detroit, died last night when his Maserati zoomed off the track at 80 miles per hour in a practice run.

The auto salesman was pinned in the flaming car he apparently drove straight off the track at the hairpin turn.

Although the Sebring grind that runs from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. counts only in the race for the car manufacturers' championship, the winning driver will be favored to succeed the late Mike Hawthorn, the 1958 driving champion. This is the first of a series of six for the manufacturers' title, won the past five years by the Ferrari factory of Modena, Italy.

The drivers will compete in another series to determine the successor to Hawthorn. One of the races will be held at Sebring Dec. 12.

Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., who teams with Dan Gurney of Riverside, Calif., one of the sleek foursome entered by the Ferrari factory, was one of the favorites to succeed Hawthorn. He finished third in the world competition last year and teamed with the late Peter Collins of England to win the 1958 Sebring race.

Capt. James Morris, who will coach the team, said today that all new equipment has been purchased for the squad this year.

OXO, 8 TO 1 SHOT, WINNER AT AINTREE

AINTREE, England (AP)—Oxo won the 113th Grand National steeplechase today.

Wyndburgh finished second, and the favored Mr. What was third in the grueling race on which the first Irish Hospital Sweepstakes of the year is based.

(Three Marin County couples held valuable sweepstakes tickets on the race, but none won.)

The only other horse to finish out of the 34 that started was Tiberetta, who had challenged for the lead much of the way.

Oxo was an 8-1 shot in the betting in the 4-mile, 856-yard race over 30 fences—the world's toughest steeplechase.

Wynburgh went off at 10-1, and Mr. What, winner of the race a year ago, was the 6-1 favorite.

Casey Puts State 160 Title On Line Against Williams

RICHMOND (AP) — San Francisco's Hank Casey defends his California middleweight boxing title against Al "Tiger" Williams of Los Angeles tonight in a 12-round bout at the Richmond Auditorium.

Most observers rate the fight a toss-up since the two staged a close battle two months ago with Williams taking the decision in 10 rounds.

The challenger's record is 33 victories, 18 defeats and 2 draws. He's fought and beaten such nationally known boxers as Charlie Cotton, Tombstone Smith and Charlie Josephs.

Casey, who except for a draw with Willie Vaughn hasn't fought any nationally known boxers, has a 20-2-5 record. The state champ is 25 and Williams 24.

Anthony Hangs On At Finish To Win TV Go

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony's fans have become a fidgety band of nail-biters. Even in the victory, the New York light heavyweight challenger makes nervous wrecks of his rooters.

Such was the case again last night when tall Tony outpointed ever-pressing Sonny Ray of Chicago in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. It was the 24-year-old Anthony's second straight decision over the 23-year-old, fifth-ranking contender.

But Tony's followers had another case of jitters when their idol almost blew a big lead and seemed headed for a knockout defeat in the last round. Tony heard two bells at the end of the frantic round which gives you an idea of how rough things had become for him.

Only a knockout could have given Ray, a 13-5 underdog, the win at that final stage. Sonny almost made it. Midway in the round, the 5-11 Chicagoan staggered his 6-1 opponent with a left and right to the jaw. Tony was dazed but he managed to hang on. Seconds later he was firing back.

Then Ray again nailed Tony with a left and right to the jaw. Anthony dropped his hands and turned his back on Ray. Sonny stood there perplexed for a moment and then started after his foe again. But the final bell sounded before he could punch.

"I thought the bell had sounded when I turned away from him," said Anthony. "Lucky for me the bell did sound right quick."

The three officials had Anthony the winner by the following scores: Referee Ruby Goldstein, 8-2; Judge Frank Forbes, 6-3-1, and Judge Tony Castellano, 6-4. The AP card had Anthony ahead, 8-2.

Hector Paces Tam Track Win Over Marin Catholic

Bob Hector won two events, placed second in another and ran a leg of the winning relay team yesterday as he led the Tamalpais High School varsity track and field team to a smashing 81-32 victory over Marin Catholic at Tam.

Hector won the half-mile in 2 minutes, 21 seconds, the broad jump at 19 feet 6 inches and was second in the high hurdles.

Other high scorers for Tam were Russ Cook with victories in the 440 and shot put and Ed Chiswell in the high and low hurdles.

Tam also won Class B, 93-20 and Class C, 31-19.

HANLEY'S REPORT

Tribe Landed Pip In Arizona U. Ace

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

TUCSON, Ariz. — Signing of Gene Leek to a $30,000 bonus contract by the Cleveland Indians kicked up a mild storm on the University of Arizona campus.

Frank Sancet, university baseball coach, castigated the Cleveland management for plucking his power-hitting third baseman from college in his junior year.

"I'll do everything I can now to keep the Indians from getting any more of our players," said Sancet who had given Leak permission to practice with the Indians at their Tucson spring training camp. "I never thought this would result."

Sancet warned his players that anyone caught working out with the Indians will be summarily dismissed from the university team.

Leek did not appear unduly disturbed by his coach's howls. As a 21-year-old man he is fully qualified in the eyes of the law to make his own decisions and he did not hesitate in making this one.

"Of course the money was important," said the six-foot, 185-pounder who was hitting .450 in seven games with his university team when the Indians tabbed him. "But it was not the only factor. By signing now I have a good chance to play triple A ball with the (San Diego) Padres. And San Diego is my home town."

SIGNED LAST Monday, Leek was put to work at third base the next day by Cleveland in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs. He singled twice and scored twice against the Cubs.

The following day he slashed a double to left center as a sixth inning replacement, driving in a run that gave the Indians a temporary 7-6 lead over the Boston Red Sox.

His hitting was coupled with flawless fielding of six chances, including the start of a round-the-horn double play.

THIS PROMPTED Cleveland manager Joe Gordon to keep him in the lineup for nine innings against the Giants in his third Cactus League game.

He drew a walk and doubled to center against the Giants and again looked like a polished product at third. He charged one slow roller for a difficult putout and backhanded a hot shot just inside the third base foul line for another.

Leek's sensational debut has the Indian camp buzzing with complimentary comments about the young rookie. They're now saying the only way he will be ticketed to San Diego is for him "to play himself off the team."

Odds, however, are that he eventually will go to the Padre training camp in Indio. That will not disappoint Leek who has no illusions of grandeur. After all, that was his original plan.

Leek, incidentally, was not a "sleeper." Most of the major league scouts knew about him. Last year he had offers from six clubs but decided to wait another season. He passed up football during 1958 to concentrate on baseball.

BILL RIGNEY hopes he will get his regular lineup going next week. The one he has in mind is: Jim Davenport, 3b; Andre Rodgers, ss; Daryl Spencer, 2b; Orlando Cepeda, 1b; Jackie Brandt, lf; Willie Mays (who else?), cf; Felipe Alou, rf; Bob Schmidt, c. Bug bites, ingrown toenails, colds, damaged noses, damaged shinbones—you name it and the Giants have had it—have kept the first stringers from appearing together in one Cactus League exhibition game.

Antonelli's Performance Cheers S.F.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Those steady Florida rains are welcome headline news to the San Francisco Giants and the Chicago Cubs, training in sun-drenched Arizona.

And indications that the tanned teams hereabouts are getting into shape more rapidly appeared to be borne out yesterday by a pitching duel between the Giants' Johnny Antonelli and the Cub's big Bob Anderson.

The Cubs won it 3-1 on Anderson's four-hit performance plus homers by Chick King and Tony Taylor in the sixth and eighth innings. Anderson became the first major league hurler to go a full nine innings.

Antonelli went seven, allowing four hits. He was relieved by Billy Muffett, who allowed only two hits, including Taylor's home run with King aboard.

Both Antonelli and Anderson, relief ace of the 1956 Pacific Coast League pennant-winning Los Angeles club, displayed mid-season form.

W. Marin Land Owners Hit Endorsement Of Park Plan

"I wonder if the small number of conservationists pushing for a recreational area on Pt. Reyes Peninsula realize the significance of the Tenth Commandment — thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's property," said Bryan R. McCarthy yesterday in reference to Marin Conservation League's program Wednesday night endorsing the proposed park.

McCarthy, San Rafael attorney representing the West Marin Property Owners Assn. which is vigorously opposed to the park, declared "It appears that they seek the property for their own use and will take away homes and livelihoods of families who have been in West Marin for generations."

The proposed 28,000-acre recreation area would practically destroy the dairy industry of West Marin, maintain the dairy ranchers. Seven large dairy ranches and seven livestock ranches would be seized, and 10 more dairy ranches would be ruined, they say, because cows will not produce milk properly when they are disturbed by people and cars.

"The West Marin property owners feel that Marin County already has adequate parks," McCarthy continued, citing the presence of five state parks, one national monument, three county operated beaches, nine recreational areas on water district property and several thousand acres of military installations.

"Marin is the fourth smallest county in the state, yet it ranks eighth from the top in the number of state parks," the attorney asserted.

The ranchers suggest Marin's present parks be used before more recreational areas are set aside. They say Drakes Bay State Park, which is within the 28,000 acreage, is not used to near capacity. The proposed park would probably be of nominal use to Marin residents. McCarthy said, "We have found that persons using Tomales Bay State Park are mostly from outside the county, especially San Francisco and the East Bay."

The ranchers further believe the park would hurt Marin by taking the 28,000 acres off the tax rolls. That would make 60,753 acres or 18.2 per cent of county property tax free, they say.

If it destroyed the dairy industry, it would take away income, McCarthy declared. "Weighing the number of persons who would be employed in the park against the persons displaced from ranch jobs, we figure over one million dollars in annual salaries would be lost.

"The tourists would spend money in the county, but we look at it this way—the parks we know of do not replace what they take away. We don't think Samuel P. Taylor State Park is any benefit financially."

Not only would the ranchers be displaced but the recreation area would engulf part of two Radio Corp. of America stations and seriously hamper its international radio-receiving facilities.

RCA claims its stations at Pt. Reyes are the largest and most important long-distance radio telegraph receiving stations on the West Coast.

T. H. Mitchell, president of RCA Communications, Inc., has advised C. L. Wirth, National Park Service director, and Fred A. Seaton, secretary of interior, of his opposition to the Pt. Reyes park.

Mill Valley DeMolay Wins Goldstein Trophy

Mill Valley chapter of De Molay won the Dad Goldstein Trophy at the Redwood Empire Division conference last week in Ukiah. The trophy is awarded to the chapter with the best all around achievement, including ritual and chapter activities.

Mill Valley's Don Marvin won the rifle trophy at the Ukiah affair. In bowling, Mylo Johnson was the third series medal winner.

Ehlen Asks State Help In Boat Dispute

Lowell Nelson, newly appointed chief of the state Division of Housing, confirmed yesterday that his office has been asked by Sausalito City Atty. John B. Ehlen to step into the Sausalito houseboat water pollution controversy by having the state exercise its enforcement powers.

Nelson said he is taking the matter up with the department's legal staff.

"We seek the state's cooperation here," Ehlen said yesterday. "A report made by County Sanitarian William Desmond indicates that there are 120 living units on the waterfront that are in violation of the state Health and Safety Code."

Ehlen declared, "This enforcement problem is too big for the City of Sausalito, the county or the local sanitary district to handle."

San Quentin Fly-Away Convict Gets Parole

Gerald E. Baucum, 29-year-old San Quentin inmate who escaped from a prison camp in a stolen plane three years ago and surrendered last fall, will be paroled from prison June 22 by order of the state Adult Authority.

Baucum lived a respectable life in Butte, Mont., during his years as a fugitive, the authority noted.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

U P C Q V P K C K R H H Z Y R L; D B Z

C B O B Z Z B J J P V I K U U H Y P — Y V K Y K I.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: GIVE ME THE SPLENDID SILENT SUN, WITH ALL HIS BEAMS FULL-DAZZLING!—WHITMAN.

Mrs. Duncan Gets Death Sentence, Due Sanity Hearing

VENTURA (UPI) — Elizabeth Duncan, who married from 10 to 20 times but did not want her son to marry a Canadian nurse, was condemned to death in the gas chamber last night for hiring two men to kill his wife.

Eight women and four men returned the death verdict in the "for hire" murder case after a little more than three hours of deliberation — three months from the day Olga Duncan's body was found in a shallow grave north of here.

Spectators sat in silence as 83-year-old presiding Judge Charles F. Blackstock asked if the jury had reached a verdict. It was handed to the court clerk who read:

"Death."

The 54-year-old matron accepted the jury's decision stoically—the same reaction she showed last Monday when she was convicted of first degree murder.

But her 30-year-old son, Frank, visibly shaken, said:

"It was horribly unfair. There is no question that political ambition was involved in this.

"He (prosecutor Roy Gustafson) intends to climb to a higher position over the body of my mother."

Gustafson said:

"I think the verdict is just."

Mrs. Duncan held her head high and maintained a slight smile as she left the courtroom, trailed by spectators who had waited for the verdict.

Next for the condemned murderess is a sanity hearing on Tuesday before Blackstock. Two court-appointed psychiatrists have found her legally sane.

Behind Mrs. Duncan, as she left the courtroom, were charts listing 20 crimes, of which she had been accused during the trial.

PRETTY KITTY FOR EASTER

"All set and ready to go," says this kitten (in cat language). It represents all the little felines available at the Marin County Humane Society, 402 Third street, San Rafael, for adoption. The Humane Society suggests kittens as more suitable Easter pets than baby chicksc or ducklings, which often are unwittingly mistreated by their young owners. (Photo by Kathy Wheeler)

Kindergarten Signup Set In Mill Valley

Pre-registration of children who will enter kindergarten classes in the Mill Valley School District this year has been set for April 7-8 at the Park School auditorium from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., according to Supt. G. R. McConnell.

To be eilgible for kindergarten in September, the child must be at least 4 years and 9 months on Sept. 1, McConnell said. To be eligible for the first grade, he must be at least a year older on the same date.

It is not necessary to register children now attending kindergarten classes McConnell announced, but children eligible for classes starting Sept. 1 but not now attending should register.

Some evidence of birth date such as a birth certificate, passport, baptism certificate, hospital record or affidavit of parent or guardian is necessary.

Sausalito Plan Wins Approval

Chairmen of eight subcommittees of the 90-member Sausalito Citizens Advisory Committee have endorsed the proposed Sausalito general plan and urged the planning commission and city council to do the same.

A ninth subcommittee chairman, John Ostrowski, dissented.

The plan, developed by planning consultant Sydney H. Williams, is now under consideration by the city.

In a formal statement prepared by co-chairman Earl F. Dunphy, the group said, "It is our desire that the thoughts, effort and money put into this plan will not have been in vain."

Making a plea for public support, the chairmen noted that the plan "is an outline for the future and can be changed or modified at any time."

Balboa High Reunion

A 20th year reunion dinner-dance for the Fall '39 class of Balboa High School in San Francisco is being planned for Sept. 26, Mrs. Bernice Monin of 1464 Via Sanchez, Pacifica, announced today. She said any member of the class interested in the reunion should write her.

WHOLE TOWN KNEW IT WAS SIX O'CLOCK

PORTLAND, Conn. (UPI) — Everyone in this town knew it was 6 o'clock last evening.

The fire whistle, which usually blows at 6, did—as a matter of fact. It didn't stop until telephone company repairmen fixed it at 7:45 p.m.

Marin Lumber Firm Doubles Work Force

The Sweet Timber Co. of Olema, Marin's only operating lumber mill, this week nearly doubled its work force and adopted a split shift in hopes of meeting an increasing demand of lumber by Bay Area builders.

Donald Sweet, part owner and manager, today said the company, which opened for business April 15, 1958, has so far done about $400,000 worth of business in gross sales. "We hope with the growing demand for lumber and our crew increased that we can approach one million dollars this year," said Sweet.

The company last Monday hired 20 new sawmill workers, bringing the total work force to about 55 men, which will increase its total payroll by $80,000 to $100,000 a year, Sweet estimated. Total payroll with both shifts will approximate $250,000.

Also recently installed has been new machinery designed to improve the accuracy and quality of the milling work, Sweet noted.

The company is a complete logging, milling and planing operation which sells its finished lumber to buyers throughout the Bay Area and as far east as Sacramento and Stockton. Douglas fir tree logs are obtained exclusively from 3,500 acres of land in the Olema area where the company has timber cutting rights, Sweet said.

Sweet Timber Co. several months ago absorbed Alden White Lumber Co., a separate organization which was set up to operate the sawmill.

Written by Larry Lovett and illustrated with photos by Ken Molino, the feature tells about the $280,000 craft berthed at Sausalito.

WINDSORS LOSE WAY IN NEVADA; DEPUTY SHERIFF COMES TO AID

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, driving from Boulder City to Las Vegas, lost their way and were rescued by a sheriff's deputy.

The duke flagged down a sheriff's car and this conversation ensued:

"I say, officer, could you direct me to the right road to Las Vegas?"

"Sure. Say, you're the Duke of Windsor, aren't you?"

"Well, yes, I am. You see the duchess and I were en route to the Desert Inn and we're not certain of the road."

"That's all right, sir; just follow me."

Redwood High Musicians Set First Concert

Redwood High School's orchestra and band will appear in their first public performance April 3 at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The program theme will be "Here and There — Then and Now," according to Sidney Gordon, orchestra and band director. It will feature selections from this and other countries, music popular today and in years past.

Orchestra soloists will be Joan Bamberger, who will play "Trumpet's Lullaby" by Leroy Anderson; and Rozanna Reid and Janet Christiason, playing "Flute Cocktail," a composition by Simeone. Rozanna is also student director, and will lead the orchestra in the aria from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart.

Band soloists will be Pat Hurtado, who will play the piano number "Spiritual Rhapsody" by Walters, and Martha Morse, who will play the rhondo from "Concerto for Clarinet, Op. 107," by Mozart. Dan Smith is the band's student director.

Bill To Increase Jury Pay Tabled

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill to increase jury pay and to have employers bear the increased cost was refused approval in a Senate committee and was referred for possible interim committee study.

The bill (SB435) was introduced by Sen. Stephen Teale (D-West Point) at the request of the AFL-CIO.

Under the bill, pay to jurors would not exceed $20 per day for a period not to exceed 30 days in one calendar year. Employers would pay the difference between the existing jury scale and the $20.

"Why should the employer be slapped with this increase?" asked Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville). "If the union wants the measure why doesn't the union foot the bill?"

Sen. Hugo Fisher (D-San Diego) said the principle here was the same as an employer paying a man his regular salary even though he takes two hours off to go to vote.

Irish Setter Wins High Obedience Trial Honors

In keeping with the spirit of St. Patrick's Day, an Irish setter named Gilhooley this week took top class honors in the obedience trials staged by the Marin County Dog Training Club.

The competition marked the end of the club's past 10-day training course and was part of the graduation exercises. Gilhooley is owned by Emily Belcher of San Rafael.

The intermediate class was won by 13-year-old Barbara Dillon of San Anselmo with her Shetland sheepdog, Prince. High score in the beginners' class was turned in by Mrs. Rhea Maxwell, Novato, with her miniature poodle, George.

Registration for the next training session will be held next Wednesday evening in the club's headquarters in the loft above the Marin Wheel Alignment Co., 401 Irwin street, San Rafael. There will be no classes on registration night, with the next session beginning April 1.

Advance registration is required for the children's beginning classes which are limited to an enrollment of 25. The children's classes, held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, are free of charge and those interested may enroll by contacting Mrs. Bill Dobbs, 2631 Heatherstone drive, San Rafael.

Teaching the children's beginning classes will be Larry Henagar and Mack Purcell. Beginning adults and intermediate classes will be taught by Bill Dobbs.

Club president Paul Putnam will instruct the advanced intermediate students, while the club's head trainer, Joe McGinley, will handle advanced and adult beginning classes.

Hubcaps Stolen During School Play

Two cars were stripped of all hubcaps Thursday at the San Rafael High School grounds during a showing of the high school musical, "Oklahoma."

Spectators parked their cars in the high school lot from about 7:15 to 10:30 p.m. Two of them complained to police that their hubcaps were taken during those hours.

Robert Allan Arbini of 516 Fifth avenue, San Rafael, and Lillian Belle Smith of 39 Jordan avenue, San Anselmo, were the two victims.

Reservists' Speaker

Space law and other legal problems will be the subject of a talk by Capt. Sydney P. Murman of San Anselmo before Navy Reserve Composite Unit 12-17 Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the faculty lounge at College of Marin.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

New Budget Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new flareup in the battle of the budget appeared in prospect today as a result of President Eisenhower's strong denunciation of a House committee's fund cutting.

"Irresponsible action," Eisenhower said yesterday after the House Appropriations Committee rejected his request for 225 million dollars in supplementary money for the development loan fund.

Fighting In Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Fighting is raging in Lhasa, capital of Communist-held Tibet, the Indian Foreign Ministry reported today.

A terse midnight radio report from the Indian representative in "The Roof of the World" said: "Fighting in immediate vicinity of consulate. Situation tense and rising."

This was all that was received here, suggesting the possibility that the radio—only free world link with Tibet—may have been cut off.

Drug Death Probed

REDLANDS (UPI)—A college boy admitted at a hearing into the death of a brilliant chemistry student that they used each other as guinea pigs in experiments with vision-inducing drugs.

"But this was not done for kicks or for a binge," David Dunning, 18, a sophomore psychology student at Redlands University, told a board investigating the death of 18-year-old Michael Hawks.

"You'll see from the notebooks and tape recordings how painstaking our record of the experiments really was," he said.

Young Hawks was discovered unconscious in his dormitory room Tuesday and died without regaining his senses. Deputy Coroner Edward Doyle said yesterday after an autopsy that the boy died of chloral hydrate intoxication.

Mosk Against Bias

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk intends to back measures introduced in Sacramento to break up "gentlemen's agreements" under which real estate brokers refuse to sell homes to persons because of race, color or creed.

Mosk's views were made known yesterday at a press conference with William R. Ming Jr., Chicago, the first Negro attorney elected to the American Veterans Committee.

"As a matter of public policy," Mosk said, "discrimination against any person or group on the irrelevant basis of race, color or creed or religion is improper."

Use Full Name

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Park Commission says the 1,500-acre park near Santa Monica should be called by its full official name—Leo Carrillo Beach Park.

There should be no more offhand references to "Carrillo Park," the Commissioners agreed yesterday.

How come?

Well, for one thing, the actor is a member of the Park Commission.

"I have a lot of second cousins running around," said Carrillo. "Now they can't claim the park is named after them."

Spring Is Here

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Spring blustered its way into the nation today on the winds of a near-blizzard that swept the midlands and stirred up a flurry of small tornadoes in the western gulf states.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau promised the vicious storms would calm into gentle breezes and light rains, bringing a welcome reprieve to weather-weary residents of the central states who have suffered through one of the worst winters in decades. Spring officially arrived at 12:50 a.m. (PST).

Bridges Gets Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The appearance of Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast longshoremen's chief, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been postponed until April 21.

The delay was granted yesterday at the request of Bridges' attorneys. The committee was scheduled to question Bridges next Tuesday about statements attributed to him during a recent European trip.

Paternal Honor

MADRID (UPI) — Jose Platas Alcaide, a 77-year-old farm laborer, has received Spain's $1,000 national birthrate prize for his family of 26 children, 46 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren, it was announced today.

For his paternal record, the twice-married winner was awarded several gifts presented personally by Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

He Didn't Mean It

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A typographical error sent Dallas City Council candidate Jack Johnson frantically telephoning newspapers yesterday.

The mistake, in copies of his platform he sent out, left him saying: "I favor excessive and unnecessary spending in Dallas." Johnson assured newsmen he meant just the opposite.

A loan supervision officer at the head office for the past six years, Parisi is now in international loan and investment administration.

He joined the bank in Los Angeles and served in various branches there until 1953.

BUDGET ELEGANCE — The practicality of plastic molded to the sleek lines of Scandinavian make for company-proud living amid the scuffle of little blue jeans. Available in three or four panel units. This is part of the contemporary collection at Montgomery Ward, Fourth and Lootens, San Rafael.

Form Follows Function

Frank Lloyd Wright Sets (The) Keynotes And Furniture Designers Follow Suit

"Form must follow function," said the great architect Frank Lloyd Wright.

Furniture designers have taken more than a hint . . . have made the forms beautiful and the furniture precisely functional. Some of the most exciting new advances on this order, will be in stores very shortly, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee, reports.

Many women will like the new dresser designed especially for the small and foldable items in the feminine wardrobe. The only possible disadvantage is that the girl will no longer have an excuse for disorder.

Compartments scaled to store everything from earrings to stockings, lingerie and handkerchiefs make "getting ready" in a hurry, a breeze.

There is even a special section where large handbags can stand upright.

THE PLAN-IT-YOURSELFERS, particularly if they have a new family room or home office in mind will be attracted to a new "knock-down" collection.

It includes white plastic tops in six different sizes, high or low legs and a three drawer chest base. You can choose a section that will fit as if it were tailor made for your space and work needs.

Headboards and a hanging night shelf are also available in this small cost group.

THE STYLIST of one lower-priced upholstered furniture group has attempted to make decorating easier for most of us who can't carry color accurately in our mind's eye. With this group of chairs and sofas, stores will show large samples of fabric of a certain color and texture.

Attached to each sample will be three related, or go-with colors and textures.

When you decide on the cover color for your sofa, for instance, you can easily find a variety of contrasting or harmonizing fabrics for chairs or draperies.

STAY-A-BEDS get special codling from two new night tables. The square-lined Laureate in Honduras mahogany has three handsome knobs on the front.

Pull out the upper two and you have generous-sized drawers.

Pull out the third and you have a formica-topped shelf, proofed against moist glasses or hot cups.

Another table has a sliding bowl-shaped tray, in the bottom drawer, designed to hold small clutter. It slips easily from side to side.

NEW SOUNDS IN INTERIORS

The newest thing in 1959 Furniture Fashions is one of the oldest in the universe —sound. It takes new importance, however, with new developments in that two-headed wonder, stereophonic sound. Placement of the speakers may completely revise your room arrangement, or vice-versa.

As for coordinating new purchases of hi-fi, stereo, or piano with your new decor, there is a wide range of styles.

Otherwise, this is the season for finding fine pieces that will fit with the lovely things you already own.

COMPOSED DIGNITY — The term applies not only to the composed grace of this Florentine-inspired Comtesse collection, but to Tamalpais, the most composed dog in San Rafael. Like the furniture, he may be seen at Dorothy Kell Furniture at Fifth and B streets. The parti-colored pooch frequently makes himself a part of window displays, with which he seems always to harmonize. He is motionless for such long periods of time that passersby take him for stuffed. (Independent-Journal Photo)

Elegance From Classic Italy

For centuries Italy has been the magnetic land toward which travelers to Europe are irresitably drawn. As religious pilgrims, as scholars, as musicians, as vacationers, the visitors find Italy rich in inspiration and a fuller appreciation for the beauty and joy of life.

To the artist and designer, the enduring works of Michaelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Botticelli and countless other Renaissance creators are a vast source of inspiration. Even today, in Italy's reawakening, the genius of these 16th century masters is felt. The classic elegance of Italy's classic period of furniture of this period is influencing design not only of Italy but of leading American makers of fine furniture. The new Contessa Collection by Mount Airy recaptures the classic elegance of Italian styles of the 18th and 19th centuries.

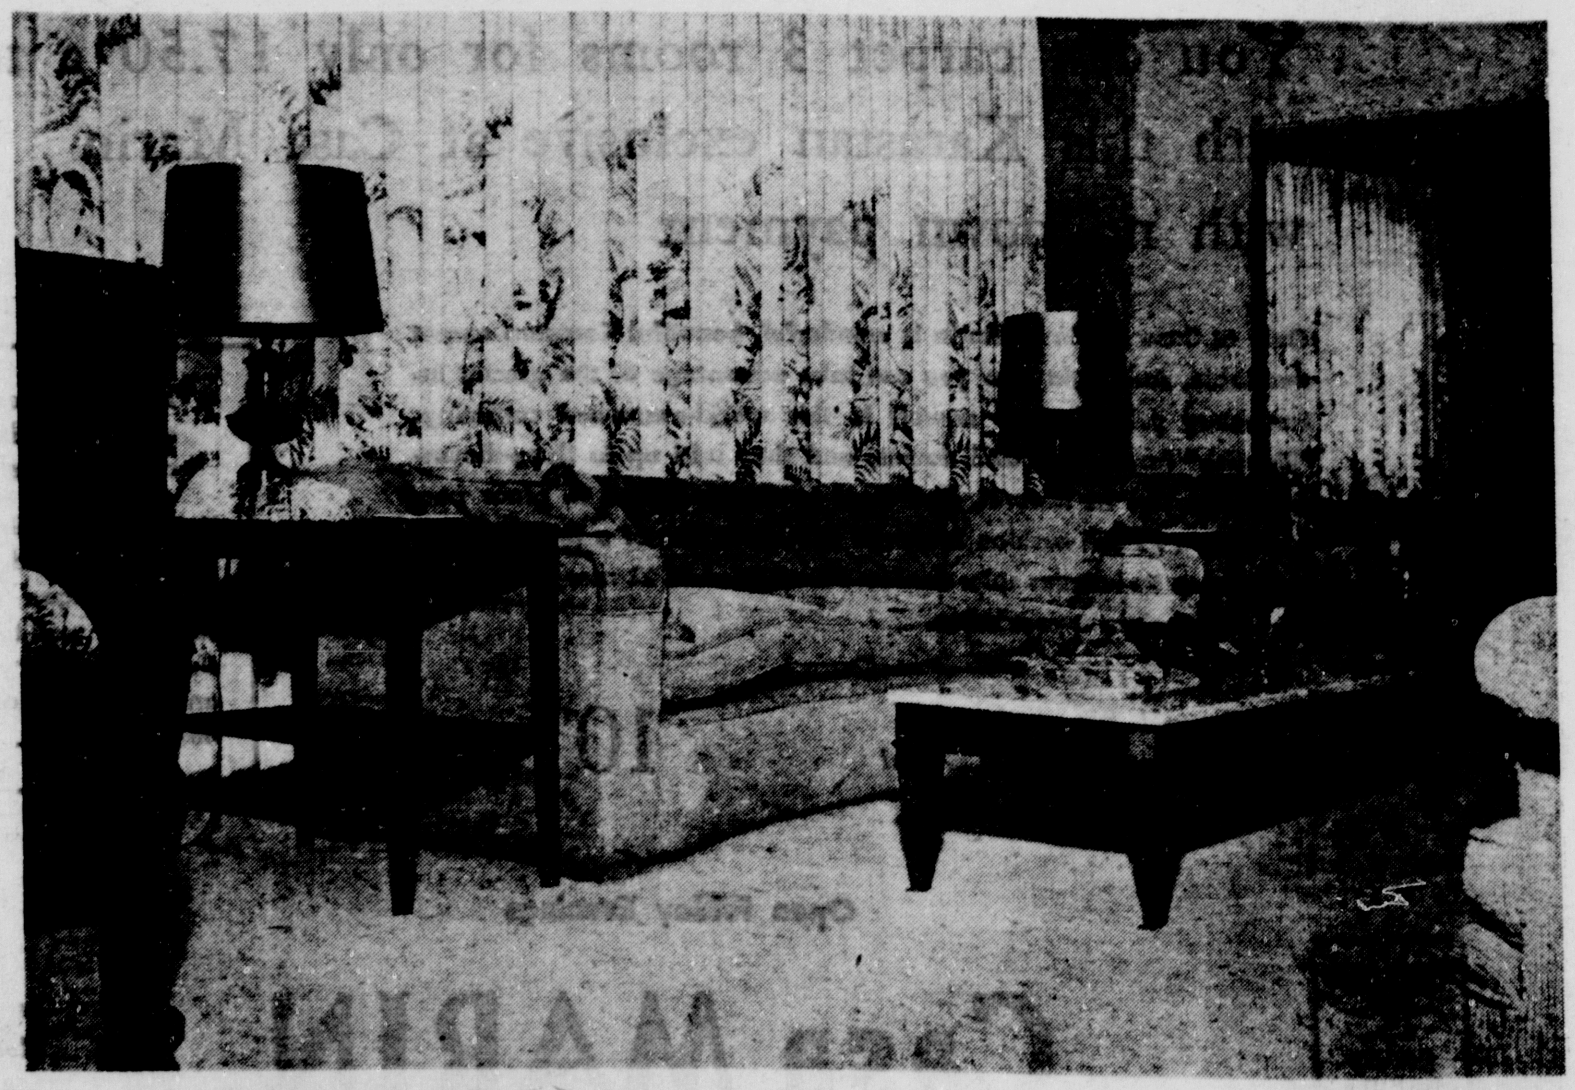
Designed by Ray Sobota exclusively for Mount Airy, the Contessa Collection is drawn from his research and study in Tuscany, in which famous Florence is located. The research was more than varnish-deep, as Sobota was accompanied by Hale Yokley, design coordinator for Mount Airy, which is actually two firms—one specializing in chairs.

The new collection adapts the fineness of Florentine villa furnishings to today's finer homes in correlated groupings for all rooms.

Contessa is executed in selected walnut to which has been imparted a patina of age in three color tones. Brass fittings reminiscent of Florentine craftsmanship have been burnished to harmonize.

Three antique chair models were bought, to be copied in meticulous detail.

The revival of Italian design goes hand-in-hand with the trend toward traditional, with the accent on gracious living.



UNDERSTATED ELEGANCE — Deep pile nylon carpeting and printed sheer draperies tailored with precision underscore the unobtrusive elegance of the Wishard Brown residence at 18 Via Cheparro in Greenbrae. Bell's Draperies and Carpets, of 1212 Fourth street in San Rafael, furnished sedate background for favorite traditional pieces when the Browns moved recently to a new home. Soft rose walls and rose beige carpet complement gold of barrel-back chair. Green-gold of sofa is repeated in drapery figure. Accents are copper lamp shades and brass. (Independent-Journal Photo)

Kitchen May Be Arranged In 5 Ways

With today's factory-built wood kitchen cabinets available in sizes and styles to suit practically any kitchen arrangement, the home-maker has wide latitude in planning a new kitchen.

As a preliminary step, it is advisable to study the five basic kitchen designs. One may be more adaptable to the room dimensions or the family preference than another.

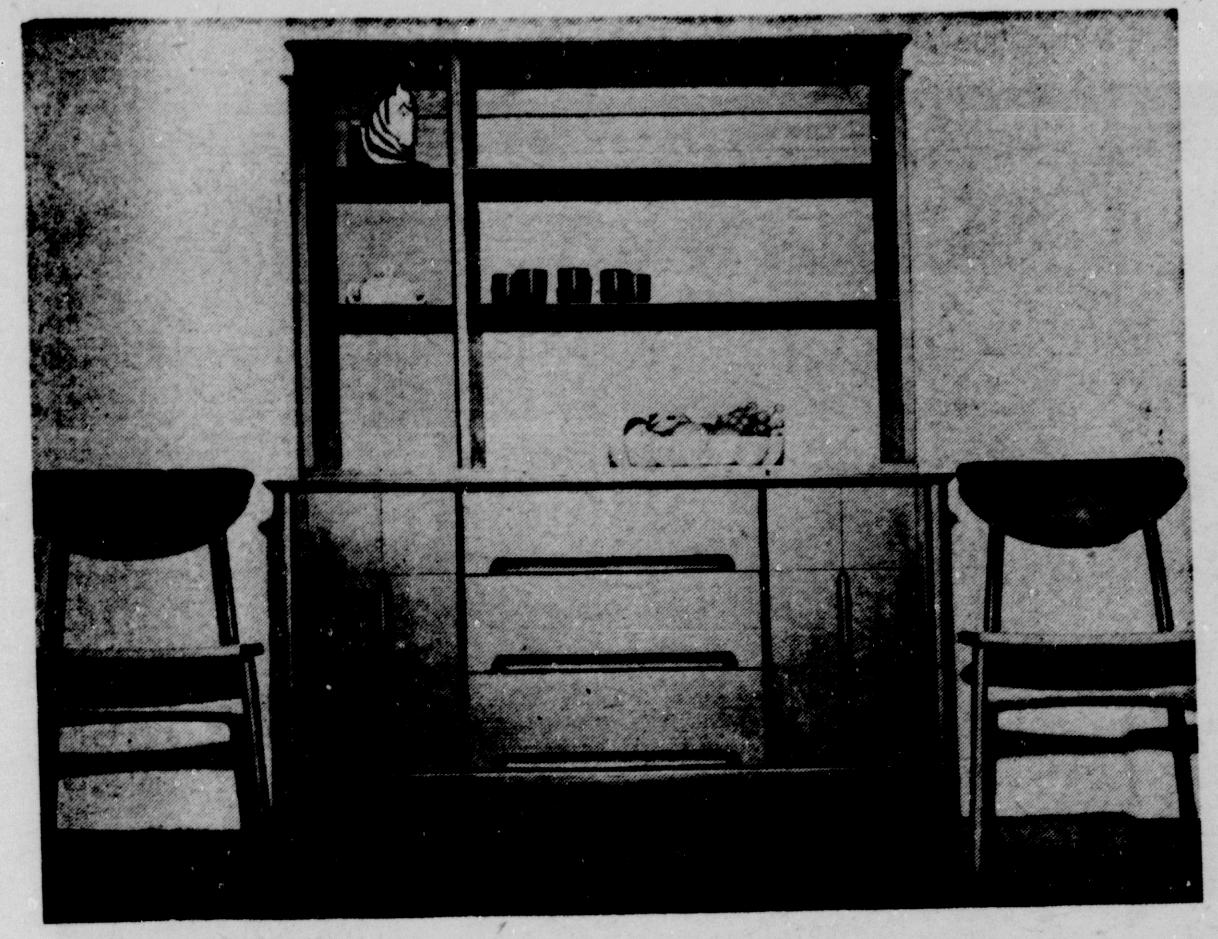
ONE-WALL KITCHEN — Simplest plan of all. It is ideal for limited space in a narrow room, but it adds steps because it strings all appliances and cabinets out in a long row.

TWO-WALL, OR CORRIDOR KITCHEN — A better plan. This has two facing rows of wood cabinets and appliances. The work triangle of refrigerator, sink and range can be made compact; but through traffic may be a nuisance. It is economical because there are no corners to turn.

L-SHAPED KITCHEN — Practical and economical because it frees space along two additional walls for dining, utility, planning, recreation, sewing, laundry, and so on. Cross traffic is not a problem, but the work triangle is bigger and requires more steps.

U-SHAPED KITCHEN—Some home-makers rank this as the ideal plan. It permits placing each work area on one of the three walls involved. The work triangle is kept compact and through traffic is directed away from work areas.

ISLAND OR PENINSULA KITCHEN — Excellent where space permits. Use of independent units brings work areas closer together while separating them from dining and laundry areas. At a right angle to a wall, the peninsula adds counter space for serving, eating or extra storage.



52 PIECES — The variations on this Scandinavian-inspired theme actually total 52. The correlated pieces for living room, dining room, bedroom or den are of warm walnut with inserts of myrtle burl, 'the jewel of woods.' Shaped wood pulls replace hardware for a sleek look. Available at California Furniture Co., Third and B streets in San Rafael. (Independent-Journal Photo)

BUILD IT YOURSELF

This Portable Tool Chest Carries Own Bench, Too

A combination tool chest and work bench serves as a portable on-the-job shop.

The tapered legs are fastened to the bench top with butt hinges. The leg rail also serves as a handle when the bench is folded. It is shaped and notched as shown in the detail drawing.

The sides are of 1 by 6-inch lumber, 20½ inches long, tapered at one end, cut out at the other end to fit the small lid, and slotted to fit the handle rail. The back and front are of 1 by 7 or 1 by 8-inch lumber ripped to fit.

Assemble the chest to the bench, using glue and 5-penny finishing nails. Glue and nail the separations inside the chest.

Hinge the two lids in place, and fit the lids and sides with cabinet hooks. Use a pair of hooks also to hold the legs in folded position.

Take Guesswork Out Of Yardage

TV dominates many a family gathering and, consequently, the arrangement of furniture. In decorating around a TV set it is important to remember that all of the people do not look at TV all of the time. If possible, the set should be either a handsome piece of furniture in its own or integrated into the architecture by means of built-ins.

In Its Place— Mud, That Is

Do you have a back porch or back entryway which isn't completely in use? Smart architects with an eye for utilizing space suggest converting this area into a "mud room."

Outfitted with a shower stall, wash basins, cabinets and closets, the mud room becomes an ideal spot for gardeners and grubby children to freshen up before entering the living portions of the home.

Add wall paneling and built-in cabinetry of a handsome and easily tailored wood like west coast hemlock, and the mud room makes a luxurious guest bathroom. Flooring should be of tough, easily washed type, like vinyl tile.

INGENUITY PLUS — Plus a carefully chosen chesterfield and carpet, that is. The Arthur Wilmes home at 200 Canyon road in Fairfax has evolved from a three-room cottage to a pleasant home with the beamed ceiling living room done in browns and beiges. Style Is More Than Name

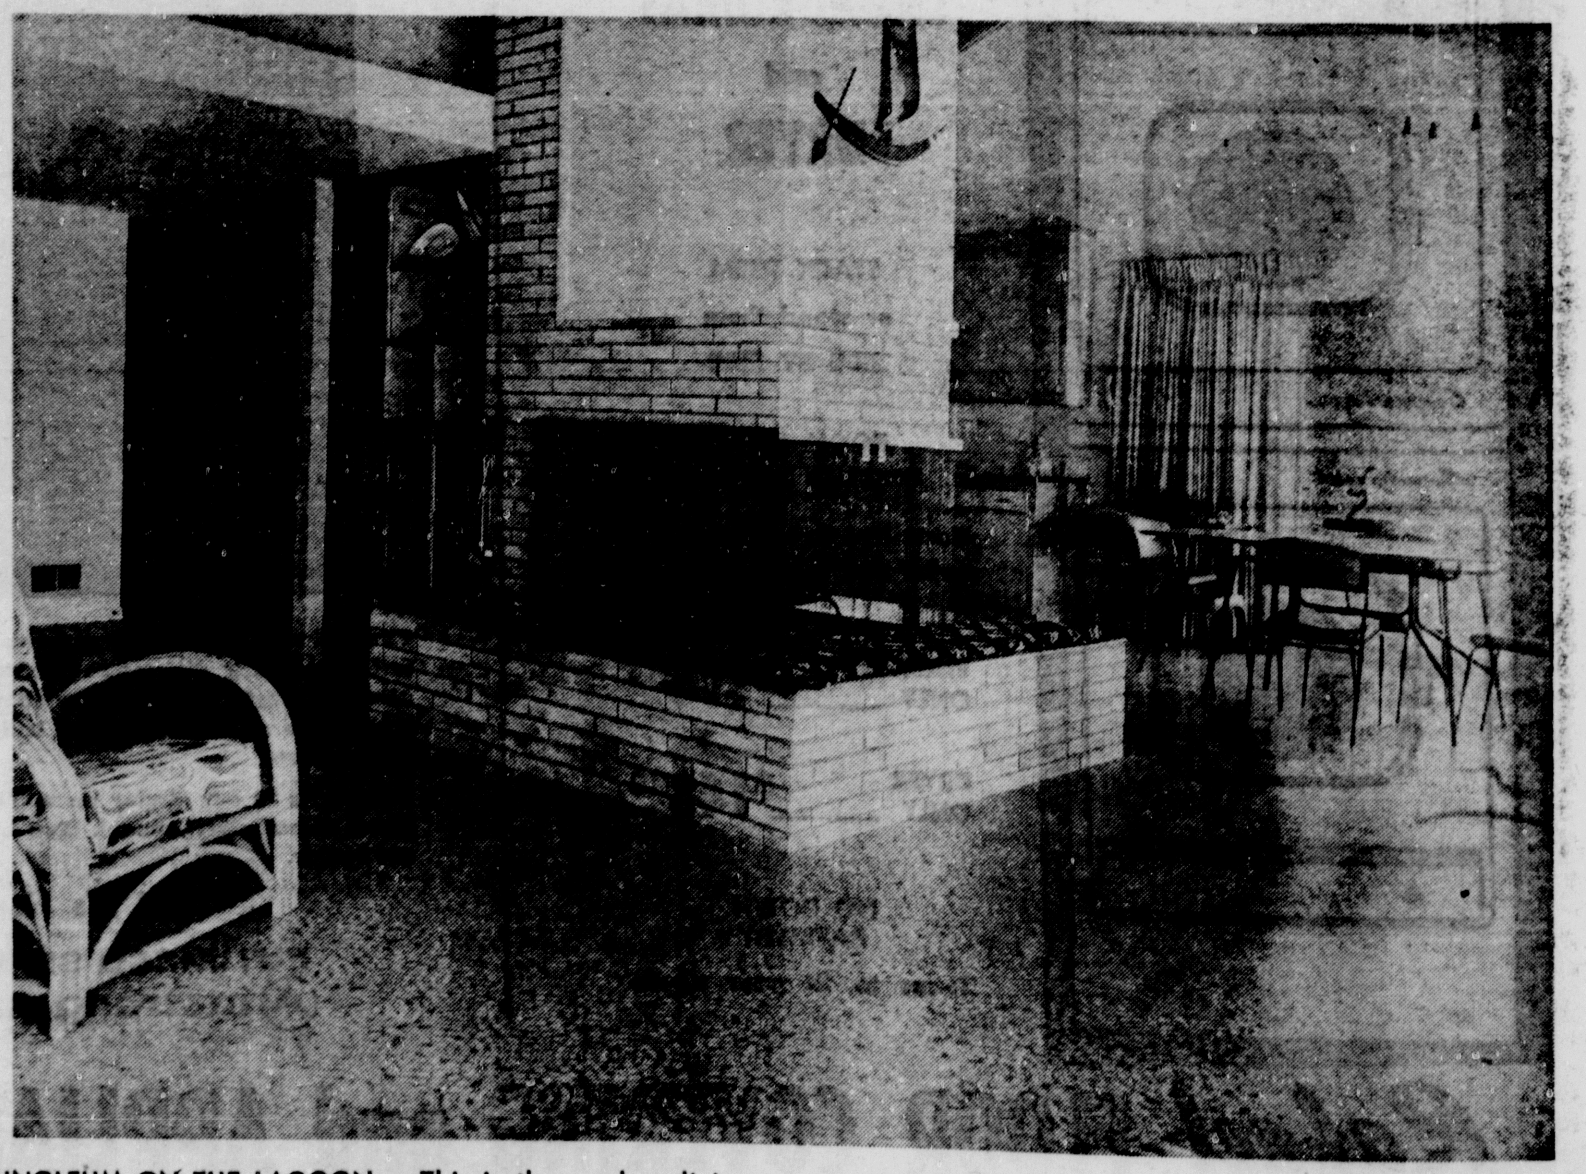
American furniture may well be reaching a mature style of its own. The 1959 Spring Furniture Fashions show refinement of previous trends, rather than bold strides in several directions, as has been the case in the past.

The light, slim-legged look which was imported with Scandinavian pieces has stayed around long enough to influence the modest price class of furniture. American manufacturers borrow freely from this graceful, functional furniture, sometimes adding a touch of the oriental for interest.

THE FAMILY of modular units is gaining "in-laws" of all nationalities, as this flexible way of creating storage space comes into its own. Not only do modular units come in all the old standy-by buffets and bookcases, but they now combine to provide desk space house hi-fi and stereo units and provide bedroom drawer space.

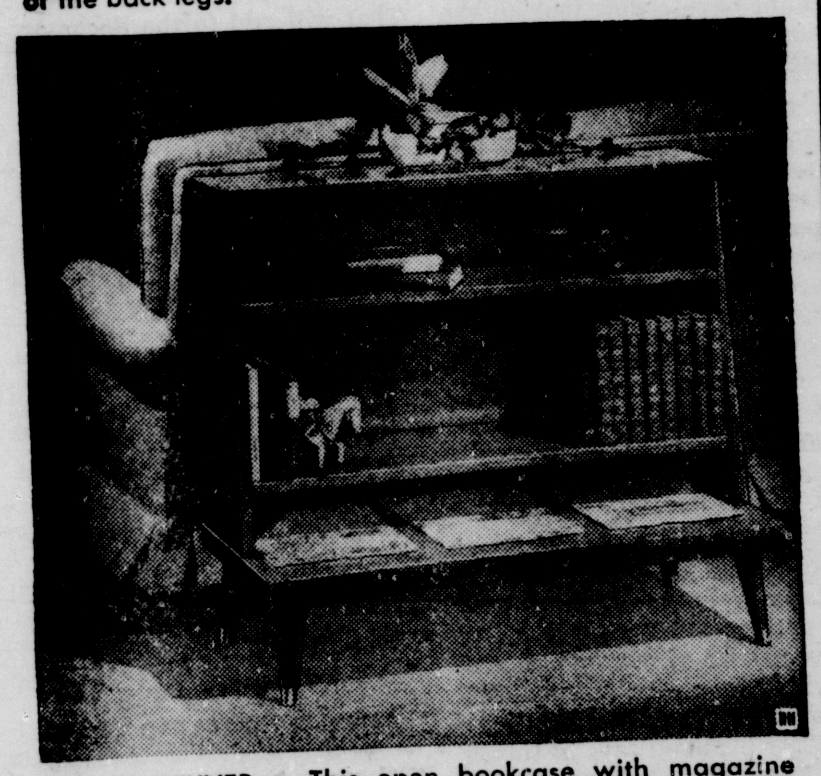
Correlated groupings are also in a family way, with more modulars being developed which can move from living room to bedroom to dining room with equal ease. For families who may have to move, they're an ideal solution.



LINOLEUM ON THE LAGOON — This is the modern living room of a model home in the Belvedere Lagoon area, where each room in the house was enhanced by tasteful use of embossed inlaid linoleum. Carl and Ed Majesky, owners of San Anselmo Furniture, 112 Pine street, San Anselmo, engineered and specified the selection of patterns. "This is but one of many fine homes that are using the beauty and durability of modern patterns in inlaid linoleum," the Majeskys point out.

CONTEMPORA — Designer William J. Clingman spent two months in Italy studying new Italian furniture before he made his first drawings for Contempora. Dining room-bedroom group combines parqueted elm burl with travertine tops. Bases of chests are antique brass.

ANATOMICAL—The shape of the human back received special study from Larry Peabody before he designed this new dining group. Chair backs are of molded plywood rolled back at the top and pierced by extensions of the back legs.



SLY MANEUVER — This open bookcase with magazine shelf is sofa-height, so that it can put to work that bleak expanse behind the free-standing sofa. Bookcase also stands on its own as room divider, as the back is nicely finished. Legs, tipped with brass, are removable.

Dual Purpose

Rugged woodgrained bookshelves can be built around an old-fashioned radiator to improve a room's appearance with a custom-made installation.

Bookshelves are easy to assemble from stock lumber and hardboard paneling. Predecorated hardboard paneling is available at lumber yards, and it is applied quickly to the solid backing with contact cement.

The smooth plastic finish will resist heat and moisture, and it can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

What's In A Corner?

Corners will not be troublesome to decorate if they are considered for what they are —intersections of two walls. If the wall is treated as a single composition with central or off-centered interest, a blank corner will seem appropriate. Like the white mat around a watercolor, you might say.

Magic In Screens

at Dorothy Kell's you'll find the keynote to beauty in homefurnishings . . .

The Time's Here

How Long Has It Been Since You Redecorated Your Home?

Take a good look at your home. Why not equip yourself with paint, wall paper, fabrics, and organize for a spring refurbishing?

As this letter indicates, in these days of easily applied paints and wall coverings, one could have a new look in the home once every month or at least twice a year:

QUESTION: "I decorate my living room in seasons—fall and spring. The four colors I use are yellow, dark green, pumpkin, bronze, with a beige background in draperies, carried out in throw pillows, cushions, candles and other accessories.

"My rug is a narrow multi-stripe wool (red, blue, green, yellow and taupe) bought with the idea of wide compatability.

"My walls are pink and white this year. For spring I plan new drapes of white with a pattern of azelea color and two shades of moss green and will change the room accessories accordingly.

"My husband says he thinks this method of decorating makes visitors a little uncomfortable and the home has an air of uncertainty to it. Would you call this idea a decorating faux pas?"

ANSWER: The decorating idea should be very attractive but men are not happy about change, however, and it often takes them a long while to become accustomed to a new decorating scheme. Frequent changes could be confusing to the man of the house."

QUESTION: "My husband insisted on having the living room windows in our new ranch house go right to the baseboard. The builders suggested a three-foot margin below the windows. These large windows are directly in front of our fireplace and I find it impossible to decorate as I should really place our large sofa in that area for a cozy grouping. What shall I do?"

ANSWER: Why not put a draw curtain at the lower half of the window or use a matchstick bamboo draw blind — very handsome and effective. Shutters are another idea. That will add to the decor as well as close up that undesirable expanse of the lower part of the window.

RESTYLED—The piano is staging a comeback in interiors. Today's, however, is as far removed from the bulky old upright as granddaughter is from her bustled, corseted grandmother. This is one of several contemporaries from tthe collection of Ray Hime, 1301 Fourth street, San Rafael.

This Is No One Scheme Color Season

This season one hears little shouting about "the color scheme." However, if you peek around, you'll find a bounty of colors. There are brilliant hues and acres of subtle neutrals.

Last fall's blue-and-green combination is in evidence in plaids and prints. Gold and white stand on their own or join warm corals and browns. In the provincials, browns are still the favorite, and more of those charming monochrome pattern wallpapers are being seen.

Whether you take your patterns bold or modest, chances are excellent that you can find wallpaper to match. Some patterns are made in both bold and miniature versions, so that the little window may be treated delicately while the important one gets its proper due.

As for matching, it used to take supernatural strength to cover all the possible places to find a plain fabric to match the design in a patterned one. Nowadays, you're likely to find them hanging side by side.

And paints follow carpets and wallpapers in colors of the season.

Don't expect the matching to be as easy in September or next March as it is now. By then a new family of subtle shades may have nudged your favorite into the "rare" category. Play safe and buy the whole decor at once.

Planters Are 'Smart'

An attractive planter in the living, dining or recreation room serves as an interesting decorative feature. Framed with lumber and finished with plastic-finished paneling in a handsome woodgrain, it will add "eye appeal" to any room. This predecorated hardboard material can also be applied over an old planter to renew its appearance.

They Get Along Together Well

Don't be cowed by all the styles of furniture available. The most successful decorators mix periods at will. In so doing, however, they do not mix too flagrantly different styles. One will be somewhat classic. Many of the contemporary modular units are perfectly compatible with period pieces. They become part of the understated background.

Match Them

Matching patterns in draperies and wallpaper or draperies and tile give a color scheme continuity. Especially useful in small interiors.

Who Says Mahogany Is Red? It Is Really Tawny Instead

Mahogany has always been synonomous with "beauty."

This year it takes on additional beauty as furniture manufacturers bring out collections in new tones ranging from cafe-au-lait to deep rich brown.

For generations mahogany was finished in red shades, first introduced by Chippendale.

Many persons began to think of the wood itself as red when actually it has the gold and tawny tones of a good sherry wine.

THE RANGE of 44 new shades now on the market or scheduled for production are much closer to mahogany's true color. These newer lighter tones are much better suited to small modern rooms. They also seem to enhance the proportion of today's furniture designed to be used in such rooms.

Although mahogany has always connoted luxury, it is less expensive than many other woods. This is because it is plentiful in the forests of Africa and South America.

Although it is a hard wood, it is easily worked with cabinet tools. Carvings, flutings and shaped parts of furniture such as chair spindles and legs, are produced with ease by modern machinery.

Incidentally, such furniture ornament in mahogany always has a fine crisp line when the motif demands it.

THIN-LINE STYLING — For those 'hard to arrange' rooms, the versatility of this Thunderbird sectional is the answer.

The two-piece arrangement above is one of four available at Clark's Sample Furniture, 526 Third street, San Rafael. Choice of decorator-keyed colors.

Forty Kinds Of Executive Desks Made

Your desk is one of the most personal piece of furniture you can own. A desk becomes strongly identified with the one who uses it. Partly because of this identification a desk often becomes an heirloom.

Both imaginative design and functional convenience are seen in the new desks this year, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee reports.

For instance, the distinctive design feature of a kidney-shaped desk in oiled walnut is it tambour case. (Tambour is the name for sliding panelling of thin strips of wood, mounted on a flexible backing. It's what made roll-top desks famous.)

ON THIS NEW model tambour is used on the curved section of the front where it conceals a compartment for bottles or tall books. On the right side are three spacious drawers. The tambour continues around the back so the desk can face the room.

On this side, there is a book niche.

Extra space is often needed for "desk work" and many new compact units have drop leaves to provide the needed area. A hanging wall cabinet has a drop front lined with stain-proof white formica.

Drawer fronts, not visible when the unit is closed, may be plastic-covered in brilliant contrasting colors.

AN ENTIRE MAJOR new furniture group is designed for the "executive who has arrived."

Versatile enough for home or office, it has smooth contemporary lines. More than 40 different variations of executive desks, all with rich hand-rubbed surfaces, are included. The collection also offers tables, chests, chairs and upholstered pieces, for the home or a luxurious office.

One-Color Scheme

One-color schemes are useful in smaller rooms and those subject to casual use—such as bedrooms and hallways. The exception—monochrome schemes in neutrals.

This may seem arbitrary, but a glance at long-lived-in rooms shows that complementary hues have won their place in the picture.

Shortcuts Smooth Out Big Move

People have learned to move from one home to another with a minimum of effort, although time was when moving day was clutter and confusion.

These days the housewife makes an Advance Plan to make moving easier, and modern moving companies are more efficient.

Be aware of every snag that may occur, however. The morning of moving day pack a basket with sandwiches or fried chicken, beverage, paper plates, cups and napkins. This will come in handy when the children clamor for food.

In another basket put soap and towels, sponges and a box of an easy no-rinse type cleaner so bathroom and kitchen may be mopped before you move in. The family will be pleased that the bathroom is livable when they arrive.

ODDS AND ENDS may be carried to the new home, and this may be done in advance. And if Mom is clever, she'll sort out and dispose of useless articles long before the big day.

If you are the well-heeled type, you can get real luxury service from movers—everything packed down to the last ash tray and moved and set up in your home before you move in—according to your pre-arranged floor plan.

This costs extra. You can do it cheaper by doing it yourself.

If you have any doubts about reputable movers call a reliable organization to check on one. The mover will then give you an estimate of the cost, telling you how many cartons, barrels, wardrobe containers and crates you will need to rent or buy.

He can supply packing tips such as these from one of the large moving companies:

IF APPLIANCES must be moved, prepare for it. Defrost your refrigerator, wipe it dry, have it serviced for moving, have the motor bolted down. Television set, phonograph, dishwasher, clothes washer, and dryer should be checked and movable parts secured.

A food-loaded freezer may have to be emptied.

Remove casters from furniture. Put them in tagged sacks for identification. Keep jewelry, cash and important papers in your own possession.

Put large, heavy pieces of china at the bottom of the barrel. Plates of the same size may be wrapped in bundles of 2 or 3, using plenty of paper between, and set on the side, not flat. Stemware and small art objects should be wrapped individually and placed toward the top of the barrel.

PROTECT MIRRORS with heavy brown paper on both sides before crating. Pack books and phonograph records in extra heavy cartons. Pack records on end, side by side, and books back to back. Wrap valuable books in heavy paper.

Put paraffin or masking tape over drug and cosmetic bottles before packing them. Matches, cleaning fluids and other inflammable materials should not be packed.

Mattresses should never be rolled, but put in cartons supplied by the mover. He also has cardboard wardrobes for clothes. Label cartons and barrels so you know the contents and don't overpack containers.

Dining Nook Near Range Saves Steps, Adds Decor

A dining nook near the range saves Mom many steps in serving meals and snacks in addition to bringing coziness to family eating in the kitchen. A dining nook makes a kitchen more useful and may serve to enhance the decor.

Woodgrain panels of the predecorated hardboard, give the dining area in the kitchen a rich-looking appearance. They may be applied over any solid material. Their use eliminates any refinishing or redecorating in the future.

The baked plastic surface defies soil, grease, moisture, heat, wear and other abuses. It is easily wiped clean with a damp or sudsy cloth to eliminate time-consuming semi-annual cleaning chores.

A serving ledge between the range and the dining nook may help Mom serve food without moving from the stove or work table.

Period Quandry

Period furniture may be set in an interior intimating of its own time, or it may be set like jewels amid contemporary simplicity. Actually, the interiors contemporary with the pieces were more ornate than most American interiors.

New In Design

Keynote Of Spring 1959 Is Refinement And More Of It

This should be a stimulating spring for every woman who plans to refurnish or buy just one new piece. The nation's top designers have turned out new, eye-filling and beautiful furniture in all styles from Colonial to contemporary, from Renaissance to "Rocket Modern."

"What," you say, "how can that be? The colonies stopped being colonies in 1776 and the Renaissance was 400-odd years ago. What do you mean these boys are turning out new designs?"

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee explains it this way. Many designers are influenced by the great works of another time or place. They create new designs that, for large numbers of buyers, have the charm of the established older styles. Yet they are scaled and simplified for today's new homes and ways of living.

MOST OF US mentally associate Early American furniture with New England. Today's furniture frequently called Early American has a far richer heritage of design source than merely 17th century England.

Design motifs popular among rural cabinet makers in Sweden, Austria, and Holland have been combined or adapted by our modern designers for a richer, more interesting result.

One of the new colonial groups is "Cades Cove" which has all of the appeal and more comfort than most true antiques.

From Sweden came the idea for two of its most functional and handsome pieces, a pair of left and right consoles. They can be used separately to form a balanced room arrangement. Or placed on either side of a corner case, they become compact wall units.

STANDING END to end they make a long and very unusual buffet.

An inlaid motif on chest and hutch fronts is of Dutch origin. The pieces are cherry wood finished in a warm brown tone.

Harking right back to the stagecoach days is the three-sectioned "courting glass" to be hung over a chest or hall table. The two outside mirrors fold toward each other to cover the center mirror with handsome wood panels.

Designer W. T. Baker says this is only a slightly enlarged version of the mirrors colonial women carried on their travels for primping.

IN A NEW GROUP attracting nation wide attention from retail stores, Californian William Taylor, combined four design sources.

Chinese, Japanese, Danish and American Shaker furniture motifs are divorced geographically. But they are pleasantly combined, in this new group, in their emphasis on slim square lines, and respect for handsome natural wood grain.

Called Forum, the coordinated collection offers furniture for several rooms. Among them is a very contemporary dining group.

Despite its modern lines, one gets the impression of gentle ruggedness associated with hand-craftmanship as compared to machine modern."

FOR INSTANCE, square or flat legs are joined to table tops or cabinets with curved brackets; spindles of a rocker back taper gracefully from the center of their length; a cabinet for china has handsomely grained wood panels, outlined in a darker wood, which reminds you a little of Chinese furniture.

A little server with wide overhanging top could have been inspired by one of the old dough tables of ancestry.

All these world-wide designs influences, brought together in functional handsome furniture, mean your home can express your own personal preference in art forms.

Many People Try To Use Too Many Colors At Once

Many people use too many colors in their living rooms, points out a prominent interior decorator.

Inexperience is responsible for many mistakes, she says, which account for misuse of color in walls, and clashes in dominant and accent colors.

Biggest mistakes are made in selecting wall color and texture, she points out, when this should be by far the easiest starting area. Since walls account for 80 per cent of background, they need to be neutral or in subdued tints.

Safest course is to use wood paneling for the walls, says this expert, who points out that popular softwoods such as west coast hemlock, Douglas fir or western red cedar, have natural built-in colors and tints in low-tone, neutral shades.

VIRTUALLY NO color will clash with the soft, tawny shades of fir, the beige-to-champagne color of hemlock, or the warmer autumn colors of cedar.

About 15 per cent must be in dominant color, the decorator advises, and this will develop in upholstry fabrics, rugs and draperies. Another five per cent is allowed for the sharp accent colors, which should either compliment the dominant color or be on the extreme opposite side of the color wheel.

No two colors should be used in equal amounts.

If you follow this plan, you need have no worries about your colors because books, magazines, flowers and pillows will give plenty of sparkle.

BE SURE you are right with your great mass of background, she advises, which are your walls. You can finish either fir, hemlock or cedar with clear varnish or lacquer to retain their lovely colors, texture and grain, or you can tint them with a brush on and wipe off technique to get almost any soft, neutral background desired.

On To Elegance!

Air Of Pure Luxury Takes A Little Pure, Hard Gold

How do you get elegance on a budget? How do you create elegance in a small house?

Before you explore the possibilities, make sure it's elegance that you want. Traditional furniture is as out of keeping with some families' ways of living as to feel "borrowed." If you love the feel of rough tweedy fabrics, why "ham it up" with rich brocades.

Supposing, however, that you really do want the feeling of luxury. One way to do it is to confine the luxury to one room of the house (bedroom, perhaps) and let out the purse strings a little on fabric and carpet.

The other way is to play down with neutrals and simple lines the majority of pieces in a room and play up the few bits of luxury you do have.

FACE ONE FACT. You can't create an illusion of elegance without a little of the genuine article, the more the better.

When in doubt, pick subdued lines and patterns. When you're sure that this one bold print, that flagrant velvet chair, the deep white pile carpet is what your room needs, be sure that you keep it in mind with every future purchase. Right down to the ash trays.

NEVER underestimate the power of ash trays, by the way. You may economize by finishing the furniture yourself, but one cheap china ash tray can cast bad reflections on your beautifully polished surface.

Lamps, while they take the most looking, are most

While finding the right lamps takes a lot of looking, it is time well spent, particularly if the budget is slim. It may well pay to throw away the shade that comes with the base and buy one you really like.

SPEAKING OF throwing things away, the search for elegance quite often begins in the just-emptied corner.

There is something quite lofty about a space left wondering about itself.

'Neighbor' Wall (Special Solution)

One of the bigger "discoveries" of the year are perforated tiles, used as interior and exterior screens. They present a subtle solution to the situation of too much neighborliness on the side where more windows are in order. Translucent plastic or rice paper screens can substitute for the usual kind of windows. These also solve the direct sun problem.

Color On The March

You can carry one color throughout a house without becoming monotonous. In each room, assign it a different role. What is fine for four walls in the bedroom may be quite sufficient as a chair in the living room.

Attention Corner

When a corner becomes a center of interest, it draws some attention from other parts of the room. This may be done by facing of chairs, by the repeated oval of a rug form or by an echo in the form of similar focal points.

The Future In Decoration Already Here

By ANDREW C. LANG

The room of tomorrow is closing in on today.

Interior Designer Henry End, member of the American Institute of Decorators, illustrated the point in "The Room of Tomorrow" at the 1958 New York Hotel Show.

"I had a feeling when I was decorating the room that I'd better hurry or else some of my good features would be outmoded," says End, of Miami, Los Angeles, New York.

WHILE HIS IDEAS are aimed at hotel or motel owners, many could be applied in modern homes. There is for instance the bedroom that becomes a living room when you close your eyes for a second.

Studio lounges slip into walls at the turn of a switch, lighting becomes heightened or dimmed by turning a wall dial, television works from remote controls.

The lighting eliminates extra tables and lamps. The old-fashioned dumbwaiter has been electronified, and brings baggage or breakfast from the main floor to your bedroom swiftly and silently.

"OTHER WONDERFUL features are chairs that never need reupholstering. The proccess involves material welded to foam rubber, End explains.

The bathroom is Roman American and walled in marble-like vinyl. The double wash basins are turquoise. Light emanates from small ½-inch circles integrated into a luminous plastic ceiling, offering an even light. The mirror that separates the two wash basins has an inner light that provides even more illumination.

"Even some ideas that seem frighteningly expensive must be evaluated by the end result: Will it save on repairs, cover up scarred or scratched walls as in the case of plasticized board for walls, give handsomer effects, save time and maintenance? These are questions the homemaker should ask herself," says End.

"ONE VERY practical point for women is the double shower head," says End. "This bathroom has two, one lower than the other so the lady of the house can take a shower without soaking her hair."

End advises women planning new homes to investigate all the ideas they can muster up.

A Slick Trick For Your Closet

A slick-trick storage closet in a California family room has some easy-to-follow features that can be duplicated anywhere. This closet makes almost complete use of available space by means of a clever system of dividers. As shown, a basic framework was installed with slots cut for horizontal and vertical dividers of quarter-inch perforated panels. The panels slide out to give easy access to supplies like napkins and table mats.

Vertical dividers slide out for easy cleaning. Swinging doors were made from scrap lumber properly braced.

DURABLE DEN — Sleek Danish walnut boasts formica tops on modular cabinets, designed to hold hobbies or books free from dust. Chair and ottoman are adjustable to 5 positions.

A Glowing Example

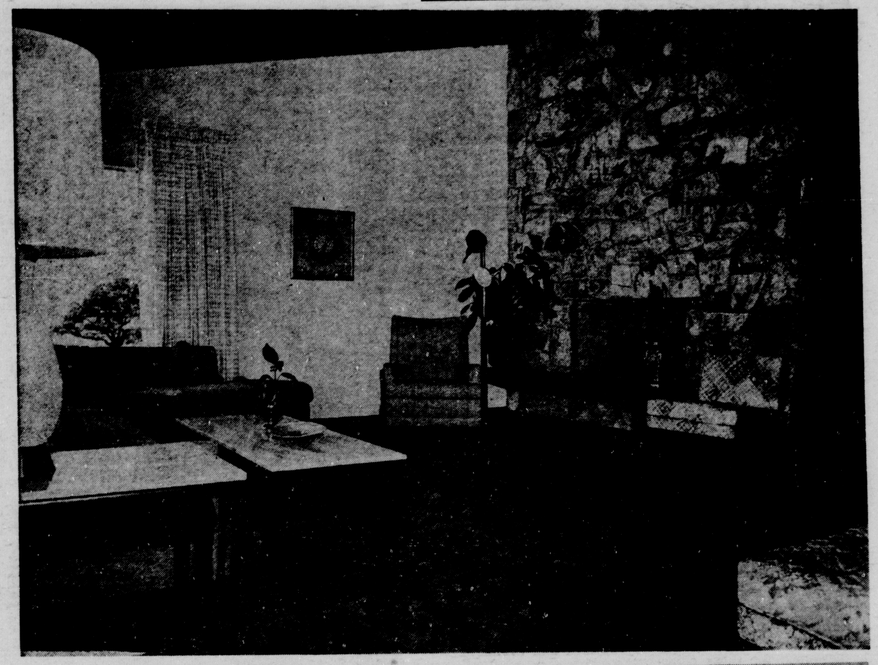
An elegant home calls for elegant furnishings. Elegance, as interpreted by Casa Marin Furniture of San Rafael for the new model home at Greenbrae, is the kind of restrained elegance which does not shout. It is there in subdued colors, keyed to natural stone. It is there in fine woods, polished to the ultimate, especially the 100-inch-long cabinet housing stereo. It is there in fine accessories which belong to any time, but most especially to the setting in which they are places.

ONE TRUTH illustrated by the decor of this house is that true elegance is discreet. Expensive treatments, such as the gold squared wallpaper in the entrance hall, are countered by the straightforward driftwood treatment of beams. The fine corner sectional wears a fabric suited to corner window wear. Yet your fingertips tell you it is of the finest quality.

In the bedrooms, opulence is given freer reign. Again, with restraint of furniture designed not to blatantly imitate another time or place, but to hint a knowledge of it.

A TRIUMPH of understated elegance (can you think of a better term?) is the second bedroom, papered in grass cloth squares. A simple texture, but it speaks quality to those who know. The thick carpet affirms the opinion. Quilted white satin is regal.

If there is a moral to this story, it is "When in doubt, play it down."



HEARTH SETS THE TONE—Light blue walls complement warm tones of hearth stone, which are echoed in cinnamon carpet, gold textured "man's chair" and gray sectional. Chairs in quilted print of golds, blues and browns bind the scheme into luxurious whole.

COLOR SWITCH—Exterior of model home at 150 Via La Paz in Greenbrae was done in gold, driftwood and turquoise to echo interior themes, instead of vice-versa.

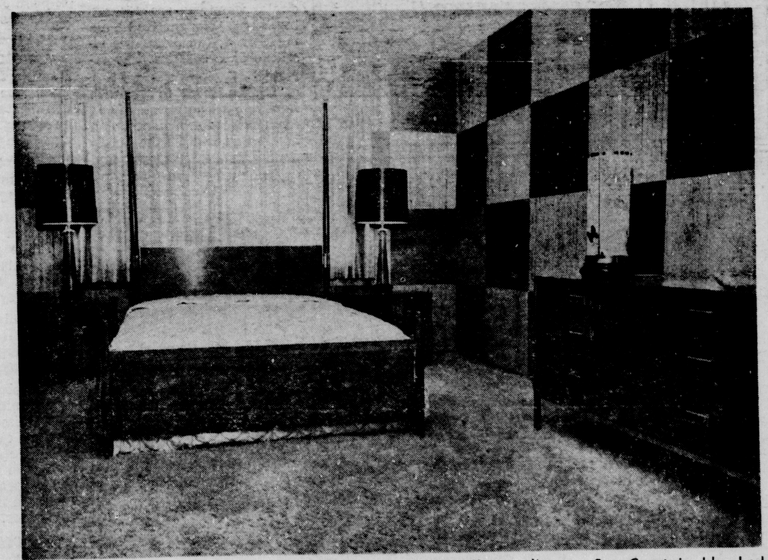
MASTER BEDROOM—The color is gold, the mood slightly oriental. Furniture is Tamerlane, a proven favorite, in pecan with accents of cherry. Spread is on-line-quilted hand-blocked print in gold. Wunda Weve carpet is ancient ivory. Draperies (not shown) are in gold traditional design, echoed in miniature at small window in alcove leading to bath.



MAN'S IDEA OF LUXURY—Milton Schwartz of Casa Marin chose WundaFluff carpet of nylon and checkerboard wall treatment in grass cloth squares to set off Drexel's new Sun Coast in bleached cherry. Custom quilted spread is white satin. This room vies with master bedroom for look of luxury. Fittings are bronze-finish anodyzed aluminum.

Elegance Comes To Mop Closets

Remember the old mop closet, sorry sight that it was? Mops of every description—wet and soggy, dry but oil-smelly — were wedded in a mass of confusion.

It was a production to mop the floor, a perish-the-thought chore. Scald your hands in the hot water, wrench your wrist trying to squeeze that ol' mop dry, that was the scene.

Newer mops are easier to handle what with finger tip controls that offer dry-hands scrubbing. Dacron and wool dust floor mops stay fresh and, like the nylon hand dusters that have removable pads, may be dunked in soapy water and hung up to dry in a jiffy.

AND THE COLORS are garden fresh, making it more fun to scrub with a citron-hued mop or dust with a frilly pink duster. The chi-chi mops are in delicate pinks, vibrant marigold or geranium shades, even to the mop handles.

New interest in a mop closet has introduced gay backgrounds for these colorful new accessories. Wall papers in plaids or festive kitchen scenes lend flattery to mop storage.

A recent fashion show of cleaning accessories offered many ideas for building closets. If the closet is to be an addition to a room, it may be built of any board or wood, finished with louvred doors or those of perforated steel lacquered white and lined in pink and orange.

Even in a tiny room a closet may be added as a portable unit that looks built in.

ONE CLOSET, built on a staircase, emphasized the advantage of that second set of cleaning tools kept upstairs and perked up a dreary hall as well.

Closets were built around a bedroom door, one on each side, with a storage place above each closet for winter woolens.

The area between the doors had a shelf utilized for plant arrangements, trailing ivy or what have you.

Wallpaper was used on this stair landing — red clover on bright white with a lipstick red carpet. Closets were painted white for accent.

ANOTHER GOOD SPOT for that added closet is a patio wall. One section of the closet may be used for garden accessories — rakes, shovels, hose, and even rainy day gear.

The other side is where you put your mops and basket of cleaning aids.

If a patio closet is deep enough, a space above the floor and closet floor shelf may be rserved for fire wood. This keeps the wood dry, neat ly stacked and available.

Families Focus On Kitchen Fun

Nowadays the family heads for the kitchen when they get home. One reason for its return of popularity, in addition to the fact that it is the eats department headquarters, is the livability of the modern kitchen.

Natural wood walls and cabinets, finished like the finest furniture, makes this room as beautiful as any in the home.

New plastic lacquers bring out the warm, pleasing colors and textures of such popular woods as west coast hemlock and Douglas fir.

EVERYTHING NEW — How to make a rented house feel like home? Ask Mrs. E. M. Zinser. When she and her husband moved into a rented house at 9 Oakdale avenue in Mill Valley, they decided to go to the expense of making it seem their own. Counsel came from Mrs. Robert Golyn of Marin County Furniture, 2158 Fourth street, San Rafael, specialists in Early American. The provincial dining set is in Golden Birch. Corners Versus Curves

The Room May Be Rectangular, But People Function In Circles

By VIVIAN BROWN

If you'd bring coziness into your home, particularly your dining room, think in terms of circles when you are decorating, advises Marguerite Flynn, member of the American Institute of Decorators. She explains:

"Circles seem to go with family life. The round dining room table, for instance, is a lovely way to draw the family into a circle — all the little eyes big and bright or tired and sleepy, as my mother used to point out. The circular light shade above it, contributed to that coziness, also."

A ROUND TABLE doesn't fit every family situation, how ever, she reminds us. The console table that opens into an oblong is important to some decorating schemes.

But not every home will want a dining room, she says, explaining:

"If there is no family, a dining room can be overpowering. Two people may find it lonely sharing a big table, using it fully perhaps only when they have guests."

A family of two is usually better off combining living and dining room or den and dining room, she says.

In a recent large apartment living-dining room she decorated, Miss Flynn used that idea of circle coziness. The lovely Queen Anne table was used on a round hooked rug, and separating two rugs, divided the floor space into distinct areas.

"WE PLACED the table where there was a view, a good idea whenever you have one. But the problem was that there were eight windows in that area, wonderful to see the river, but the strong sun was a nuisance. Draperies were soft and lovely, but they didn't cut the sun. We solved the problem with shades."

Miss Flynn is a booster of window shades, now brought up to date in lovely colors and textures. On three windows which opened for ventilation, she hung the shades in the usual way at the top of the window.

But on the other windows, which are stationary, she installed the shades at the window sill, so that nylon cords pull the shades up to any desired height. Each is held in place by a cleat at the side of the window. This bottom-up installation provides privacy while admitting light. She used window shades in Jonquil Yellow and muted tones of green.

This living-dining room was furnished in Early American style with handsome 18th Century wing chairs with quilted Indian print upholstery, a blend of blue greens and pomegranate to pale orange on a mistletoe green background. Hooked rugs pick up the fabric colors and are used with a cork patterned vinyl tile on the floor.

The dining area should not be sandwiched in "at blank walls," she stresses.

Built-In Stereo For Ross Home

When Dr. and Mrs. Jack Gazzola were planning a stereo music system for their home in Ross, they engaged the engineering services of Charles Catania of Catania Sound in San Rafael, for consultation, guidance, and complete installation of their system. Along one wall was a built-in cabinet that was being used for extra storage space. Fortunately, this wall and cabinet were facing directly into the main seating area, and into the long dimension of the room. After considering all possibilities, it was decided that this cabinet would make an excellent placement for the stereo home music center.

The AM-FM tuner and stereo control was placed in the center top of the cabinet, and a high quality transcription type record turntable was placed directly below. The two end cabinets were completely re-designed and closed in to form speaker cabinets, each cabinet housing a three speaker system (six speakers in all).

The doors were modified slightly for operating convenience. The completed system blends in completely with the harmony of the room without taking up any additional space. The stereo results are excellent.

MAGIC — Dark woodwork or furniture turns to blonde 'wood' with the swish of a brush. It's done by Lite-Chrome, a three-phase product available at O'Neill and Logan, 428 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael. Special finish coat protects grain which is applied over light base coat.

Simply Simple

If you want your furniture simple, look to Scandinavian and Japanese-inspired pieces.

NO TREES IN BIRDLAND

If I paint trees, they look like trees;
I think songs should have melodies,
And poems should rhyme—by that I swear!
Because of this, I am a square.

I am not one to write blank verse,
Nor dab in abstracts, which is worse;
The senseless sound the downbeat has
Is not for me; I have no jazz.

And if I enter a discussion,
I might as well be speaking Russian!
With beatster jargon, I renege.
Because of this, I just don't dig.

Although I'm beaten now by those
So "way out there" with song and prose
Poems still are made by fools like me!
—And God still makes a tree, a tree!

HIDE MISTAKES

Versatile Plastic To Your Rescue

You can cover up your decorating mistakes these days instead of tearing your hair out or going to a psychiatrist to calm your shattered nerves.

A marred wall or a scarred table top or a door that has been scuffed and kicked by tiny feet may be treated to a fancy overcoat to hide the nicks, offering easier cleanability as a dividend. In some instances, you can do your cover up just before the company comes.

Walls have been treated to new glamor, not only with the wonderful paper murals, now available, but with plastic textured and plain coverings, in colors, simulating brick or bamboo, and other familiar materials.

SHEETS OF rigid washable vinyl in 2 x 4 sheets for instance, may be installed quickly and easily over any surface — paper, plastic, plaster, with out tools by the home handy woman. Just apply adhesive to the backing and press on the wall.

The bamboo makes a lovely dado treatment for sunroom, dining room or living room also.

Vinyl fabric is available, too, by the yard through local distributors — wallpaper and paint stores and mail order houses.

The fabric runs to 54 inches, and may be used lengthwise or horizontally, as in the instance of covering a door. If it is applied outside the door, seams should be inside the door. Textured patterns may be butted successfully so seams are unnoticeable.

ADHESIVES ARE water-soluable usually. If there is a moisture condition, such as in bathrooms and kitchens, special waterproof adhesive is recommended.

If you plan to cover a flush door with vinyl, check the door frame to make sure there is clearance on the edge to take the thickness of the vinyl material.

If covering a new door, fit it into the frame first and make hinge recesses. If the door is new or in use, if the fit is too tight, plane the door edges down slightly after removing the door from the frame. By removing the bottom hinge pin first, then the top hinge pin, the door may be lifted out of the frame. (When replacing the door, insert the top hinge pin first, then the bottom.)

REMOVE HINGES and hardware from the door. Place the door on two wooden horses and sand smooth. If the door has been painted remove loose or peeling paint. Sharp door edges should be sanded to a smooth roundness.

Measure the fabric, carrying it around both sides of the door and leaving plenty of room for overlap on all edges. If the door is less than 25 inches wide, the fabric may be used vertically and the door covered without piecing.

Wider doors require butting of seams whether fabric is run lengthwise or horizontally.

Your scarred table tops may get a new lift with ceramic tile, formica, adhesive backed paper that comes in a variety of patterns, marble, glass or Japanese grass cloth, depending on how the tables are used.

The New Sound In Decoration

Instead Of Buying Console To Match, Match Console To Existing Decor

The era of buying a radio console to fit the furniture in the home, like the era of the steam locomotive, is vanishing from our way of life. Stereophonic sound for the home necessitates that the furniture arrangement be guided by the placement of the stereo Music System. Does this mean that we have to be content with large pieces of stereo furniture that do not blend in? On the contrary. it means that the selection of a truly high quality stereo system should begin by an evaluation of the room in which it will be placed.

At this point, the guidance of a qualified engineer or of a highly specialized Hi-Fi expert should be solicited. Listening to the advise of that friends who knows all the answers may result in poor stereo and a wasted investment.

The specialized expert can advise you on the correct placement of the stereo system. For the average living room, this placement is usually along the narrower wall, with the two speaker systems approximately eight feet part and with the speakers facing into the general seating and furniture arrangement.

A discussion with Charles Catania, an audio engineer here in Marin County, revealed many interesting aspects of stereo for the home. Catania said that since he introduced stereo sound for the first time to the people of Marin in 1951, the progress has been unbelievable.

During the 1951 demonstrations, Catania used approximately $4,000 worth of equipment to play back stereophonic music. Today, he can play commonly available stereo records on equipment costing as little as $150.

In many cases, the size of the average console made it difficult to plan a pleasant arrangement of the furniture without the radio console "sticking out like a sore thumb." With a proper stereo system, such as the three section long low sillouette custom cabinet units, one wall of the home becomes beautifully and completely decorated. There can be complete harmony with no awkward out-size piece to spoil the decorative scheme of the room. For those homes that have shelving or built-in cabinetry, there is the possibility of planning your stereo music system so that it can be completely enclosed in your present cabinets.

It can be seen, that for the family to get the utmost pleasure from the spectacular achievement of stereophonic sound, a careful analysis of the room, the furniture and its placement, and the placement of the stereo system must be made.

Brighten Hearth With Pegged Wall

One of the best ways to increase the visual interest in a fireplace is to install a pegboard panel in either a handsome woodgrain or distinctive marble pattern on the wool behind the fireplace.

More than 60 hooks and fixtures are available for hanging pictures, decorative plaques, small plants, knick-knacks and other items on this accent panel. The pre-decorated hardboard, can be kept clean with an occasional damp wiping.

White Is Back

White walls, shunned by decorators for several years, have made a comeback, sans fanfare. In most cases, white is treated as a neutral between two strong hues. It can, however, be an accent of its own.

CHOOSE YOUR STYLE — Self-contained hi-fi stereophonic sets come in a range of furniture styles. Witness above the French provincial cabinet (left) for an RCA Mark VII. The contemporary stereo speakers are for Zenith's Scherzo hi-fi record player with FM-AM radio. Both have dual speakers with optional matching speakers available. Just two from the wide selection at McPhail's sound studio at Third and C streets in San Rafael. Stereo presents special problem in home decor.

And Now Comes Stereo

A new element has entered home decor — stereophonic sound. Fortunately, it brings with it cabinetry of the highest quality in a range of styles to fit any decor.

The special problem in stereo deals with relating speakers to the listeners, a phase of home decor which requires expert help. At McPhail's sound studio, Third and C streets in San Rafael, customers are given counsel along with their purchases.

Care should be taken in their positioning in the home so that the listeners are sitting at the apex of a triangle drawn from the twin speakers. When matching speakers are provided they should be set aside from 8 to 14 feet apart. A planter or occasional table may be placed between the units.

In all instances they should be canted at angle toward the center of the room and the listener area.

Some experimentation with the desired position is necessary to achieve maximum effect. McPhail's sound engineers work with the customer to provide with the placement for greatest fidelity of sound. Compensatory controls are built into the set to control and balance the sound. Maximum effect is achieved when the sound from the left speaker system reaches your left ear and the sound from the right speaker reaches your right ear, just as if you were sitting in the front row at a live performance.

Is White Right?

FOR DO-IT-YOURSELFERS

New Foam Wall-Covering Softens Sound, Insulates

If you're planning on buying a new home—or intend to redecorate the one you now own—you'll be interested in a new material that gives a wonderful textured finish to wall and ceiling surfaces, and contains built-in acoustical and insulating capacities.

One of modern science's newest developments in products for the home is a new decorating material of durable, ¼-inch thick plastic foam that creates a wall of rich texture and color. In addition, it adds to the over-all comfort of daily living by quieting annoying sounds and insulating against heat and cold.

This versatile material is soft to the touch, featherlight, and easy to install. Available in 24 pastel and accent colors, it can be applied directly to plaster, metal, aluminum, glass, wallboard and even cinderblock walls. The manufacturers say it is ideal for covering rough or cracked plaster, and turns old walls into new with a single application.

Particularly well adapted to the do-it-yourself enthusiast, Curon comes in easy-to-handle tiles measuring 10″ x 10″, 10″ x 20″, or 20″ x 20″. A special do-it-yourself kit complete with adhesive is available for the week-end decorator.

Its effectiveness as a sound control material has already been dramatically demonstrated in hospital nurseries, radio stations and restaurants throughout the country. It reduces noise reverberation within a room, and sharply cuts sound transmission between adjoining rooms. This new wallcovering offers the additional advantages of being mildew proof indefinitely, inert to bacteria and fungus growth, and fire-proof.

WHAT'S MISSING? — The only ingredient not shown in this loose composite of vinyl tile is the elbow grease --yours, if you wish. Vinyl, by the way, has swept the floor, so to speak, accounting for 80 per cent of linoleum type flooring sold, according to Clyde Jones of Rafael Floor Covering, 430 Francisco boulevard, San Rafael. By the way, while do-it-yourselfers are encouraged to lay their own tiles, the big solid linoleum-type vinyl is best left to the experts.

What Is A Colonial Hearth Without Proper Woodbox

A simulated antique woodbox follows early American design.

First make the base, as shown, fastening it with 16-penny nails and glue.

The floor and back are of 1 by 10-inch lumber, edge-glued or cleated. Use 2 by 2-inch corner supports.

To make the ends, draw a pattern to size, as shown in the section drawing, using measured widths and thickness of the boards. Mark the angle of the front and of the bevels.

Use two 1 by 12-inch boards for the front, ripping them to coincide with the chamfer lines of the sides.

Hinge the top with a large decorative hinge.

Round all sharp edges by rasping and sanding. Add decorative screws or upholsterers' buttons.

Tread Carefully

If you have a patterned carpet, tread carefully where other fabrics in the room are concerned. Chances are, most of the other choices should be plain or in subdued stripe.

A Pattern Theme With Variation

Variations on a pattern theme are often more intriguing than a perfect match. You may, for instance, want fewer lush red roses in the draperies than on the counterpane. Be careful, however, in going too far afield. Color is a telling ingredient in such pattern nuances.

A Teen-Ager Can Doll Up Own Room

Your own room—especially if you're a young lady, 12-18—is a very special place.

Pretty playthings needn't be shoved into a catchall room just because you've grown into your teens.

Here for example is an attractive way to keep your doll collection in a special niche: A small bookcase lined with wallpaper, either in the same pattern as the walls of your room—or in a paper with a harmonizing color leftover from one of the other rooms in the house.

IF YOU ARE especially energetic, you can cover the sides and top of the bookcase too—especially if you've selected paper that has vinyl impregnated colors — all of which means it can be scrubbed—and rather energetically too.

And, the rubbing and scrubbing can be done over and over without any harm to the paper. The only "do" in this little venture — do be sure that the manufacturer's directions that came with the wallpaper say that the paper can be scrubbed.

Wallpaper can make a small, unimportant window into a beautiful show-off. Use one or two, or even three, strips of an interestingly designed paper such as key border paper. Outline the entire window with this border.

Colors such as larkspur blue with white insets and sharp black outlines make a dramatic contrast to sidewalls covered with blue and white stripes. This could be in a small sitting room, in a foyer, or your own bedroom. With blue and white dominating the paper—try pink cafe curtains to give a sharp color contrast.

If you like music, get a paper showing collections of instruments such as a concert piano, French horn, violin, trombone, flute, harp and mandolin. Or if you are a golfer, one with various clubs and golf balls.

ONE GOOD WAY to transform a dull wall in a windowless room into a pretty picture-wall is to use a colorful scenic type wall-paper. This paper comes in regular rolls of wallpaper and the scenic design is repeated strip after strip, showing, for example, a beautiful landscape, a lovely harbor or an Oriental garden.

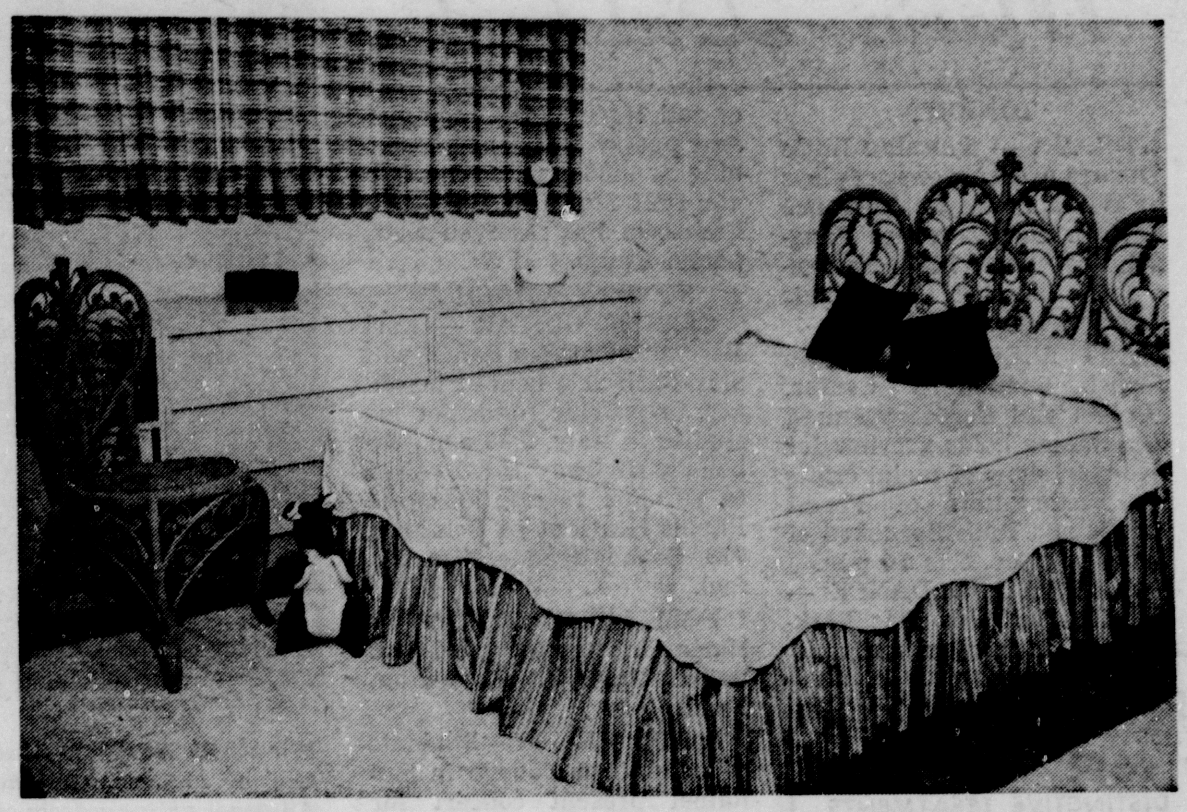
To make the picture wall, place three or four strips of wallpaper in the center of the wall, allowing about three feet at the bottom and at the top for the wallpaper frame.

To make the wallpaper frame, use, for instance, one of the papers with a grille-work design. One or two strips will do, depending upon the size of the wall.

IF THERE IS paper left over after the walls of your room have been wallpapered, here's a way to add color to your glass-topped vanity table. Cut the wallpaper to fit the top of the table, then remove the glass top and fit the paper to the top of the dresser.

Winter Re-Roofing

A house can be reroofed with asphalt shingles during the winter months as well as during other seasons.



THIS ROOM GREW UP—This delightful children's bedroom in the model home in Mariner's Cove on Corte Madera's Paradise drive isn't what it was. When the model first opened, Mrs. Don O'Neil of House and Patio decorated it for a little girl. Now the turquoise and silver gray scheme has a teen-age look. Wicker bedstead is turquoise, with matching stripe in draperies and bed skirt. Chests are modular units which are purchased unfinished. Here, silver gray.

The Story Behind Gold-Plated License Tag Numbered '457'

IN THE CHEVY CHASE district of Larkspur lives a very fine lady who wears a gold plated dog license on her wrist. It is a Mill Valley license bearing the number 467 and it expired in June, 1957. She wears it in remembrance of five months of her life which affected her so poignantly that she has set them down in a story.

The story has not yet been published and this is no attempt to steal her thunder, but a tribute to her kindness and devotion to an animal's welfare. One day you may see the full account in some magazine and it will probably be entitled "The Gold Dog Tag" by Jane Fowler. You should find it heart warming and there will be a lump in your throat when you finish reading.

A little less than two years ago residents of upper Marina Vista began to notice furtive appearances of an unidentified collie. Its fur was matted and dirty. Seemingly half starved and lost, it would slink away in the trees when approached, like a wild animal. How it managed to keep alive no one knew—no doubt by nightly raids on garbage cans, perhaps by catching rodents in the woods.

A MONTH or more went by before it was closely observed by Mrs. Fowler.

"Why, Fred," she told her husband, "that looks like Lady. I'm sure it is."

Lady had belonged to former residents on the hill who had moved out of state. Fred agreed that it must be the same dog, an opinion that became generally accepted as fact.

Now Jane Fowler loves animals, but her friendly overtures were unsuccessful. However, she left food in the yard which the dog found and ate. During the weeks that followed it took to staying closer to the Fowler house but retreated warily when Jane made advances.

She was determined by this time to win its confidence and also try to locate the former owners. Her efforts and disappointments are vividly described in her story.

INQUIRIES developed that Lady's owners had moved to Kentucky. Jane secured their address and wrote them, only to learn that Lady was in good hands in Kent Woodlands. The collie on Marina Vista had to be another dog.

Jane had noticed the glint of a metal tag on the animal, but it still remained too far away for her to read it. However, a habit peculiar to its sex definitely established that it was a male.

It was indeed a thrilling day for her when he approached close enough for her to make out the number 467. But a series of new difficulties followed in locating the owner.

Eventual reunion of "Tamalpais Lad," a valuable pedigreed collie, and his masters was a scene that brought tears of joy to everyone concerned. Only then did Tam voluntarily come up to Jane and gratefully lay his head on her lap.

He had, it appeared, been stolen from his home, traced to Santa Rosa, but there the trail had ended. Evidently he had made his way back on foot and become confused by the similarity of neighborhoods.

Thirteen years old Tam is now, but his coat is glossy and smooth again, and he will live out his remaining days contentedly with his rightful owners in Mill Valley. Jane Fowler visits him frequently and between them there is a bond of affection that rewards her for the months of kindness she spent beyond the call of duty.

She asked for only one thing — the little metal tag, number 467. The owners had it plated and presented it to her on a gold bracelet.

It is, she says, her lucky number.

If Seed Name Isn't Familiar, There May Be Legal Reason

America has a federal seed law. It applies to vegetable and field seeds.

Germination and purity percentages must appear on each package or bag of seeds sold, along with variety name.

Interpretations of that law by its administrators make it very difficult for seedsmen to develop improvements, better lines or strains of vegetables, to offer under the old or better known names.

A result is in change of variety names for distinct strains, confusing to most everybody. For example Great Lakes lettuce was an All-America Selection some years ago. So were Pennlake and Premier Great Lakes, distinct later improvements on the original. Becoming the largest planted variety or type in America, each good seed grower made his own plant selections towards what he believed was the most desirable or salable type, whether for fresh home garden use or for his long distance lettuce shippers. All were perhaps "improvements," for one purpose or another, but were not the original strain.

To identify the strains with Great Lakes, and running out of similar names, we are now confronted with dozens of numbers, like Great Lakes 59, 65, 66, 118, 659, and so on. Confusing, of course, but supposedly necessary to comply with administration of the seed law.

WITH SUCH in mind, gardeners need not hesitate to try such new varieties as are recommended by All-America Selections. They have been thoroughly tested under soil and climatic conditions from Canada to Florida and coast to coast. Only the most worthy have a chance for All-America awards. They must be superior, the best of their kinds or for their useful purposes for award consideration.

It is wise to purchase seeds of well known, reliable seed firms, whether new or older varieties. Take their judgment as to the newest and best strains for home garden or for other planting purpose.

Seed catalogs usually give this information. You can be sure with varieties which have merited All-America Selections. Look for them in the seed catalogs. And, look for the AAS certification mark on the packets of seed, vegetables and flowers, when you go to buy.

GARDENER'S CHECKLIST

- The curtain ringing down on the bareroot planting season. Get roses, fruit trees and other deciduous stock in the ground right away.
- Brighten a border with big clumps of Primroses in full bloom this spring. These beauties can be divided this year to give you several plants for next season.
- Start new lawns this month. Ask your nurseryman to recommend a seed mix for your area.
- Start a planned spray program for roses. Prevention is better than the cure when it comes to rose pests so don't let them get a toe hold.
- Plant hydrangeas in a semi-shaded location. Give them loose soil and moisture. If you want blue ones to stay blue, mix an iron compound in the soil at planting time.

Marin Gardens

Holds Color

To hold the lovely, beige colors of west coast hemlock or Douglas fir lumber, merely apply a coat of sealer after first rubbing the wood smooth. Then you can later apply any sort of clear lacquer or varnish and the wood will not darken.

Warming Hint

Use aluminum foil to divide an oblong baking dish into sections. Then place small amounts of left-overs in each section to warm them over. This saves on dish washing.

All Aboard For Mt. Tamalpais!

Tamalpais Land And Water Co. Was One Of Scenic Railway's Chief Backers

By A. BRAY DICKINSON

Conception of the Mount Tamalpais scenic railway is credited to Louis L. Janes of the Tamalpais Land and Water Company, who probably gained his idea during the summer of 1895 after a trip up Mount Lowe in Southern California.

Sidney B. Cushing, owner of swankey Blithedale Resort, which had been established as a sanitarium by his father and named after Hawthorne's "Blithedale Romance") started to get the right people interested in such a road.

Next, the Land and Water Company made a survey and when it was found that rails could be run to the mountain top with a maximum grade of seven percent, all ideas of a cog road were abandoned. Lovell White, of the Land and Water Company, undertook the promotion of an electric line, along with Cushing and Janes.

By the end of the year they had sufficient backing pledged to insure completion of their railroad.

INCORPORATION papers for the Mill Valley and Mount Tamalpais Scenic Railroad were filed in the office of the county clerk of the City and County of San Francisco, on Jan. 15, 1896. The purpose of the corporation, as stated in these articles, was to construct and operate a railway to the top of Mount Tamalpais, with telephone and telegraph lines and hotel, and with such other houses of refreshments as were deemed necessary.

Capitol stock amounting to $200,000 was divided into 2,000 shares.

Subscribers to the stock were The Tamalpais Land and Water Company, $20,000; A. E. Kent, $10,000; S. B. Cushing, $10,000; Arthur A. Martin, $1,000; William McCann, $500; M. M. O'Shaughnessy, $500; William C. Savage, $15,000; Cornelius Toohey, $500; William C. B. deFremery, $100; David McKay, $500; and Charles E. Green, $1,000—a total of $45,600.00.

STOCKHOLDERS held their first meeting Saturday, Feb. 1, 1896, in the office of Edward G. Stetson, 508 California street, San Francisco.

They chose for their board of directors Lovell White, S. B. Cushing, Henry C. Campbell, Thomas Magee and A. A. Martin.

The following officers were elected: Sidney B. Cushing, president; David McKay, vice-president; Louis L. Janes, secretary; and the First National Bank of San Francisco, treasurer.

Also, a contract of grading and track laying was let to the California Construction Company, an outfit which apparently was organized for this particular job.

The contract called for completion of the road within six months.

A LOCATION PARTY had been hard at work for some days under Surveyor Dodge, of the Land and Water Company. The construction company established a labor camp in Blithedale Canyon, and 75 men were put to work on Wednesday, Feb. 5, grubbing out brush and cutting down trees to clear a way for the graders to follow.

Redwood trees were cut close to the ground and their stumps blasted out with giant powder. Unemployed men, looking for work, descended upon Mill Valley by the score, for California still felt the effects of hard times following the depression and financial panic of 1893-94.

Almost over night a shanty town sprang up on the O'Shaughnessy property opposite the depot. So many nationalities were represented that this place was nicknamed the "Midway Plaisance," a name given to the international zone at the Chicago World's Fair of 1893.

A grading crew turned the first shovelful of earth on Monday, February 17th. Corte Madera Creek was crossed four times in the first mile.

AS WORK PROGRESSED, more and more laborers were hired, until about 200 men were busy along the line of construction. Another camp was set up on the mountainside. Progress here slowed down considerably as most of the grading was in solid rock which had to be done with pick and shovel and blasting powder.

Although work progressed rapidly, there was a great deal of grumbling by the men about their working conditions and the food served them.

A laborer received $10.50 a week for six 10-hour working days. Half of the pay was taken out for board and an additional 25 cents for each Sunday meal.

Further, they were not allowed to purchase any article except from the company-owned store, and if a man quit before Saturday night 10 per cent of his wages was deducted.

On eman who had worked 19 days as foreman at $4 a day complained to a "San Francisco Call" reporter that 10 per cent of his wages had been deducted on account of his leaving before the month was up; also 10 percent was added to his purchases from the company's store. When the paymaster finished his figuring, the man had but $4 coming to him.

A GREAT DEAL of misery was experienced in the mountain camp. Men claimed they got up at five o'clock in the morning for breakfast, then had to walk as much as two miles before starting work at seven. They were marched back to the camp at noon for lunch but had to be back on the job by one.

Work continued until six o'clock, when the men were returned to camp for supper, a meal which "wasn't fit for a dog."

On the other hand, the general manager for the construction company told the same reporter that, while their cuisine could hardly be expected to compare with the Palace Hotel, the food served was wholesome and well-prepared.

Nevertheless, during one noon meal at the headquarters camp in Mill Valley, a gang of teamsters had occasion to pelt a Chinese cook with boiled potatoes, which were served half-cooked.

When the commissary protested, he was treated to a dose of the same medicine. When the company ordered cold lunches served to the men and an additional 35 cents taken out of their pay for a lunch pail, all the teamsters walked off the job.

SNOW DURING the first week in March added to unrest at the upper camp.

The cold was intense and ice-covered trails became dangerously slippery.

Leaks in the bunk-house roof soaked all the bedding, which could not be dried out properly with green stove wood. Groups of disgusted workers continuously drifted off the mountain into Mill Valley, where they blew in what little money was due them at the headquarters store for liquor. After a brief spree the penniless men went from house to house begging for food and enough money to get back to San Francisco.

Officials of the Tamalpais Land and Water Company who managed supposedly "dry" Mill Valley, apparently winked at this transgression.

However, the company began serving good food, which brought about better relations with the men.

THE PINK PLUSH PONY

Father came home from work
All golden with sparkle-dust,
And his laughter bobbled his voice;
His laughter twisted his eye-corners,
And his laughter feathered me into shouting.
Then, trotting me at arm's reach and hand hold,
Father took me high and quick to-UP —
And held me there to kick and twist
With fun like a father-toy,
And I was a pink plush pony
Instead of a baby boy;
And oh how I laughed to the sing-sing-song
Of my father's teakettle joy.

CURTAIN CALL

Work By Marin's Dr. Silva To Be Performed Tomorrow

Modern composers often complain that it is more difficult to get a first performance than a second one because everybody prefers to do a "premiere."

Well, the Dominican College in San Rafael will present tomorrow a contemporary work that has been performed before (last, 1951). It is the cantata "The Hound of Heaven" by Dr. Giulio Silva, a Marin County resident. Musical director is Winifred Baker, who has a special interest in modern music.

Dr. Silva is well known in the musical world as a universal personality with a wide range of interests and knowledge. In spite of the fact that he is past eighty he is still full of productive vitality. He is always busy, teaching, composing, conducting, or writing about music.

HE LIVES in Novato at Sinaloa Ranch with his wife valyna, a former pupil of his, and his daughter Maria who teaches music at Novato High School.

Born in Parma, Italy, Dr. Silva received his education at the University of Rome and at the famous Royal Academy of St. Cecilia. He came to this country in 1921 as vocal director of the Mannes School of Music in New York.

In 1926, invited by his friend Ernest Bloch, he came to the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, where he still teaches. He has also been, for about 10 years, head of the music department at Dominican College at San Rafael and for some time conductor of the San Francisco Opera.

Besides being well-known in voice training, his special field is the Gregorian Chant which had great influence on his own compositions.

THE MOST KNOWN of his works are—according to Alleen Campbell — the Mass of the Sacred Heart, published by Birchard in Boston, a "Mass of the Blessed Virgin," the "Mysteries of the Rosary" (performed annually at Dominican) and "California," a fantasy based on a poem by Ina Culbrith.

He also has written three books on Gregorian Chant. Another book of his, about singing, is a basic textbook at Italian conservatories. The author hopes that his English translation will be published soon. He is also preparing a lecture about Gregorian Chant on KPFA.

Besides conservatory teaching in San Francisco, he has pupils all over Marin County. Two of them, Gwen Curatilo, a winner of the San Francisco opera debut auditions last year, and William Bihn will be the soloists in the forthcoming production of "The Hound of Heaven."

STEREO and HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

Tenth of a weekly series of articles which will cover all phases of STEREOPHONIC SOUND for the home.

Assuming that you have your Stereo Starter set (see last week's article) and that you wish to expand your music system, your merely ADD a second loudspeaker (which also can be in the $10 class) and a Speaker Cabinet (prices from $38.75) and you have a Stereo Phono Set.

To expand you set further, you select an AM-FM Tuner to match your stereo amplifier (prices from $100.00 up) and merely plug it into your custom set. Does this mean that now we have reached the point that in the months or years to come, if we wish to own a stereo music system with sound even more full bodied than we already have, that we have to trade-in our set and begin again? Certainly not. You can garnish those speaker systems by adding first the High Frequency horn (tweeters) to each one, and as a later step by adding the Mid-range Horn. Now you have two complete Three-way (woofer, mid - range, and tweeter) loudspeaker systems for the ultimate in stereophonic music reproduction.

How far can we go with our custom system? Since your custom system is made up of building blocks, you can add as many items as you like without ever losing any of your original investment. It is like adding-on more rooms to your home.

One of the units that you can add later is a Tape Recorder. Again, all of the provisions for recording your favorite radio or record material are already part of your original equipment, as also are the provisions for playing back the stereo tape through your Custom Stereo System. In a later article, the tape recorder will be discussed more completely.

How can anyone have all of these so called custom items scattered all over the place? You don't. The custom cabinetry, or furniture if you prefer, can be just as beautiful and tasteful as the pure rich tones of your home music center. At Catania Sound, you will find custom cabinets that will house the units of your choice. To meet the modern requirements of stereophonic sound for the home, Charles Catania has designed groups of cabinets that blend together gracefully as add-ons.

Reminiscences Of Old Times

Longtime Chief Of Larkspur Volunteer Firemen Horse-Drawn Fire Trucks And Narrow Gauge

By
RICHARD D. STEINHEIMER

Randolph C. Doherty was born the son of a Bakersfield bee rancher just a bit more than 78 years ago.

The life of Randolph, or "Dolph" as he is better known perhaps reflects the character of some of the men who founded Larkspur and gave it a volunteer fire department unequaled in North America.

The former fire chief and present day partner in the Larkspur Lumber Co. was born Dec. 5, 1880 on the outskirts of the sleepy town that only six years before had been linked with the Bay Area by the rails of the Southern Pacific.

He, his parents and sisters lived the next 16 years in the Bakersfield-Fresno area. Doherty got through the seventh grade in school before going on his own at the age of 16.

HE SPENT two years on a Kernville dairy ranch. Then after oil had been discovered in Kern County he came down and drove teams in the Bakersfield oil fields. He got a taste of the lumber business soon after when he started work for his uncle's Union Lumber company in Bakersfield.

As a young man he took over management of the company's sawmill at Breckenridge, about 40 miles east in the Sierra Nevada, and later managed the woods operation.

Doherty was 26 years of age before he heeded the call of his cousin, Earl L. Doherty, to come to Marin county and take over management of the Larkspur yard of the Doherty Lumber Co. His cousin was to retain management of the yard in Mill Valley.

Doherty said he first stepped from the train in Mill Valley in January, 1906.

DOLPH SAID he had been told about the new third rail electric line that ran from Sausalito up to Mill Valley and out toward Manor.

He said that the principle of trains using a charged third rail for power so interested him that he looked at the rails the first chance he got after getting off in Mill Valley.

"What I saw was the third rail used by the narrow gauge trains into Mill Valley, which of course was not charged nor protected," Doherty recalls.

"I sure stepped high over it when I crossed the tracks," he added.

"I was so amazed that I had to ask my cousin 'Why didn't the damn fools put some kind of protection over the rail?'"

Dolph got his first look at the little town of Larkspur soon after that from the deck of a wagon.

HE FIRST stayed at the old Larkspur Hotel (now the Blue Rock Hotel) which he recalled "had no heat and no nothing." Later he lived above what is now a Magnolia avenue cleaning establishment.

The Doherty Lumber Co. in Larkspur at that time occupied much of the block upon which now stands the Bank of America and other east side of Magnolia businesses. The land was owned by N.P. Yoast of Mill Valley who eventually sold off pieces of the block until the lumber yard was forced to move to the site upon which it is now located.

Dolph said the great earthquake came shortly after his arrival, cutting off all lumber shipments except those brought by narrow gauge from Duncan's Mills near Cazadero.

AROUND 1909 he bought the yard from his cousin and changed the name to Larkspur Lumber Co. It was after the First World War he moved the yard to the present site. In filling the site he took about six feet off the top of a small knoll adjacent to the lumber yard. He and his wife, Nellie, then decided to build their home on the now-level top.

Doherty said that many persons told them they were foo' for building in such a barre area. He said he was determined to go ahead and use plantings to cover the barrenness.

STABILITY of government may be a Larkspur characteristic now but according to Doherty it sure wasn't in November of 1909 or 1910.

He recalls having the chief of police, "a fellow named Murphy," come running up to his apartment asking him to come to the fire house, quick

Dolph was a deputy marshal at the time and came running. The chief opened the door to the fire house to a meeting of the new city council.

What had happened was that a member had resigned and a new man was immediately needed to fill out the six months term remaining.

"But I later decided the city council was no place for me," Doherty recalls. He said the town was one of his big customers. As a councilman he could not sell to the town.

HIS FIRE experience started as a toddler.

"Once when I was six years old my parents placed my name and address in my cap because they knew the f time a fire truck would g past I would follow it and get lost."

He recalls that he did, only to be brought home by a friendly policeman.

The Larkspur volunteer fire department had its first fire house on the property of the Doherty Lumber Co.

Dolph became one of the first members of the volunteer force, and an early chief. He recalls that there were two delivery men in town with horses and wagons. The fire department used to pay the first one of them to arrive at the fire house $2.50, "which was a lot of money in those days."

He said the lucky delivery man would hook on to the hose cart and haul it and the firemen to the fire.

"LATER WE got a new chemical truck which put out its own pressure. It had two 30 gallon tanks, one acid and one soda," he said.

When the contents of the two tanks were mixed it acted like a modern soda-acid extinguisher and spat out water and gas.

He said the forerunner of the volunteer's Rose Bowl dance pavilion was a dance platform put up one time at the present location of the Chevron gas station in Larkspur. He said dancing on the small platform during "Booster Days" paid for the new soda-acid truck.

"We got to thinking that was a pretty good idea so we later got permission to hold dances on the property of the Coleman-Forbes estate at the present location of the Rose Bowl pavilion," he said.

They later were able to buy the land, which is still held by the volunteers.

The Rose Bowl became one of the great "payers" of the Bay Area, he said.

The zenith was hit one night with 3,700 paid admissions. The people would come over from the East Bay, Peninsula and San Francisco on the ferries and electric trains.

One of the attractions of the Rose Bowl was the "fire fall" staged from a tree with fireworks.

DESPITE the eventual decline of the Rose Bowl as a great moneymaker, the dance pavilion gained the Larkspur volunteer firemen a prominence apparently unattained by any other such force in North America.

Doherty said that the records of such fire truck builders as LaFrance and Seagraves showed no other volunteer fire department ever was able to give its town such a first class fire department completely free of charge.

The present firehouse site originally was bought by the city for a library. The volunteers paid for the firehouse, trucks and even some of the hydrants and water charges from proceeds from the Rose Bowl. All this was later to be given to the city.

The volunteer decision to buy the 1,000 gallon pumper came during a big Mill Valley fire.

Doherty and his men were manning their 250 gallon capacity pumper on Lovell or Summit drive when a 1,000 gallon pumper from San Francisco cut into the line.

"The pressure from that pumper nearly knocked our truck off the mountain and from that moment on the boys and I decided to get a 1,000 gallon pumper," Doherty said.

Later Doherty retired as chief "when we realized the place was getting too big" and a full time paid chief hired.

The days of World War II saw the Larkspur Lumber Company taken over for a staging area for the construction of Marin City and Hilarita housing projects.

He said he personally planned to leave the business but that "one of his boys," Burt Wheeler, asked him to go back with him as partner after the war.

It was a two year battle with the government to get the yard back.

Now as partner, Dolph works 9 a.m. to noon and 2 to 5 p.m. most days at the busy yard. His wife, Nellie, whom he married in the days he worked in the Sierra woods, keeps house in the home on the knoll.

Dolph says the reason his wife "has the brains in the family" is that unlike him, she went through high school. She was a childhood friend in Bakersfield.

He is a charter member of the San Anselmo Lions Club and a member of the Larkspur Lions Club. He is a 50 year member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge.

Still active, Dolph has now even entered a new legal battle.

HE PLANS to protest before the Interstate Commerce Commission the intended abandonment of the spur to his lumber yard by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

A customer of the road for 52 years, Dolph plans to show the short spur from Baltimore Park still serves a useful purpose in bringing lumber into Larkspur.

His hobbies?

Dolph says his one hobby is duck hunting.

"One year I missed duck hunting and it was nearly the death of me," he said. He, along with several other persons owns 750 acres of rice land in the Sacramento Valley which is used for hunting.

How about the present Larkspur?

The 53-year resident said "I'm very well pleased with the way the town is being operated."

THEY ALL LEAD A DOG'S LIFE — Actress June Lockhart, shown here with co-star Hugh Reilly and Lassie, says her contract prohibits her from any acting roles that would embarrass Lassie. "I used to specialize in neurotic women roles and also portray drunks and nymphomaniacs—but that's out, now," she says. (UPI Photo)

If Lassie Barks, Whole Cast Jumps

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — That Lassie is a real dog.

What I mean is, Lassie has been posing all these years as a female, which everybody knows. But while he traipses around making a fortune with his impersonation act, all the rest of the cast leads a dog's life.

Take his supporting players — Jon Provost, June Lockhart and Hugh Reilly. Their contracts say they can't do anything that would embarrass Lassie.

MISS LOCKHART, a winsome charmer with sex appeal to spare, can't accept outside acting jobs unless she plays wholesome, sexless types. Plunging necklines and wanton behavior are out of the question.

"I used to play a variety of roles," June said during lunch at the Brown Derby. "Neurotic women were my specialty. I also portrayed drunks and nymphomaniacs.

"But now my contract stipulates that I cannot appear in any production that might cast any reflection on my 'Lassie' series character, Ruth Martin. Hugh and little Jon signed up under the same restrictions.

"BECAUSE LASSIE is the best-known, most decorous dog in the world, we human members of the cast are forbidden to embarrass her, er, him."

Sponsors of the doggy series keep a close eye on the program's scripts. No kissing scenes involving June and Reilly have ever been written into the story.

"ONCE IN A WHILE Hugh and I sneak one in though," June laughed. "They aren't very passionate, but we hold them as long as we can. So far none of the kisses have been cut out. But we've only managed eight in 39 sequences."

"But I'm perfectly happy with my role," says June. "It's steady work with excellent pay. The role is dignified and the program is always highly rated.'

HOW DOES JUNE get along with her canine co-star?

"Lassie's a funny dog," she said. "He's very aloof and just seems to tolerate us. The dog knows he's the star of the show, and when he's working he's all business. Lassie becomes terribly upset when another dog, a double, is brought in for some of the difficult stunts."

Dead Sea Scrolls On Science Show

Recently discovered Bible stories a thousand years older than known accounts will be the topic of "Science in Action" at 7 p.m. Monday over KRON (Channel 4).

Dr. Jack Finegan, head of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, will be guest scientist on the program. He will bring rare leather and copper scrolls that lay buried for nearly 2000 years in caves at the edge of the Dead Sea. Discovered in 1952, the Dead Sea Scrolls have been hailed as the greatest archeological find of our times.

Story Of Radar On '20th Century'

"The Silent Sentinel," the fascinating behind-the-scenes story of the electronic miracle which helped to win a war and today may help to safeguard a peace, will be presented on "The Twentieth Century" series at 4 p.m. tomorrow over KPIX, Channel 5.

The story of the eye that hears and the ear that sees, "The Silent Sentinel" will trace the development of radar from early in the century up to the present, showing its achievements, its uses, and its promises. Appearing on the program as special guest will be Sir Robert Watson-Watt, Scottish-born descendant of famed inventor James Watt.

Tam High Student On KRON Show

A Tamalpais Union High School student will be featured in a Channel 4 television program at noon tomorrow. The show asks the question: "Is Youth Color Conscious?"

Beverley Barnes of Marin City is one of several young people whose views on racial problems will be expressed on the half hour KRON show.

The Council for Civic Unity of San Francisco filmed the report at a recent teen-agers conference on civil liberties. The conference was sponsored by The American Friends Service Committee and was held at Asilomar, California.

Clock Turns Back On 'Beat Clock'

The producers of "Beat the Clock" will turn back the clock some five million seconds of stunt time on Monday, when they recreate the TV premiere show—presented nine years ago—of the popular game program (KGO-TV, Monday through Friday, at 3 p.m.).

Bud Collyer, who has been host on "Beat the Clock" since its debut, and his staff have searched the nation and found all six of the contestants who appeared on the program March 23, 1950. The original contestants will appear on the program to see if they can still "Beat the Clock" performing the stunts they did on the first show.

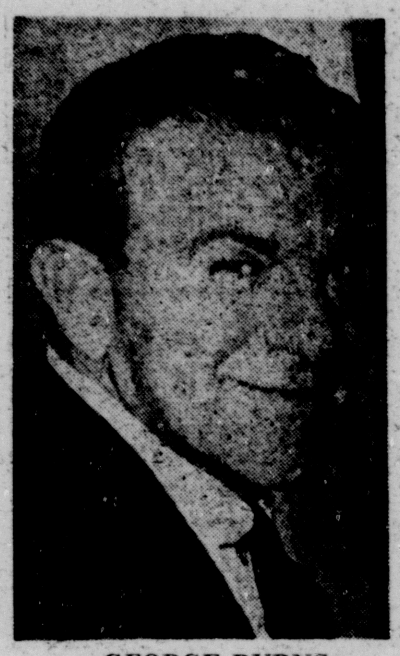
Frog In George's Throat Pays Off

"I've been singing all my life but I never made a buck out of it before. Now I'm finally being appreciated."

So said George Burns the other day in connection with his first, and successful, cutting of records — "Red Rose Rag," "Don't Take Me Home," "Some of These Days' and "La Vie En Rose."
French, of course."
French of course.'



GEORGE BURNS
Appreciation At Last

"DO YOU SPEAK French?" we asked.

"No, but then I can't speak English," the NBC-TV comedian quipped.

Burns, who sounds like a spirited Big Crosby when he vocalizes, is intrigued with his new gambit.

"It's like 'Garbo Talks,'" he commented. "Maybe I'll make history."

WE EXPRESSED surprise that the veteran comedian could sing.

"Oh," he said, snapping ashes from his cigar, "I love to sing. Everybody likes to sing when you get down to it.

"Me, I'm basically a harmony singer and that's like taking dope."

"I sing at parties," he added it's been a life-long-passion Sinatra, Dean Martin and Maurice Chevalier can be there but they won't be able to join in because they won't know the songs. I'll see to that."

ON THE MATTER of harmony singing, Burns observed it's been a life-long apssion with him, "When I wás a kid," he said, "I wouldn't kiss a girl unless she sang baritone."

Since October, Burns has been working without wife Gracie Allen for the first time in many a year on NBC's "The George Burns Show."

"When you make a transition like that, there are problems but they were overcome," he remarked.

"Gracie won't be coming back," he said. "She worked hard for years and she's wanted to retire for the last four or five years."

GRACIE'S RETIREMENT, it seems, has brought out her critical qualities. She views George's show with a thoughtful eye and then expresses her thoughts.

"Yes," George laughed, "she criticizes a little. But that's really good because I always criticized her and now she can get even."

But George still has family ties in his show.

His 23-year-old son, Ronnie, makes regular appearances.

"He's got ability," says Burns, "I think he can be a good dramatic actor."
